LACK OF FUEL DOES NOT FULLY STOP THE FLAMES WHICH LAID GREAT CITY WASTE OF RUINS

New Outbreak of Flames—Homeless But Resolute Citizens Face the Probability of Death from Disease and Starvation.

THE RELIEF WORK IS BECOMING MORE SYSTEMATIC

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Plunged into absolute darkness tonight at 10 o'clock, San Francisco had not seen the conclusion of the devastating work of the conflagration that followed the earthquake of Wednesday morning.

The fire that started at Nob Hill and worked its way to the north beach, sweeping that quarter clean of buildings, later veered around before a fierce wind and made its way southerly to the immense sea wall sheds and grain warehouses.

The flames were heading directly for the immense ferry building, the terminal point by ferryboat of all overland and local trains of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The wind, which at times amounted to a gale, and darkness, added fresh terrors to the situation. The authorities considered conditions so grave that it was decided to swear in immediately 1,000 special policemen armed with rifles furnished by the federal government. In addition to this force, companies of the National guard arrived from many interior points.

Thirty Five Shot and Killed.

It was reported tonight that 35 white men had been shot and killed while attempting to work their way into the ruins of United States sub-treasury on Commercial street. Two Chinese were shot and killed on Market street for refusing to obey orders of the soldiery.

Tonight the reamining fire was confined to the east of Van Ness avenue and north of Union street, but was burning its way to the shore.

The flames tonight reached the tanks of the San Francisco Gas Company, which had previously been pumped out, and were burning the ends of the grain sheds, five in number, which extend further out toward the point.

Flame and smoke hid from view the vessels that lay off shore vainly attempting to check the fire.

At 6 o'clock it was believed that the fire had been checked at Van Ness avenue and Filbert street. The buildings on a high slope between Van Ness and Folk, Union and Filbert streets were blazing fiercely, fanned by a high wind, but the blocks were so sparsely settled that the fire appeared to have but a slender chance of crossing Van Ness at this point.

Mayor Schmitz, who directed operations at this point, conferred with the military authorities and decided that it was not necessary to dynamite the buildings on the west side of Van Ness avenue. This would seem to assure the safety of what remains of the Western addition. It is the only point of exposure to which this section of the city was subjected. As much of the fire department as could be collected was assembled to make a stand at this point.

Famine and Pestilence.

Over the smoky remnant of what was San Francisco hope dawned today. The ordeal of earthquake and fire seemed to have passed. The perils of famine and pestilence remain to be faced, but the sons of the pioneers of Forty-nine are facing them with undaunted hearts.

For lack of fuel on which to feed, the miles of flame were gradually burning themselves out. They had eaten out the city's heart and spared perhaps one-fourth of its outlying area. All else is a waste of ashes and tumbled masonry.

Huddled in camps of refuge, bivouacked under the billowing smoke from their burning homes, San Francisco's wealthy and poor alike arose today from a night horror such as few cities have witnessed since Nero burned Rome.

The destitution and suffering is indescribable. Women and children who had comfortable homes a few days ago slept last night—if sleep came at all—on hay on the wharves, on the sand lots near North beach, some of them under the little tents made of sheeting which poorly protected them from the chilling ocean winds. The people in the parks are possibly better off in the matter of shelter, for they left their homes better prepared.

Slain by the Soldiers.

Instructions were issued by Mayor Schmitz today to break open every store containing provisions and to distribute them to the thousands under police supervision. The Young Men's Hebrew association's hall near Golden Gate park has been stocked with provisions for the use of needy victims in the adjacent fields.

Both the mayor and Chief of Police Dinan, when asked for statements by the Associated Press, expressed themselves as thankful that the fire was virtually controlled. Chief Dinan said that the order of the city astonished him. He thought it due to the earlier severe measures taken by the soldiers and police in shooting down offenders.

During the night they shot and killed no less than 14 men who were seen prowling about, intent upon robbery. Joseph M. Meyers, a local policemen, disputed the authority of a national guardsman who had told him to move on. There was a brief altercation. Then the soldier ran Meyers through with his bayonet and killed him.

On entering his home in the early morning a policeman named Flood encountered a strange man, who attacked him like a maniac. Flood shot the intruder dead. A special policeman named Snyder also killed a man, but the details are not known. In the chaos and despair of the night such passing tragedies attracted scant notice.

The Battle With the Flames.

Not less than 50 men have paid with their lives the penalty either of their cupidity or their indiscretion. One was shot today by a guard for washing his hands in drinking water, a commodity that is being husbanded as sacredly as though it were molten gold. Another, who was a bank clerk, was shot by a soldier while searching after nightfall amid

DEBRIS IS SLOWLY GIVING UP BODIES OF BURIED DEAD

At Least Three Hundred Corpses Lie in Ruins of Three Structures.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—From a three-story lodging house at Fifth and Minna streets, which collapsed Wednesday morning, more than 75 bodies were taken out today. There are 50 other dead bodies in sight in the ruins. This building was one of the first to take fire in Fifth street. At least 100 persons were killed in the Cosmopolitan in Fourth street.

The only building standing between Mission, Howard, East and Stewart streets is the San Pablo hotel, which is occupied and running.

The shot tower at First and Howard streets is gone. This landmark was built 40 years ago. The Risdon iron works is partly destroyed. The Great Western smelting and refining works escaped damage, also the Mutual electric light works, the American Rubber Company, the Vista Gas Engine Company and Folger Bros.' coffee and spice house. Many persons dropped dead today of heat and suffocation.

More than 150 persons are reported dead in the Brunswick hotel, Seventh and Mission streets.

FIRE IS ENDANGERING THE FERRY BUILDING

High Wind Prevailing and Means of Egress May Be Cut Off by Flames.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—10 p. m.—The Postal Telegraph Company has abandoned its temporary office in the Ferry building. The wind, which is blowing a gale, has shifted to the northwest and the flames now threaten the Ferry building with destruction.

A wind of high velocity is blowing from the northwest over the fire-stricken districts tonight, along the water front and is threatening to cut off communication with Oakland and Berkeley. Gen. Caster has ordered out a squadron of men to endeavor to keep back the flames, which threaten the Union ferry depot, the only means of egress from the city.

The water front emergency hospital is endangered, and the officials in charge are prepared to move from their quarters. The wind is of such velocity that brick and granite walls, weakened by the earthquake and the subsequent fire, are falling into the streets.

Market street, the principal avenue of escape from the city to the ferry, may be blocked, thus shutting off means of escape to the ferries.

Sees a Confirmation in Two Disasters.

BERLIN, April 21.—Prof. Matteucci, director of the Royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius, answering an inquiry of the Local Anzieger telegraphs that the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and the California earthquake supply splendid confirmation of the general belief that eruptions and earthquakes are diverse effects of one cause.

Even the Chinese Help.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—The Chinese population of Los Angeles today subscribed $5,000 for the relief of San Francisco destitutes, and forwarded a carload of rice, vegetables and meat. Joseph Murphy and Oliver Morosco today raised among theatrical people $3,000 for destitute actors in San Francisco.

RUIN IS WROUGHT IN MANY TOWNS IN CALIFORNIA

Death List at San Jose Reaches 120—Many Others Injured. Great Property Loss.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN JOSE, CAL., April 20.—Nineteen persons were killed in San Jose by the earthquake of Wednesday, and the entire business quarter was wrecked. The damage is $5,000,000. One hundred and ten person were killed and 70 were injured, mostly patients, at Agnews insane asylum, near San Jose. The asylum was ruined. A company of militia is in charge of the city.

The damage to the Pacific Milling Company at Santa Clara, a suburb of San Jose, is $150,000. The total loss in Santa Clara is $500,000. No loss of life.

At Gilroy, $500,000 damage; none dead.

At Hollister, one man killed; $100,000 damage.

The Southern Pacific tunnel at Wrights, nearly a mile long, caved in.

Hundreds of people are streaming into Santa Clara county from San Francisco. Strictest martial law is in force in San Jose. Mayor Worswick has asked Gov. Pardee for more soldiers to maintain order. A vigilance committee has been organized and placards have been posted throughout the city saying that any person found stealing or committing and lawlessness or an act of violence will be summarily executed. No one is allowed in the streets after dark.

The Moreland academy, a Catholic institution at Watsonville, was damaged, but no lives were lost.

Santa Clara college and Notre Dame convent were not damaged.

Among those killed in San Jose were: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haley of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Kerrigan of Oakland; Thomas O'Toole Gilroy, Mrs. Charles Costa, Mrs. Claude Averett, Mrs. Warden and Fireman Farrar.

Provisions are running short in San Jose and residents are excited over stories that thousands of half-starved persons are coming from San Francisco.

Among the buildings wrecked wholly or in part in San Jose are St. Patrick's church, First Presbyterian church, Centella Methodist church, Central Christian church and South Methodist church.

Every building for four blocks on the west side of First street, the main business street, from St. James park to San Fernandino street, the heart of the city, is down, toppling or cracked beyond repair. All of them will have to be rebuilt. The Auzerais building, the Elks club, the Unique theater and many other buildings in Santa Clara street, the main east and west street, were razed by the shock.

In Second street, the six-story Dougherty building and several adjoining buildings were destroyed by fire. The new high school, in the state normal grounds, is a wreck.

The annex to the Vendome hotel, was destroyed, Thomas G. O'Toole being the only one killed at the Vendome.

ALL POSSIBLE AID QUICKLY GIVEN THE FALLEN CITY

Every Government Branch Bending Its Efforts in Relief of 'Frisco Victims.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Every branch of the government service from the President down is bending every effort to bring to the earthquake sufferers speedy relief. The cabinet today considered the San Francisco situation and it was decided that Secretary Metcalf should proceed to that city as the representative of the national government and to consult with the authorities as to what is needed to alleviate the distress.

It is realized here by one and all that independently of outside aid the federal authorities have a duty to perform which, to make it count, must be performed with all possible dispatch. Every available vessel in the vicinity of San Francisco, whether it belongs to the navy, army, revenue cutter service, fish commission, or lighthouse service has been directed to carry supplies of every kind to the stricken city of San Francisco and render other assistance, while officers of the army on the Pacific coast and elsewhere have been given imperative instructions to ship tents, rations, medical and other relief supplies. Co-operation with the local authorities of San Francisco and the state officials to the common end is the official command, and reports received here are all to the effect that the order is being obeyed with cheerfulness and alacrity.

Generous Offers from Abroad.

Offers of assistance from abroad have been very gratifying to the President, but he feels the United States is able to care for the San Francisco sufferers and contributions from foreign countries will be declined. Mr. Ballin of the Hamburg American line offered $25,000 for the California sufferers and the following declination forwarded to Mr. Ballin by Assistant secretary of the state department shows the President's appreciation of the friendliness shown by Europeans:

"State Department, April 20.

"Ballin, Hamburg-American line, Hamburg.

"The President deeply appreciates your message of sympathy and desires me to thank you heartily for the kind offer of outside aid. Although declining, the President earnestly wishes you to understand how much he appreciates your cordial and generous sympathy.

"ROBERT BACON."

The following correspondence was made public at the White House tonight:

"His Excellency, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States.

"Referring to the cablegram sent by Mr. Albert Ballin, director general of our line expressing the sympathy of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company in the terrible catastrophe which

FLAGS OF TWO COUNTRIES AT CLUB DINNER

MANY NOTED GUESTS

Men Representing America's Industrial Wealth Gather at Hotel Schenley.

SORROW FOR CALIFORNIA

Following an hour's reception in honor of his excellency, Freiherr Speck von Sternburg, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of his imperial majesty, the emperor of Germany, the Traffic club of Pittsburgh held the most successful banquet of its history of four years. This fourth annual dinner was notable not only in having the German ambassador as its honor guest and chief speaker, but in having present executives representing practically the entire industrial wealth of North America. Assembled in the Schenley's large banquet hall was the largest number of persons ever gathered in one formal banquet in Pittsburgh—478.

California's calamity was the cause of one speaker being absent. This was J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines, who was at that hour speeding westward to help the San Francisco sufferers. His address was read by E. O. McCormick, assistant traffic director of the Harriman roads.

Sickness Detains H. K. Porter.

Sickness prevented H. K. Porter, former congressman, from attending and presenting his address on "Greater Industrial Pittsburgh." Otherwise the program was carried out as outlined.

President Louis C. Bihler, who is traffic manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, won plaudits by his address of welcome, "The Traffic Club." Vice President Caldwell of the Lackawanna was at his best and held close attention throughout his talk, which was full of meat for shipper and carrier, his theme being "Inter-Relations—Carriers and Shippers." Frederick A. Butterworth, historian of the club and general eastern agent of the Pere Marquette and Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton roads in New York, who was the last speaker, told in his ever-happy manner of the club's history, purposes and doings, speaking on the topic, "The Last Word."

Congressman Burke was introduced as toastmaster by President Bihler, and in his preliminary remarks created applause by saying that he decided last January to become a supporter of railroads.

Two Best-Known Trademarks.

"There is not a schoolboy today who does not read something about railroad regulation in congressional reports in newspapers; there is not a sage who thinks but knows much of what has been done and is predicted to be done. But if there had been traffic clubs like this 25 years ago, with a common understanding and a common ground, there would not be need today of regulation in congress," said Mr. Burke. Then, introducing the German ambassador, he said:

"We are in a critical stage of the world's development. Maps of the orient are in every land. Eyes of every nation are upon those maps and are turning to that orient, that open door of the east. Two nations are supreme in this. There are two trademarks that are better know than the trademarks of other lands. These are 'Made in America' and 'Made in Germany.' I have the great honor to introduce the German emperor's personal representative to the United States, Freiherr Speck von Sternberg, who will tell of the German trademark."

Applause for the Baron.

As Baron von Sternburg arose there was a deafening applause, and at the initiative of Congressman Burke all stood and saluted the ambassador. Back of the palms arose the "Die Wacht am Rhein" from the orchestra, and immediately the song rang from every voice. With this arose on a gilded staff the German flag, which caused applause. Then came from the orchestra "The Red, White and Blue," with the Stars and Stripes lifted on another staff. The flags remained unfurled and floating in breeze from an electric fan in the orchestra loft. Again there was applause.

The ambassador delivered his address distinctly. His expression of grattitude from himself and the baroness for the courtesies shown gave Mr. Burke material afterward for bringing applause in citing the ambassador's coming to America to the blue grass region for his wife.

FAIR TELEPHONE OPERATOR HAS FRIGHTFUL EXPERIENCE

Miss Margaret Sibert Faints While Alone in Her Office at Night and Negro Is Suspected of Having Robbed Her.

BRADDOCK, April 20.—Miss Margaret Sibert, the night operator at the Bell telephone office in Braddock, is in a serious condition following a frightful experience which she underwent at 2 o'clock this morning when a negro broke into the office. Efforts to raise Miss Sibert by other telephone operators resulted fruitlessly and finally the McKeesport night operator got word to the Braddock police station through the use of a P. & A. telephone line that something was wrong at the Braddock office. Night Sergeant William Redman hurried to the office, which is on the second floor of the Demster building in Braddock avenue. There he found Miss Sibert in a half-conscious condition.

"Is he gone?" the girl asked, and then fainted.

The officer procured water and bathed her forehead, and when she had partially revived she asked: "Where's the money?"

She managed to tell the officer that a negro had spoken into the office, and then fainted again. Sergeant Redman summoned Dr. Nichols. While waiting for the arrival of the doctor the girl partially aroused from time to time and became hysterical, exclaiming: "I'll choke you!"

Lieut. John Howard and Officer Samuel Gator went to work on the case as soon as notified by Sergeant Redman. It is believed that the negro was in the telephone office when Redman was coming up the stairs and that, hearing the officer, he fled in time to escape capture. Miss Sibert, who is about 19 years old, is a daughter of John Sibert of North Braddock.

VAIN EFFORTS TO FIND MISSING

Few Messages from Stricken City to Remove Great Anxiety of Relatives.

SOME HAVE NARROW ESCAPES

Deep anxiety concerning the safety of relatives and friends in San Francisco continues unabated here, notwithstanding the death list announced is greatly below the first estimates, and that so far no Pittsburgher is known to be among the victims. A number of messages were received in Pittsburgh from relatives residing or traveling in California, some announcing narrow escapes from death and others that they were distant from danger.

There are scores of others who have not been heard from, and the most persistent efforts here to reach them by telegraph have proved fruitless. Many fear that while their relatives or friends may have escaped death they may be enduring the famine that has followed the earthquake and fire. Hundreds of messages were filed but the senders were told they would be taken only subject to indefinite delay.

News was received yesterday of the safety of Mr. and Mrs. S. Jarvis Adams, who were known to have been in the center of the disaster. They were at the St. Francis hotel and had a narrow escape. After the earthquake they managed to reach Del Monte and are still there. From that point they sent a message to their son, M. C. Adams, in this city.

Lawrence Phipps Escapes.

The Rev. J. Leonard Levy, D. D., received a telegram last evening from his brother-in-law, David Lubin, who has charge of department stores in Sacramento and San Francisco, reading: "Latest advices San Francisco entirely destroyed. All are well."

Dr. Levy says that his wife's relatives are all accounted for, but he can get no word from two brothers and a sister in San Francisco.

David F. Collingwood, former county treasurer, heard from his mother, who was supposed to have been in San Francisco on Wednesday. She wired him yesterday from Los Angeles that she had left San Francisco before the disaster.

Lawrence C. Phipps may owe his life to the fact that the train on which he was riding to San Francisco was delayed at Monterey, and kept him from reaching the city before the earthquake. He wired his sister, Mrs. James H. G. Hunter of Oakmont, yesterday that he was then in Santa Barbara.

H. J. Lotz of Allegheny, the broker who was reported among the dead, is also known to be safe. A letter was received from him yesterday that he and Mrs. Lotz would leave San Francisco on Easter Sunday for Salt Lake City, going from there to Denver and St. Louis.

Cannot Reach Relatives.

Relatives of Henry S. Blatchley, 1101 Center street, Wilkinsburg, have been making unsuccessful attempts to communicate with him at San Francisco, where he was visiting at the time of the disaster. Mr. Blatchley, with his wife and two sons, a brother, Dr. O. L. Blatchley of Wilkinsburg, and a sister, Mrs. Dr. H. S. Lindsay of South avenue, Wilkinsburg, have been spending the winter in Los Angeles, and went to San Francisco on Monday for a short visit. They were stopping at a hotel in the city.

Mrs. George W. Singer and her daughter, Miss Louise, who live at the Kenmawr, were in San Francisco on the day of the disaster, but they were not injured and were able to leave the city the same day. They are now on their way home.

George W. Cox of Allegheny, residing at 29 Superior avenue, left for Chicago last night to meet his father, Judge W. L. Cox of Indiana, who has been called to Berkley, Call., by a message from a brother whose property was badly damaged by the earthquake.

Ulrich Altenberger, 214 Sylvania avenue, tried yesterday to get into communication with a sister, Mrs. C. Beck, who lives at Twentieth and Hartford streets, San Francisco.

Garrett Still Among Missing.

The National Tube Company at a late hour last night had been unable to get any news of George S. Garrett, the company's representative in San Francisco, although messages had been received from other employes on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. C. H. Baline, 210 Miller street, Knoxville, received a message from her husband stating he arrived in San Francisco on Monday but was unhurt.

A message was received by Benjamin Ford, 12 Maplewood avenue, from his son, W. J. Ford, a civil engineer, saying he was unharmed.

George F. Dyck, 5444 Homer street, received a message from his brother-in-law, Mack Connolly, to the effect that he had left San Francisco on Monday. On the same day Mr. and Mrs. Charles Friebertshauser of Boquet street, Oakland, left San Francisco and thus escaped.

J. W. Erwin, who has been delivering lectures in this city, received a telegram from his family in Berkeley stating all were safe.

Among the Pittsburghers who received telegrams yesterday announcing the safety of relatives were the following:

Mrs. G. E. Crone, 5624 Ripper street, who has a mother in San Francisco; Mrs. Jacob Bibro, 1543 Denniston avenue, whose father, K. Solomon, was there at the time of the earthquake; Mrs. Isaac Sachs, 1522 Center avenue, who received a message stating that her brother-in-law, T. J. Scott, and family, had escaped; also a message from her brother, who was unhurt.

Dr. Ward Gets No Word.

The Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, was unable yesterday to get any information concerning his wife, mother and sisters, who are on the Pacific coast. J. S. Denlinger and son, Holliday Denlinger, of the Westinghouse building, are supposed to have arrived in San Francisco on Wednesday, and nothing has been heard from them. John S. Cosgrove, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Casket Company, has a daughter, Sister Rosina, of the Order of Mercy, in San Francisco, but can obtain no tidings of her. Fred P. Moore of Bellevue has a son, Fred R. Moore, at the Stanford university, but can get no information. K. E. Wilson, an attorney in the Bakewell building, has been vainly trying to get into communication with his brother, James D. Wilson of the "Babes in Toyland" company.

John Brenner of McKeesport received a telegram from his brother, Michael Brenner, who was proprietor of a hotel in San Francisco. The hotel was destroyed but Brenner and his family escaped, and are now on their way to McKeesport.

Prayers for Missing Ones.

R. A. Kern, former deputy United States marshal is stopping at the Seventh Avenue hotel. He feara his family in San Francisco is lost, and has sent many telegrams without getting a reply.

Miss Mabel Armstrong of Page street, Allegheny, has an aunt in the heart of the devastated district of San Francisco, and she fears she is among the victims. In the same district were two uncles of Mrs. J. S. Filmore of Boquet street, Oakland, John and Joseph Roberts, who formerly resided in Allegheny.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Junker were greatly relieved to get a letter from their daughter, Miss Albertina Junker, stating she was in Pasadena.

Special prayers for the stricken were offered yesterday at the mission of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Sharpsburg. Solicitude was expressed for Mrs. E. J. Henry, Miss Sarah Lloyd, Leo J. Allmeyer and S. Wickline of Sharpsburg, who are in San Francisco, and of whom no tidings have been received.

Inquiry is being made by his niece, Mrs. Ida Sumy of Uniontown, for Zena Lancaster, who is in business in San Francisco and who lived at the American hotel.

New Team for Engine Company.

A new team has been purchased by the city for No. 16 engine company. They are brown mates, six years old and 17½ hands high. They weight 1,600 pounds each and came from Ohio.

Newspaperman Who Gets Within Limits of Patrol Describes Spectacle of Horror.

CORPSES LIE PRONE ON LAWNS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Harry C. Carr of the Times, the first Los Angeles newspaperman to get within the troop-patrolled limits of San Francisco and the only one to get back to Los Angeles, returned this afternoon with a thrilling account of a day spent among the ruins of the devastated metropolis. Mr. Carr left Los Angeles at 8 o'clock on the morning of the earthquake, and after exciting adventures arrived at San Francisco the next day. His description of the earthquake follows:

"I started from Los Angeles for the stricken city on that pitiful first train whose passengers were nearly all San Francisco men, trying frantically to get back to their wives and children, whose fate they could only imagine. All one terrible day I walked about through the lanes of the charred ruins that had once been 'Frisco. I was one of the hungry who robbed grocery stores for their food, one of the parched thousands who eagerly drank water out of the gutter leakage of the fire engines.

"After hours of discouraging failure of being turned back by the sentries with the sound of dynamited houses ringing in my ears, I managed at last to join the long caravan of homeless families carrying all the property left to them in the world in sheets.

"Sometimes I walked with the daughter of a Van Ness avenue millionaire lugging a bundle over her shoulder, sometimes with Chinamen moaning piteously over the losses of their laundry.

"I came out of San Francisco on that broken-hearted fast train carrying refugees whose faces streamed with tears as they took the last look from the Pullman windows at the wierdly-beautiful red fringe of fire creeping along the ridges of the distant hills, burning the remnants of San Francisco. Looking back over all that day of horrors, the most piteous and touching sights were women, driven from their homes, trying to make new homes in the parks out of a bit of torn blanket and a few stolen boxes of patent breakfast food. Not a word of compiaint and not a tear came from them. There was as much elation in families over a new box of looted sardines as there would have been days ago over the sudden acquisition of a fortune. Under the veneer of frivolity these women have the hearts of magnificent heroes.

"Beyond San Luis Obisho two big freight trains were stalled by a cave-in, caused by the earthquake. They crawled out just in time before every one went mad. At Salinas, about dark, the conductor came back shaking his head. A freight train ahead at Parajo had been completely buried by a mountain of earth hurled in the quake. The men said it was likely to be a week before any train went through.

"Strange to say there were a number of automobiles in town, but none were to be had. We begged and pleaded with two rich farmers to let us have theirs, but they were obstinate swine, and would not for no reason except they did not want to. One man was hurrying through from Los Angeles in his own touring car with his three boys to find his wife, their mother, who was somewhere in the burning city.

"We were getting ready to hire saddle horses when the twin lights of an automobile came glaring down the street. There were two New England spinsters aboard. They had been in the Palace hotel when the clerk telephoned to their rooms to tell them the city was burning and that the hotel was to be blown up by dynamite by the soldiers of the engineering corps. They hired an automobile to San Jose at an outrageous price and paid $75 to be taken from there to Salinas. Had it not been for a bridge, which kind Heaven smashed, I guess they would have been going yet. As it was, we persuaded them that the train was the place for them and managed to hire the automobile back to San Jose. The cost was $20 a seat. Men came to us and begged like frightened children to be taken, but we dared not risk a breakdown, and had to refuse.

"But never shall I forget the look that was in their eyes. We started at 10:30 and rode all night. It was bitterly cold and we suffered terribly, not having overcoats. The chauffeur had been using his automobile all that morning taking medicines to the demolished insane asylum at Agnews. His story of the scenes there was horrible. Scores of dead were lying stretched on the lawns and others were walking about hideously wounded. Amid this scene an insane woman was wandering blithely singing little songs of her own improvision about the earthquake and the killing. One giant maniac had broken his shackles and rescued one of the guards from the building. He had but one sane moment; long enough to be a hero. Then he fled, howling, into the hills."

AMERICANS IN LONDON MANIFEST SYMPATHY

Ambassador Whitelaw Reid Presides Over Meeting of 500 and Scene Is Affecting.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, April 20.—Ambassador Reid, with F. C. Vanduser, chairman of the American society supporting him, presided this evening at a meeting of 500 Americans in the Hotel Cecil, called by the American society for the purpose of aiding the California earthquake sufferers. Many of the ladies present wore mourning. The scene was most affecting, many of those present being in tears. Mr. Reid appealed to all Americans to aid the sufferers.

The meeting adopted a resolution and a fund was opened with subscriptions approximating $12,500.

Many prominent British subjects attended the meeting and asked if they might not contribute to the fund. The Americans replied that they did not object, but did not feel like appealing to the British, who will meet tomorrow and appoint a separate committee.

Burglars Are Not Professionals.

Robbers early yesterday morning entered the Lincoln avenue meat market in Bellevue and tried with a hatchet and sledge to open the safe, but failed. They broke open the cash drawer and took $16. Later Key's grocery store in Lincoln avenue was entered, but nothing of value was taken.

RELIEF TRAINS PASS CITY WITH SOLDIERS ON GUARD

Rushing Food, Clothing, Tents, Bedding and Medical Supplies to the Earthquake Devastated Districts on the Coast of California.

The early response of the east to the call for help from stricken San Francisco is indicated by the fact that five special trains, each of them containing over 12 cars loaded down with tents, rations and medical supplies, passed through Pittsburgh last night over the Pennsylvania lines, under the most favorable schedules, bound for San Francisco; three trains were handled by the Baltimore & Ohio. Two of the Pennsylvania trains were guarded by squads of soldiers, being government relief trains, which contain army supplies for the citizens camping out, and a business-like quartermasters' and medical department.

"No shipments of money are being made," said Lieut. Lawrence Livingstone, in charge of one train, "because the telegraphic transfer of government deposits is amply sufficient to meet the situation."

Two of the special trains were chartered by private corporations, one the combined relief train of two New York newspapers, and the other a small train made up of the contributions of individual charity. Two other special relief trains went through the Union station at an early hour this morning.

Exercising the right of way given them on railroads passing through Pittsburgh, two supply trains passed through on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday from Washington, both running as sections of regular passenger trains. The first train passed Laughlin Junction at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, loaded with tents supplied by the war department. The train consisted of a powerful locomotive and 14 express cars, a heavy load, but the consignment made regular passenger time to Pittsburgh and beyond, and is speeding to San Francisco with the hope of cutting 12 hours off the regular running time. Later in the evening another train loaded with army blankets passed through the Baltimore & Ohio station, making splendid time. Early this morning a train of 20 cars, with provisions from Philadelphia, passed through, but was not making the good time of the earlier relief train. So far all the supplies that went through on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are from the government; even the provisions from Philadelphia being supplied from the war department there.

The same hasty movement westward of medical supplies was exhibited in numberless packages shipped through the express companies on the through trains for the west. While most of these packages contained assorted medical supplies from the drug concerns and laboratories of the east, quinine was in the preponderance. Most of the supplies, speculative in nature, are shipped on consignment to correspondents in the California city, and were accompanied by long legal affidavits and instructions, so that in case the military and public safety committees found it necessary to seize them proper vouchers for future payment could be made. In juxtaposition to this strictly commercial spirit, several of these consignments were made inviting the authorities to levy on them without restitution, if found necessary.

Ready for Rebuilding Task.

Oakland has temporarily taken the place of San Francisco as the metropolis of the Pacific coast and here financiers, bankers and merchants of San Francisco are conferring and getting into shape the first plans for the rebuilding of the burned city and preventing a widespread financial panic. In the face of enormous loss and the complete wiping out of the commercial life of the Empire city of the Pacific, the leaders of trade and commerce are cheerful and confident that all will be well in the end.

The governor, the bank commissioners, the architects, the insurance officers and the representatives of many large commercial enterprises are now in the city arranging offices and clearing the way for the smooth adjustment of affairs that will lighten the heavy hand of disaster. The news that the money in the vaults of the banks is safe and that all of the banks will pay in full as soon as calm replaces disorder has done much to prevent a panic.

Construction companies have opened employment offices, and tonight hundreds of survivors have been employed to be sent immediately to the quarries, that there may be no lack of building and repair material.

Already many of the buildings damaged by the earthquake are being repaired and activity of a healthy and reassuring sort is stirring all about.

SAN FRANCISCO FIRE BEGINS ANEW

the ruins of the bank in which he had been employed.

Dawn revealed all these and a thousand other horrors, but the lifting pall of smoke proved also that the worst was over. A clear sky over the Mission district showed that the fire there has been extinguished. The spread of the flames toward the "western addition," the best part of the city remaining, had been stayed and the only portions of the conflagration that demanded the attention of the firemen today was that extending from the Nob Hill section down to the northwestern part of the water front.

The "western addition" danger was averted at 2:30 o'clock this morning by the use of gun cotton, dynamite and two streams of water. The explosives were handled by the chief gunner of the Mare Island navy yard and his achievement proved him to be a master of his profession.

General Funston's Telegram.

Gen. Funston, at 9 o'clock tonight, telegraphed this report to the war department in Washington:

"There has been no renewal of the fire west of Octavia street or South Market street, but it is not under control at the water front, and it is creeping toward the ferryhouse, from which this information is sent.

"However, not much alarm is felt that it will reach the ferry building, even if it reaches the steamer freight sheds on the north."

It was not until 2 o'clock this afternoon that the civic authorities felt warranted in declaring that the fire was under control. Then it became apparently certain one-quarter of the city lying west of Franklin street and known as the "Western Addition," northward to the Presidio, would be saved. The stand made at Van Ness avenue was generally successful, the flames crossing that avenue to the west in only a few places. The strongest fire at noon today was toward North beach, east of Van Ness avenue, but it will be controlled. Later in the afternoon this dispatch was sent to the war department in Washington:

"The latest reliable information is that the resident district from Post to Union street and from Octavia street to the ocean shore is intact, and, it is believed, will be saved. The exodus has swelled the population of Oakland to greater proportions than that of San Francisco. Relief trains are arriving and will greatly mitigate the sufferings of the people of both cities."

Thousands Camp All Night.

At the Presidio military reservation, where probably 50,000 persons are camped, affairs are conducted with military precision. Water is plentiful and rations are dealt out all day long. The refugees stand patiently in line and there is not a murmur. This characteristic is observable all over the city. The people are brave and patient and the wonderful order preserved by them has been of great assistance. In Golden Gate park are encamped 200,000 persons. A huge supply station has been established there and provisions are dealt out systematically. Many thousands are camped in vacant lots and squares scattered about the city, and these are the unfortunates who are hard to reach.

Six hundred men from the Ocean Shore railway arrived tonight with wagons and implements to work on the sewer system. Inspectors are going from house to house examining chimneys and issuing permits to build fires.

Maj. McKeever of the United States army, has been appointed commandant of the camps and with his staff of assistants was today trying to bring some sort of system and order out of the chaotic situation. His first thought is to supply food and water and then to arrange sanitary measures. These throngs of people crowded elbow to elbow in the open lots and fields without conveniences that are naturally demanded are threatened with an epidemic of disease unless some wise precautions are speedily observed.

Tonight Oakland is a city of refuge, and intelligence office for the innumerable thousands of survivors who have managed to escape from San Francisco. A great section of the world famous cosmopolitan population of the metropolis has taken every available space that offers itself in the city, and shelter and food are being provided for all, although the relief committee is taxed to the limits of its powers.

The tremendous and almost hopeless task has been begun of trying to reunite scattered families. Messages are stacked yards high in all the telegraph offices waiting to be sent throughout the world. Conditions warrant utter despair and panic, but through it all the people are trying to be brave.

AID GIVEN FALLEN CITY

has befallen the unfortunate city of San Francisco and this country and putting at your disposal our company's own gift of twenty-five thousand dollars as its contribution to fund which is being collected for the purpose of mitigating the great distress, I beg leave to ask that you will kindly inform me to whom I shall remit this sum.

"EMIL L. BOAS, General Manager Hamburg-American Line."

Kindly Offer Declined.

The answer was:

"The White House, Washington, April 20.

"Emil L. Boas, General Manager, Hamburg-American Line, New York.

"The President heartily appreciates the courtesy of the Hamburg-American line, but will be in no need to accept any help outside of our own country. Although declining, however, the President desires that you should understand how sincere is his appreciation of the generous courtesy of the offer of the Hamburg-American line. The President has already called Mr. Ballin to this effect.

"WILLIAM LEOB, JR., Secretary.

The question of an additional appropriation to meet the expense of the work of the government in rushing supplies to San Francisco and alleviating distress in that quarter will be brought to the attention of congress tomorrow.

It was announced tonight that the war department has forwarded to San Francisco 1,000,000 ration, some of which has already arrived, and most of which is due there tonight, and tentage for 134,000 people.

The quartermaster and commissary officers of the army were busy tonight compiling statements showing what has been done by the war department to assist the San Francisco earthquake sufferers. These statements are to accompany the request which will be made to congress tomorrow for an additional appropriation of $1,000,000 to continue the relief work. Estimates made at the department are that $1,500,000 already has been expended or contracted for in the relief work, so that least half of the additional $1,000,000 will be necessary to reimburse the department for the expenditures already authorized.

It is believed by the officials that the amount to be asked for in addition to that already appropriated will be sufficient to meet all urgent demands, as by the time it is exhausted the contributions made by cities, organizations and individuals throughout the country will be available to assist the sufferers.

The offer of the governor of the state of Washington to ship 300 or 400 tents has been accepted, and he has been asked to forward them to the quartermaster at San Francisco by the first steamer.

Gen. Williams, commanding the department of the Columbia, reported today:

Supplies from Portland.

"Special train of 17 cars left Portland at 10 p. m., 19th instant, with 200,000 rations and 475 tents in charge of Lieut. Kobes, Fourteenth Infantry. Expect to arrive at San Francisco Saturday morning."

The medical department of the army finds that its loss in medical stores at San Francisco will aggregate $357,000.

The cruiser Marblehead arrived at San Francisco today, where it joined the cruiser Chicago which preceded it by a few hours. A dispatch to the navy department announced that the two ships immediately landed a battalion of sailors to report to Gen. Funston, and marines who reported to Col. Karmany.

The Red Cross society officials here are receiving notifications from every part of the country that money and needful supplies of all sorts are being hastened to the devastated city.

J. C. Dold, a packer at Wichita, Kan., offered Secretary Taft a carload of fresh beef and provisions to be shipped immediately to Gen. Funston. The secretary, as president of the American Red Cross, accepted the gift.

The headquarters of the National Red Cross today announced that the telegraph and telephone companies had tendered the use of their wires for the relief work.

At a mass meeting here today it took but a few minutes to raise $10,000.

CONTRIBUTIONS WILL AGGREGATE $3,000,000

In New York City 100 Circus Wagons Will Go About Collecting Supplies for Shipment.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 20.—There was no way of reckoning tonight the exact sum subscribed here. Conservative estimates indicate that the total of contributions from this city will not be less than $3,000,000. Funds raised by the mayor's committee will be sent direct.

The work of securing contributions of clothing and supplies will begin tomorrow. One hundred wagons belonging to the Barnum and Bailey circus will be sent out to collect the supplies. The circus management has also made arrangements for a special to carry the supplies to the Pacific coast.

It was announced today at the headquarters of the Salvation Army that Gen. William Booth had cabled a contribution of $1,000 to start the fund of the army. Commander Miss Booth today issued orders that officers of the army stationed in the cities of the department of the east solicit funds on the streets for the benefit of the sufferers, the efforts to continue for three days, beginning today. Similar action will be taken by Commissioner Kilbey of Chicago, commanding the department of the west.

War Veterans Elect Delegates.

At a meeting of the Allegheny War Veterans last night William T. Bradberry, John A. Fairman and George I. Rudolph were elected delegates to the state convention of Republican clubs, to be held in Philadelphia May 16, 17 and 18. W. A. Arbogast, Dr. W. W. Cole and Harry S. Lydick were elected alternates.

Espien Schools Entertain.

The Riverside public schools of Espien gave an entertainment at Fraternal hall, McKees Rocks, last night, consisting of speeches, charades, military drills, etc. The hall, which has a seating capacity of 800, was filled. The proceeds will be used to purchase a piano for the school.

SENATOR KNOX DEFINES IMMUNITY PROVISION

Measure Is Introduced Showing True Intent of Certain Important Existing Statutes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Senator Knox has introduced a bill which prescribes the true intent and meaning of the immunity provisions under existing statutes as follows:

"Immunity shall be extended under the said provisions of the said acts only to a natural person who, in obedience to a subpoena, gives testimony under oath or produces testimony, documentary or otherwise under oath."

The measure is the result of the pleas of immunity by defendants in the proceedings brought by the department of justice against Chicago meat packers. Similar bills were introduced in the house by Representatives Martin of South Dakota and Littlefield of Maine. The measure was prepared after consultation with Attorney General Moody and is intended to apply to the department of commerce and labor, the interstate commission, the testimony under the Elkins acts, and the provision of an appropriation bill for special prosecutions.

Say Men Bought Stolen Brass.

Harry Archmon of Ann street and Max Wingari, a peddler, were committed to jail yesterday by Alderman Kirby, charged with receiving stolen goods, preferred by N. A. Bendel, superintendent of detectives of the Carnegie Steel Company. It is alleged they bought 50 pounds of stolen brass from an unknown man in Braddock.

LOCAL RED CROSS WOMEN HAVE $900 READY TO USE

Money Is the Surplus of the Butler Typhoid Fever Relief Fund of Two Years Ago.

Mrs. J. L. Anderson, chairman of the Red Cross Emergency committee, is arranging for a meeting to be held next Tuesday, the hour and place to be announced on Sunday. The committee has in its treasury almost $1,000, between $800 and $900 having been left after it closed up its work in Butler a couple of years ago. The plan is to pay the entire amount to the National Red Cross society and have it placed at the disposition of Gov. Pardee of California for relief work throughout the devastated district, not alone among the sufferers in San Francisco. The Pittsburgh Red Cross Emergency committee worked throughout the Spanish-American war, opening headquarters in Wood street and in Liberty avenue opposite the Union depot, supplies being sent from the former to the seat of war in Cuba and the Philippines, while in the headquarters in Liberty avenue kitchens and wards were opened in which the sick and wounded soldiers were received on their arrival from the front.

A couple of years ago, when the typhoid fever epidemic raged in Butler, this committee opened a warehouse in that place, where it established a diet kitchen for three months at an expense of several hundred dollars, while nurses volunteered and supplies were sent through it and distributed by its agent in Butler to families. Pittsburgh responded generously to the call of the Red Cross workers, and when the warehouse and diet kitchen were closed there was a surplus in the treasury of about $900. The money could not be returned, and the committee has waited until such an emergency as the present when it could turn over the entire amount. Mrs. George W. McKee is treasurer of the Pittsburgh Red Cross committee, which includes some of the best known church and philanthropic workers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

RELIEF SPECIAL RACES ACROSS CONTINENT

Freight Dashes Along at Mile-a-Minute Clip and Has Clear Track Through to Oakland.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., April 20.—Breaking all records and with the right of way over all trains, fourteen express cars loaded with relief stores, dashed through this city at noon from Washington to San Francisco. If the time that has been made thus far is maintained throughout the trip, a new world's speed record for railway traffic is expected.

The special was timed between Nevada and Forest, a distance of 19 miles. It raced the distance in 17 minutes. Frequent relays of engines and crews have been provided and there will be no stops save for these changes, until the train reaches Oakland.

The Comfort of a True Fit and Faultless Style

We are all the time fitting new customers who have absolutely never known what shoe comfort is. They have come to believe that new shoes must mean a month of misery—all because their foot-measurement happens to be between the half-sizes. If they buy shoes that fit smoothly, they find them too tight; and if they buy shoes that are long enough they have to put up with wrinkling and slipping.

All we want is for you to try on a Regal, if you are hard to fit. No one shape can be made to fit every foot, but we can promise you not only the exact shape that fits you, but the exact size as well. The Regal is the only shoe made in quarter sizes, and that accounts for it. It makes all the difference in the world—that little quarter size.

Keeping our stock clean, that is all, by which we mean closing out different styles. There are a great many of them in this lot. Sizes, however, are broken. And we rather think the color range is somewhat depleted. However, it is quite surprising when we bring them altogether to find what a good collection there is.

The lot includes skirts of panama, in plain black and blue. Worsted in plain, medium and dark gray. Also light medium gray plaids. Styles are many, including full circular, some with panels, others with folds around the bottom. There are some with circular gored models. There are some plain, others are made with hip trimmings of tucks and straps, finished with buttons.

They have the hall-mark of the fifty centers, but buying in quantities brings them here to retail at 25c. Black, green, blue, red ground with large plaids in combination stripes.

If you won't have the 25c ones, then we'll show you other lines at 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

Men's $1.00 Balbriggan Underwear, 60c Each.

You know that a grocery keeps sugar—naturally you know we carry the finest grades of underwear made—some that will cost anyone as much as $80.00 a suit. So we're not going to detail our underwear variety. Simply want to tell that this $1.00 Balbriggan underwear that we'll sell you for $1.20 a suit, or 60c a garment, is of Summer weight, is genuine French Balbriggan, that we have all sizes in long sleeve shirts, some sizes in half sleeve shirts and all sizes in drawers.

Women's $35 to $45 New Spring Suits, $25.00.

You must wonder why we choose to sell suits for $10.00 to $20.00 below already popular prices. Well, here is a statement that will interest you.

Unusually large Easter business left a great many gaps in a great many styles which instead of filling up again, as we have done several times, we decided to close out a few, and for this reason have put these low prices on these handsome new Spring Suits.

The styles include Etons in many different effects, some prettily trimmed, others plainer, as well as the pony and the hip length coat suits. The materials include panama, black and blue, fine soft mixtures.

A note of courage is sounded in the message of San Francisco's mayor to President Roosevelt. Three-fourths of the city is in ruins, but as soon as the immediate necessities of the destitute and homeless have been relieved, the people will take up the colossal task of rebuilding. Mayor Schmitz outlines the most pressing needs—tents, bedding and food supplies. Thousands of persons are sleeping in the open air and must continue to do so until shelters can be erected, and these require warm coverings in great number. Relief trains are now flying across the continent and many more will be dispatched in the next few days. The people of San Francisco have pluck and energy, and however much they may be aided from outside sources (and too much cannot be given), we can depend upon their showing the world a fine example of courage and self-help.

Director Ridgway of the department of public safety is giving attention to the white slave traffic, a menace to morals and a disgrace to the city. He proposes to act under the Edils law, designed for the eradication of this evil, and promises, if the law stands the test, to put an end to the whole business. Driving out the dives in ordinary is commendable work, but this crusade is even better.

Arrival of Chief Engineer F. Herbert Snow, of the state department of health, to inspect Nine Mile run, presages the adoption of methods that should prevent a recurrence of the typhoid outbreak which recently alarmed Pittsburgh. Conditions in other sections contiguous to the city are also being investigated by representatives of the state department. Prevention is much better than cure, and the disease must be attacked at the fountain head of contagion. The local health bureau can cope with conditions within the city, but the co-operation of the state officials is needed to prevent the contamination of our water supply.

Until the people of Carrick borough agree to put their sidewalks in repair they cannot enjoy the benefits of free mail delivery. This was the decision received from the postoffice department yesterday. The decision may seem a bit harsh to the citizens of Carrick, on first thought, but there is some logic in the contention of the Washington authorities. A town sufficiently progressive to desire free mail delivery should possess enough public-spirit to maintain proper sidewalks. As a matter of fact, the defective sidewalks complained of are confined to a certain portion of the borough, and Carrick as a whole does not deserve the odium attached to the postoffice department's ruling.

This country never lags. It is always progressing, under Republican rule. One of the most important chapters in the history of the advancement made by the United States is found in the compilation by the bureau of statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor on the production, imports and exports of iron and steel. It is shown that in 1870 we imported more than double the value of iron and steel manufactures than we exported. In 1880 the ratio quadrupled, but since then we have gradually been crawling up the line, and after 1900 we have always had the best of the argument. Last year, 1905, we imported only $26,400,000 worth, while we exported such articles to the value of $142,900,000.

It is more than likely that the progress Canada is making is because of its propinquity to the hustling states. The railroad extension in the Dominion shows that the Canadians have partaken of the go-ahead spirit that dominates the United States. There has been wonderful development across the border. The Grand Trunk Pacific has under contract this spring 775 miles of line. The Canadian Northern railway will spend at once $2,600,000 for additional rolling stock. Other enterprises involving millions are under way. There is, however, in all these schemes the helpful aid of American capital. This will tend to bring Canada and the United States into still friendlier relations on account of the community of interest.

The removal of its poles and wires and the placing of the latter under ground along Fifth avenue, and Penn avenue between Point Breeze and the city line, is an important improvement planned by the Western Union Telegraph Company. In accordance with an ordinance passed some time ago, which will afford much satisfaction to residents on these principal thoroughfares, Poles and overhead wires should have no place in the modern "city beautiful," but their elimination is naturally a slow process. The public safety, as well as esthetic consideration, demands the removal of the overhead menace. The Western Union's action involves co-operation on the part of the city, but there is an appropriation for this purpose and there should be no delay on this account in effecting the improvement.

Continuing their impartial policy of gathering in all offenders against the ordinances regulating the operation of automobiles, the police have brought several well known citizens before the East End magistrate. The charge was exceeding the speed limit or failure to display license numbers. A few days more of this vigorous campaign and automobilists generally will recognize the advisability of complying with the ordinances framed for the regulation of a pastime which every day is becoming deservedly more popular. During the first three months of this year there were 1,700 accidents in London caused by automobiles. Considering the number of machines in use here, Pittsburgh has very few accidents, but the present laws cannot be enforced too strictly.

Generous Givers.

Pittsburgh continues to respond magnificently to the imperative need of stricken San Francisco. With the large additions made yesterday, the total contributions from Greater Pittsburgh now far exceed $100,000, and our people are only just beginning to give. Contributions are coming in so rapidly and through such a variety of agencies that the presentation of exact figures is difficult. The fund is not "standing still," and any statement of the public generosity must be frequently amended to include the latest additions. Besides individual contributions, the public schools, labor organizations, lodges and societies of all kinds are swelling the fund.

Large amounts were subscribed by individuals and corporations in Pittsburgh and other cities yesterday, and it is pleasing to witness these gifts from great abundance. The givers reserve all praise for their liberality, but it must be remembered that small contributions are also needed in large numbers. Every dollar that can be spared is urgently required. The next few days will undoubtedly witness a still greater outpouring of practical sympathy from this richly prosperous community.

A Notable Dinner.

Members of the Traffic club are to be congratulated on their good fortune in numbering among their speakers at last night's dinner Baron Speck von Sternburg, German ambassador to the United States, whose remarks on the industrial development of his country are of especial interest to this busy community. The parallel drawn by the baron between the two nations which today lead the world in industrial production is instructive. The unification of national spirit and the application of scientific research to industrial problems have undoubtedly been chief factors in the attainment of present supremacy. Germany's scientific men of today, in contrast to their predecessors, are utilitarians, and their efforts in research have received invaluable support from the government in the establishment of the "testing institutions," the operation of which Baron Sternburg so clearly explains. The baron's surprise at the marvelous expansion of Pittsburgh's industries, since his visit of 20 years ago, is natural. The nation's progress along lines industrial is exemplified here most strikingly.

Baron Sternburg's remarks were supplemented by other speakers distinguished in their professions, and their presence evidences the esteem in which the Traffic club is held abroad. The belief of the president of the organization that "if there were more Traffic clubs conducted along similar lines in other large tonnage producing centers of the country, much good might result," will doubtless be echoed by all who were privileged to attend last night's dinner.

Punishing Burglars.

Chicago's chief of police, who is at the head of a movement for new legislation fixing the death penalty for all burglars in that state, has doubtless experienced no little provocation for his strong feeling on the subject. Chicago is notoriously the home of burglars and highwaymen who do not hesitate to take life to further their designs upon the property of others. These criminals always go armed, and as Chief Collins says, "the deadly weapon is not carried for ornament. The burglar is in a class by himself, and in my opinion his class is with that of the murderer. He is ready to shoot you or me or anyone else, if we happen to catch him at work. If we are not killed it is not his fault. Why, then, shouldn't the law take this into consideration?"

Granting the truth of what Chief Collins says, and he is an expert witness, his proposed law would hardly have the effect he desires. The difficulty of securing convictions for burglary would be immensely increased were they to be followed by the infliction of such a penalty. However richly the burglar with murder in his heart, if he has not actually committed the deed, deserves to be treated as he would treat others, the average jury is too tender-hearted to bring him to this fate. There would be many more acquittals in cases of simple burglary, unaccompanied by violence, than there are at present. Chicago, and other cities which suffer in less degree, must find their remedy in greater vigilance on the part of the police and vigorous prosecution, insuring prompt conviction. Then the court, by imposing the severest sentences the law allows, may complete an object lesson which should serve as a deterrent to the business of burglary in that locality.

Bryan as a Tool.

A southern Democratic contemporary is of the opinion that one of the most remarkable incidents in American politics "is the change in public sentiment toward William Jennings Bryan." The remarkableness of this "incident" applies only to the Democratic party. Public sentiment is yet to be tested. That means the greater majority of the expressions of the people of the country, and naturally that cannot be ascertained until it is tested at the polls.

So far as the Democratic party is concerned the observation is entirely correct. There are substantial utterances to prove that Mr. Bryan stands better, not with "his party," but is being looked to by his former opponents in what is called the conservative Democracy with more favor than he was in any of the two campaigns he led the forlorn hope. It is questionable, however, whether this trend of the eastern Democracy is sincere. Mr. Hearst seems to be gaining some ground that the conservatives are fearful will result in his dominance of the next national convention, and, it appears, that just now Mr. Bryan is the only club they can use to beat his cause into insensibility. The former "peerless leader" has not been consulted upon this matter, as he is yet "over the seas." Will he allow himself to be used as a club? With all his political faults and manly virtues Mr. Bryan has always had a disposition to say himself what he shall or shall not do. It may be that long absence from the field of domestic strife has softened his spirit. But in any event we do not believe that Mr. Bryan will ever allow himself to be used as a mere tool of the very discordant New York factions.

Colleges and Consuls.

The new step in advanced education proposed by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia will doubtless evoke considerable comment throughout the country. In brief, the scheme is to attach to a few of the leading universities and colleges, schools for consuls, where young men ambitious to enter the government service abroad may receive the training so sadly needed by many of our present representatives. Germany has recently put into effect a somewhat similar idea, establishing a training school at the request of leading commercial bodies, but President Butler would go even further, grounding our consular aspirants not only in commercial law and information useful in the lower branches of the service, but affording them instruction in political science, the history of diplomacy and such knowledge as is indispensable to those who are ambitious to rise to the highest posts of preferment.

President Butler's idea will be denounced by the political spoilsmen who regard consular and diplomatic offices as their particular perquisite and rewards for faithful followers, and we shall be told that half-baked youths, fresh from school, are not competent to undertake the responsibility of representing Uncle Sam abroad, but Columbia's president is on the right track. Recent discussion of the new consular bill at Washington shows that our national legislators appreciate the necessity for abetter class of men in the service, men trained for the important duties. It is true that present financial rewards are not such as to attract many of the desired class to the service, but there are signs of a decided improvement in this regard. The laborer is worthy of his hire, and the man especially trained for the consular service must be paid according to his value.

The Business Situation.

In the amount of property destroyed, the appalling disaster on the Pacific coast this week is the greatest that ever befell this country. The wiping out by earthquake and flame of San Francisco is a distinct economic loss, representing a total extinguishment of wealth without any equivalent benefit. Mankind is by nature sympathetic, and the event of the week has had some effect upon business, which was rather pronounced in the stock market, the barometer most sensitive to good and bad influences.

If this disaster had overtaken any other nation it would probably be impossible to exaggerate its consequences in a business sense. But the United States is a great giant among nations, and it will withstand this shock as becomes a giant. There is really no ground for the Wall street view, as expressed in falling stock market values, that this calamity to San Francisco means a check to business prosperity, or irreparable loss to the Pacific coast. If we may be permitted the simile, the rending asunder of the foundations of San Francisco and the loss of property is, to the United States as a whole, what a felon on the finger or the stub of a toe would be to a giant. This is said with no intention of minimizing the loss to individuals or the interruption of business at an important commercial port.

It may illustrate our meaning, and at the same time reassure any who may be inclined to change their view of the future of business, if we make use of a few comparisons taken from official statistics. For example: During the first three months of 1906 the bank exchanges of San Francisco were $541,000,000. For the same period they were $687,000,000 for Pittsburgh and nearly $35,500,000,000 for the United States. The business of San Francisco for the three months, therefore, was about 1.5 per cent of the whole. The real and personal property of San Francisco last year was valued for taxable purposes at $525,000,000, while the wealth of the United States (based upon the increase between former census periods) is today estimated at about $115,000,000,000. Financial economists have calculated that the wealth of the United States increases at the rate of more than $10,000,000 a day. Some of them have placed the increase during the past three years at the rate of more than $12,000,000 a day. If the property loss of San Francisco reaches $250,000,000, the effect as related to the whole United States might be described by saying that this great giant in the family of nations, through illness, had lost three weeks in his work of wealth producing.

The principal fear of Wall street was not that the calamity would have a paralyzing effect upon general business, but that the transfer of currency and banking credit to the Pacific coast would withdraw from the home market supplies which had been counted upon to produce an easy money market during the spring months. The announcement of a Russian loan for $440,000,000, of which France will undertake to float one-half, acted as a bar to the flow of gold from Europe to the United States. Nevertheless, the New York money market ruled easier than last week. Crop prospects continue all that could be desired, and except for the uncertainty regarding the anthracite coal situation, industrial affairs are in satisfactory shape.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Asbestos Curtain.

By Charles M. Bregg.

The press agent is at it again. The correspondent of a New York theatrical newspaper in his letter to that journal last week says:

"Among the theatrical notes of one of yesterday's (Sunday) local newspapers, an item states that when the Rose Hill English Folly Company appears at the Gayety next week there will be "a turnout of nearly 400 local Masons, who want to see the company's clever burlesque, "Are You a Mason." As your correspondent is an active worker in several of the local bodies of the Masonic fraternity he is in a position to know there will not be any "turnout." This sort of advertising is injudicious—especially in the state of Pennsylvania."

I think the item above referred to appared in The Sunday Gazette, and perhaps in other papers. If it wasn't true the press agent perpetrated another fake. The theatrical editor is not supposed to have the time to investigate all the items that are sent him. Presently the inventive press agent will find himself entirely outside the breastworks.

Perhaps an echo from Pittsburgh theaters has penetrated the writing den of the dramatic critic of the New York Herald. That gentleman in reviewing a play the other day enumerated among its virtues the fact that "The ushers did not have to applaud."

In Pittsburgh theaters they still have the bad habit of doing so on occasions. It ought to be stopped.

Dear old Grandma Gilbert. Her life and stage work are a precious memory with thousands of theatergoers in every part of the country, while the acting profession, without reference to rank or quality, loved the gentle woman with a strong abiding affection. These remarks are inspired by the fact that at the Knickerbocker theater in New York on Tuesday afternoon last a benefit was held for the purpose of erecting a stained glass memorial window in the Bloomingdale Reformed church in memory of the actress. The proceeds of the performance netted something like $3,500, and very many of the most prominent American players took part.

The program was prefaced by the Rev. William C. Stinson, D. D., who, as Mrs. Gilbert's pastor for many years, paid a glowing tribute to the personal qualities of the dead actress. Incidentally the clergyman amused the house by saying that he once debated between a career in the church and one on the stage, and had labored ever since to bring the two institutions into closer relationship. He also read letters from Mr. John Drew, who is in Pittsburgh, and Miss Annie Russell, affectionately reminiscent of Mrs. Gilbert.

Mrs. Gilbert's death has been so recent that comment and stories of her long and honorable career are fresh in the minds of most people. The memorial that is sought to be erected by her friends and admirers is one that would perhaps receive her own most ardent approval. Amid all the viccissitudes of a long life on the stage, with its hardships and temptations, this fine old woman came to the end of the journey with unblemished character and abiding faith in the simple religious truths of her early training. It was delightful to hear her reminiscences of her life during her last years; how she constantly reverted to the plain and commonsense training which had been hers in youth.

The stage today does not offer Mrs. Gilbert's like, though there are many fine old women graduates still among us who came down from the same school of sound, womanly character training.

Speaking of old veterans reminds me of another who, in ripe old age and vigorous mind, is still on this side the border land. Bronson Howard, the veteran playwright, whose health was so long a matter of deep concern to his friends, and who spent several years abroad, in the south of France, has been talking interestingly to an interviewer. Howard is the dean of the American school of playwrights, and several of his plays are classics, "Saratoga," "The Banker's Daughter," "The Young Mrs. Winthrop," "Henrietta" and "Shenandoah" are among his best-known plays, and the last named is still used continually by stock companies with great results. There is some talk of giving this old war play an all-star revival again, though I believe the venture is not looked upon with great favor by managers.

Certain it is that "Shenandoah" is the most vital war play our stage has had, melodrama though it be of the most pronounced and stagey kind.

✦ ✦ ✦

The incident that led to the writing of "Shenandoah" is an interesting one, says the writer in "Theater." The Howards were visiting relatives in Ann Arbor and were about to leave for their home. Their luggage was packed and the cab at the door to take them to the station. Mrs. Howard remarked that she wished they were going to spend the winter there. Mr. Howard said, "Suppose we do." They dismissed the cab, found a house that night and settled down. Mr. Howard said he told his wife that if he were going to spend an entire winter there he must write a play. He had always wanted to write a war drama, so with the fine library of the university of Michigan at his disposal he set to work reading up war history till he had surrounder himself with the proper atmosphere.

The first production of the piece was at the Boston museum when Montgomery Field was manager. All the New York managers were there to see it, but no one displayed any keen desire to secure it. Among those in the house was Charles Frohman, who had not yet made his mark as a theatrical manager. He was shrewd enough to see how a big play dealing with the civil war might appeal to the public, so he straightway made Mr. Howard an offer to produce it if he would make certain changes. The play was produced at the Star theater, New York, in 1889, with Viola Allen, Effie Shannon, Henry Miller and Wilton Lackaye in the cast, and was an immense success.

My correspondent, who sends me a long letter praising the good behavior and appreciation of a vaudeville audience at the Grand, as contrasted with the illtimed applause of the grand opera patrons at the Nixon recently, is reminded that the Grand audiences are now so cosmopolitan that, while not socially distinctive, like grand opera, contain a large per cent of the same people.

Some Palatable Breakfast Food Served Hot

By PETER PRY SHEVLIN.

Here is tear for your sorrow,
Queen of the Golden West;
Here is a hope for tomorrow,
Crouched on a crater's crest;
Heed not the shrieking red raven
Blackening hearthstone and haven;
"Lost!" is the cry of the craven—
A handshake is best!

Help from a loving Union.
A thousand towns and here,—
Brothers, who sup in communion
Your cup of sorrow drear.
Spawn of the men who wrested
Homes and a Nature jested,
Build! For you are not bested!
A handshake,—no tear!

He who would wrest from nature
Treasures hid in her breast
Proudly may build and mature
Homes for a million and rest.
Debt is to Nature beholden,
Robbed of her nuggets golden.
When Death stalks, oh, embolden!
A handshake is best.

Pitt in his mining valley,
Death has often assessed:
Sadly our soul thoughts sally
Out to a sister distressed.
Build, while your fires smoulder,— Prouder and better and bolder;
A nation is at your shoulder,—
A handshake is best!

Deserved His Punishment.

The roaring mob comes swarming down the city street, throwing brickbats and abusive epithets at a wild-eyed man who is flying for his life.

"Murderer? Thief?" we inquire.

Just at this moment the crowd overtakes the man and proceeds to massage him with 4x4s, bricks and fists.

"He's worse!" yells the mob leader, watching the entertainment committee with evident delight.

"Indeed?"

"Why, that scoundrel is one of the 1,000 'prophets' in this country who claim to have predicted the Frisco disaster long in advance."

At this we beg to be allowed to get a whack at the faktr before the ambulance carries him away.

Made from the Cook-Book.

"Thunderation!" snapped grumpy old Groucherly. "What is this hash made out of, anyway? What d'ye call it?"

"Why, John," said his meek wife, "that is something I made out of the cook-book."

Out of the cook book, eh? I thought I tasted printer's ink, bits of paper and leather binding in it!"

Sketched from Life.

Outside the newspaper office the great crowd had gathered, for the bulletins posted in rapid succession tell of a great city's calamity and a nation's sorrow.

Nimbly, men are pasting up dispatches, particularly from the burning San Francisco, but covering the news of the day, baseball scores, etc. Ever and anon the great crowd bursts into a low murmur.

"Ah," says a foreigner, "your national sympathy is wonderful."

Just then a low murmur of exultation from the crowd.

"Ah," he exclaims, "some cheering news from the stricken city? Why do the crowd cheer? Are the Frisco fires checked?"

A spectator regarded him rather scornfully and turned again to the bulletin board, as he said:

"Frisco nothing! Why, de Pirates have won de game."

Now the vistor admits that America is large and cosmopolitan enough to sustain interest in anything from a ball game to an earthquake at the same time and without disturbing our mental poise.

The Pittsburgh Viewpoint.

Grief first, then the glorious Generosity.

The three great virtues have been brought out by the California calamity. San Francisco has Faith in her courageous citizens. Hope for a greater future, while the country has Charity in its heart.

The cities, states, despite their petty squabbles and jealousies, are welded into a solid whole at the first appeal. At the first tocsin, our union has become single in purpose, even as in private life, the presence of a great grief shows us how many friends we really have.

Be satisfied in Pittsburgh or in whatever clime you live. Beautiful tropics harbor venomous reptiles, sunny lands know swift and terrible death. The most beautiful spots of the world are the most deadly.

The law of recompense in Nature seems to hold good in another respect. San Francisco, enriched by the golden treasures she has wrung from the caches of the earth, now finds their fruits swept away in the fearful recompense demanded by Nature.

In the catalysm, steel-framed structures stood the racking and vibrations of the earth's crust remarkably well, even though the masonry shell fell from the steel skeleton. This is another tribute to the Pittsburgh steel that was largely represented and in no way points to a future decline in steel construction, though it hardly seems likely that high buildings will be popular in the new and greater Frisco.

After "muck-rakers," alleging "graft" due to placid peace and prosperity, have made us suspicious of everything and everybody, comes the gallant fight of self-sacrificing citizens against a fearful foe, while the hurrying help and open hearts of the country show that the manly virtues still obtain here and there's love and brotherhood in the good old country yet, always ready to pop to the forefront in times of stress.

Quiet Observations on Timely Topics

Beautiful Pictures in Contrast With Things Cheerless and Discouraging.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Mourn with those who have cause to mourn, but don't forget to rejoice with those who rejoice.

Does your cheery home look less cheerful because of the devastated homes in San Francisco? Are you cast down or do you neglect your business affairs, because thousands of prosperous business men have been financially ruined in a day, or even in a minute or two?

Are the pictures on your walls less bright, or of less value because some of the finest art collections in the world have been utterly destroyed in a moment?

Our picture galleries are as bright and cheerful and inspiring today as were those of the destroyed city yesterday.

It will do no good for you to mourn and mope and cease your activity. Dive down into your pocket and send what you can spare to help your neighbors in this hour of real need, and go right on buying and selling and enjoying yourself.

Buy pictures and beautify your houses, live wisely and as well as you can, teach your children to be good and generous and respectful, not only to each other but to God, the power over all. Have them share their savings with those who have lost all, thus teaching them a practical lesson in true neighborliness.

❀ ❀ ❀

Beautiful pictures painted from life are always inspiring, and are particularly so when a gloom has been cast over the land.

Pictures from life are what the people want. Artists may prefer making pictures in their studios, but they are not the ones that most please the public.

The old masers have a certain value, a value due to age rather than to the human interest they possess. There is a stateliness about them, and a dignity, too, but it is not the stateliness and dignity we know and admire.

The old masters were the products of the times in which they lived. The people of their time were not nature lovers. They were more keenly interested in the mysterious, and their minds were taken up with gods, the stars and the hidden forces of nature.

❀ ❀ ❀

Now we see God in nature and no longer regard Him as a man seated somewhere in the clouds, or enthroned as a monarch on Mount Olympus, dealing out favors when in a gentle mood, and dire punishments when angered at some trivial offense given by mortals.

In those times artists painted gods, demigods and fairies, all imaginative, and so wonderfully wierd and grotesque that they are meaningless to us.

You can't read Homer, nor even Dante, understandingly without a diagram, and even then you can get but little sense out of it, fine as their word paintings are.

But when those old masters turned their attention to realism they wrought so well that their works must ever stand as models of pure, simple art.

From this we infer that their unreal works are true to the beliefs of the times, and to their conception of the mysteries of life.

American art for Americans is the rising cry, and it is becoming louder and clearer day by day, and ere long it will be full voiced and strong.

In the past, in all the past of our new nation, the American artist has been in the background, a dark background, but he is now well in the middle ground, and soon will be in the foreground.

He is not only forging to the front here at home but is breaking through the prejudices of the old world, finding high places in famous salons, and being honored in the collections of noted conoisseurs.

The American artist is coming, and coming fast, and will soon be here in all his glory, for he is not a whit less energetic than are his fellows in the arts and sciences.

There is a collection of paintings on view at Wunderly's that shows to many of us how our home artists are making their way to the front.

A few years ago, hardly more than a score, David Walkley came among us and opened a studio. He was young then, and as ambitious as he is now, but his work lacked ripeness; otherwise it was good, and clearly demonstrated that he had the stuff in him of which artists are made.

Since then he has been through the fires, has taken the thumps and successfully borne the bumps to which the world treats those whom it would honor with fair names and proud chaplets.

Many who could not, or would not, endure the bumps and thumps have fallen by the way, but Walkley bore them nobly and has arrived.

Mr. Walkley paints out in the woods and fields, and not out of his head, as many painters do. This accounts for the feeling of nature that pervades his pictures. You feel them as well as see them, which can hardly be said of a studio painted canvas.

Around his home near Mystic river, Connecticut, are charming scenes such as are quite familiar to most of us, and he has been wonderfully successful in catching the spirit of these scenes, particularly of the woods and brooks and homesteads.

Nor has he failed to catch the spirit that pervades the islands, the bays, the face of the sound, nor of the face of the deep.

It is in his figures that Walkley has made most decided advances. His people used to be rather stiff and formal, "wooden," as Alfred Wall was wont to say. There is none of that stiffness about them now, but grace, ease and softness.

Among the others are a few Dutch pictures painted on the spot. This does not mean that he made a few sketches in Holland and then came home and painted the picture, but that he set his easel up right there and painted what he saw, and as he saw it.

Many ohers are following the same course, but he is among those who have arrived.

Notes About People and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

The Baptist Social union, drawing its membership from Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, celebrated "ladies' night" with a banquet at the Hotel Annex last night. Seventy-five guests were present. Campbell Stanton acted as toastmaster and introduced the two speakers of the evening, Charles A. Eaton, D. D., of Cleveland, O., and the Rev. Frank W. Sneed of Pittsburgh, who outlined and praised the social, educational and religious morale of the union. Campbell Stanton is president of the union; Dr. T. C. Van Kirk, vice president; J. E. Gibson, secretary, and W. E. Schaffnit, treasurer. Besides the officers, those on the committee of arrangements included George D. Hudson, W. J. Harris, W. S. Foringer, C. K. Strobel and I. H. Stauf.

Predicts Disaster to 'Frisco.

"Outside of the numberless 'fake prophets' who are springing up on all sides with belated predictions of San Francisco's disaster," said James DeL. Henderson, a Chicago insurance broker, at the Fort Pitt last night, "the real prophecy of the 'Frisco fire is to be found in the staid, business-like report of the commissioners in the employ of the national board of fire underwriters. I remember hearing this remarkable prediction made by conservative experts at a fire insurance conference in Chicago several months ago. These experts were handing out insurance viewpoints on all the cities of the United States, and in speaking of San Francisco gave utterance to these ominous words:

"'San Francisco has violated all underwriting conditions and precedent by not burning up long ago. That the town has not done so is largely due to the vigilance of a good fire department, which cannot stave off this inevitable disaster.'"

Plate Glass Men Meet.

A meeting of plate glass men, attended by representatives of many of the independent plate glass manufacturers of the United States, was held yesterday at the Fort Pitt hotel. The meeting was not largely attended, many of the representative companies having been too much involved in the San Francisco situation to be represented. The meeting was called to form a permanent organization to maintain prices and to limit production in times when the market slumps, but, owing to poor attendance, nothing was done other than to form a temporary organization. The glass men present will draw up articles of agreement, which will be forwarded to the firms not represented yesterday, in order to obtain their concurrence. Another meeting will be held in two weeks, at which a permanent organization will be effected.

Lehigh Club Banquet.

The Pittsburgh Lehigh University club will hold a banquet at the Union club at 7 o'clock this evening, preceded by a business meeting in charge of President T. J. Bray. Ten members of the university faculty will attend the banquet, including the president, Dr. H. J. Drinker. They will be put up at the Duquesne club during their stay in the city.

Lobby Chatter.

Dr. David G. Mellony, a physician of San Juan, Porto Rico, is at the Henry.

Many of the hotels have promptly caught the spirit of the times and have installed contribution boxes—sometimes an improvised cigar box with the slogun "Every Little Bit Helps," whose contents is to be turned into the fund for suffering 'Frisco. In the few hours of operation last night many of these boxes gathered in sheckles to the extent of over $10.

C. B. Sowosh of New Castle, one of the leading officers of the Trainsmen's union, registered at the Seventh Avenue hotel last night. It is understood he is here to attempt arbitration in the strike of the switchmen against the Monongahela Conecting Railroad Company.

George B. Hansel, formerly clerk at the South Side hospital, who commenced the study of medicine while at that institution, and who was one of this year's graduates at the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, has been successful in a competitive examination for the position of interne in the Jefferson College hospital.

As to Heresy.

At any rate, nothing more serious confronts Rev. Dr. Crapsey than a possible change of denomination and transfer to another field of usefulness. A heresy trial is now an academic proposition that brings neither physical nor mental anguish. It may even serve a good end by arousing many from their indifference toward the subjects that form the basis for scholarly disagreement.—Baltimore American.

Bede's Clownish

SOCIAL LINES ARE NOW OBLITERATED

Destitution and Suffering Have Made Commoners of All the Classes.

USE GRAVES AS COUCHES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 20.—Next to viewing the many square miles of ruins that once made San Francisco a city, no better realization of the ruin that has come to this place can be gained than by visiting the refugee camps located in the districts which were untouched by the flames. Golden Gate park was the Mecca of the destitute. This immense playground of the municipality has been converted into a vast mushroom city that bears striking resemblance to the fleeting towns located on the border of a government reservation about to be opened to the public settlement.

The common destitution and suffering have wiped out all social, financial and racial distinctions. The man who last Tuesday was a prosperous merchant is occupying with his family a little plot of ground that adjoins the open-air home of a laborer. The white man of California has forgotten his antipathy to the Asiatic race, and is maintaining friendly relations with his new Chinese and Japanese neighbors. The society belle who, Tuesday night, was a butterfly of fashion at grand opera performance, was assisting some factory girl in preparation of humble daily meals. Money this afternoon had little value. The family who had had foresight to lay in the largest stock of foodstuffs on the first day of disaster is rated highest in the scale of wealth.

A few of the families who could secure willing expressmen are possessors of cooking stoves, but over 95 per cent of the refugees are doing their cooking on little camp fires made of brick or stone. Kitchen utensils that last week would have been regarded with contempt, are today articles of high value.

Many of the homeless people are in uncomfortable clothing, some being in possession of comfortable clothing and bed covering, but the great bulk are in need. The grass is their bed, and their daily clothing their only protection against the penetrating fog from the ocean or the chilling dew of the morning. Fresh meat disappeared Wednesday morning, and canned foods and breadstuffs are the only victuals in evidence.

Not alone are the parks the places of refuge. Every large vacant lot in the safe zones has been pre-empted, and even the cemeteries are crowded. A well-known young lady of social position, when asked today where she had spent the night, replied: "On a grave."

LOOKS TO SISTER CITIES TO SUPPLY ITS WANTS

Food Supply in 'Frisco Must Be Immediately Replenished, If Famine Is Averted.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—In buildings close to the camps the police are storing available food stuffs and clothing for convenient delivery. That there will be a just and equal distribution of supplies is evident of the temper of the city administration. No distinctions are drawn and only few favors shown.

The grave question is: How soon will an adequate supply of food arrive from outside points to avert famine and destitution. There is little food in San Francisco outside of what little each person possesses and this cannot last more than a few days. San Francisco is geographically an isolated city. Its nearest large neighbor on the south is Los Angeles, 500 miles away.

To the north is Portland, nearly 800 miles distant, and its nearest sister in the great east is Salt Lake City, 1,000 miles away. These cities and all of the less populated nearer towns are making sacrifices for the destitute here, but it is to the big cities of the nation that San Francisco looks with anxious eyes for relief.

STARVATION THREATENS HUNDREDS IN STATE

Gov. Pardee and Aids Are Trying to Evolve Some Prompt Effective Method of Relief.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—To feed and house the unfortunate people of San Francisco who have suddenly been bereft of homes and means of livelihood is calling forth the best efforts of the people of this city. It is calculated that at least 200,000 people have come to this side of the bay and are now distributed among the homes of Oakland, Alameda and Berkely. While hundreds have found lodging at friends, there are countless poor who are dependent upon charity.

The work of evolving a system for supplying the immediate wants of the poor is a matter that is now in the process of organization. To get some sort of a scheme whereby those in need can get the necessities of life is the aim of Gov. Pardee, his staff, Mayor Mott and the local city government and civic organizations.

It is the general belief, however, that, despite all efforts there is going to be great distress and that actual starvation stares many in the face unless immediate and whole-souled aid is forthcoming.

SEARCH FOR HUSBAND.

One of Thousands of Pathetic Incidents Witnessed in City of Ruined Homes.

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—Among the many pathetic incidents of the fire in San Francisco was that of a woman who sat at the foot of Van Ness avenue on the hot sands on the hillside overlooking the bay east of Ft. Mason with little children, the youngest, a girl of 8, the eldest a boy of 10. They were destitute of water, food and money. The woman had fled with her children from a home in flames in the Mission street district and tramped to the bay in the hope of sighting the ship which she said was about due, of which her husband was the captain.

"He would know me anywhere," she said, and she would not move although a young fellow gallantly offered his tent, back on a vacant lot in which to shelter her children.

SHRINERS GIVE UP FUND AND FOREGO BIG TRIP

CHICAGO, April 20.—At the spring meeting of Oriental consistory, Mystic Shriners, held here yesterday, it was decided that the $100,000 appropriated for the entertainment of the Shriners at their national encampment to be held at Los Angeles in May, be turned over to the relief of the sufferers of the San Francisco catastrophe. In place of the elaborate meeting which had been planned for the Shriners, they will hold a business meeting in Chicago.

Bank Vaults Are Intact.

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—At a meeting of bankers this morning Mr. Lynch of the First National bank reported that a committee had examined all the bank and safe deposit vaults in San Francisco and found them all intact. This makes it certain that the money and papers on deposit are all safe. It was also learned that the books and records in the San Francisco Hall of Records also escaped serious injury.

Search for Missing New Yorkers.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The wife and two daughters of W. A. Boland, a banker of this city, formerly of Michigan, arrived at the California hotel on Rush street, San Francisco, the evening before the earthquake. It is reported the upper walls collapsed and that the hotel since has burned. Searching parties are endeavoring to get some trace of Mrs. Boland and daughters.

JORDON HOPEFUL FOR UNIVERSITY

President of Leland Stanford School Plucky in Disaster's Face.

URGES STUDENTS TO REMAIN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 20.—C. M. Leach, who has made a complete circuit of the earthquake devastated districts around the bay, including San Jose, Niles and Alameda, arrived in Sacramento early today, and gave the following review of the catastrophe as he viewed it from the automobile in which the tour was made:

"After as thorough an investigation of the ruins in San Francisco as could be made by him, Prof. Durand, an eminent engineer of Stanford, returned to the university yesterday. He made the statement that the shock was much greater in Palo Alto and vicinity than in the devastated city.

"All telegraphic communication with the nearby cities is cut off. Prof. Durand, Prof. Green, accompanied by myself, started for Sacramento in an automobile carrying over 400 telegrams to be sent to friends and relatives in the east and abroad.

"The roads skirting the bay were slightly injured in places by fissures, but no serious faulting of the underlying rock was observed.

"At San Jose, the loss of life is not as great as was first reported, only 10 dead being reported up to date.

"The Vendome Annex is completely ruined, as well as the court house and all brick and stone structures.

"From San Jose to Alviso, the road is lowered in places by the shock, and the front of the principal hotel at Alviso has sunk at least 10 feet.

"Beyond Alviso toward Niles the road is in very good shape and the only evidences of the shock are tumbled-down fences and water tanks.

"Haywards escaped damage comparatively, the only damages being confined to flues and smokestacks.

"President Jordan, in an address to the students after the shock, asked them to remain at Stanford and help clear the debris. He thinks the university will be rebuilt as soon as possible. Though he was recently tendered the presidency of an eastern university, he will remain with Stanford. He said that the university did not depend entirely upon its buildings."

CONRIED'S SINGERS ARE ON THEIR WAY EAST

Fatal Losses to Members of Metropolitan Opera Company Are Estimated at $150,000.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—Members of the Metropolitan opera company of New York, all of whom suffered from the great disaster, are leaving today for the east. A number of principals, including Madame Sembrich, Caruso, Campanari, Dippel, Conductor Hertz and Bars, started at 11 o'clock this morning on the Southern Pacific overland train, via Ogden and Chicago. The greater part of the company, including the chorus and musicians, will travel by a special train via New Orleans.

With the party are Scotti, Miss Walker, Mme Rappold, Plancon, Reiss, Press Representative Meltzer and Conductor Franke. Conductor Vagn left last night and some of the principals not named are travelling apart from the company. All of the splendid scenery, stage fittings, costumes and musical instruments were lost in the fire which destroyed the Grand opera house, where their season had just opened to splendid audiences. No one of the company was injured but nearly all of them lost their personal effects.

Mme. Sembrich placed her loss by the destruction of her elegant costumes at $20,000. She was fortunate enough to save her valuable pearls. The total loss to the organization may reach $150,000.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

Systematic Work Being Done by Relief Committees in Looking After the Needy.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 20.—At the headquarters of the relief committee the actual detail of the work is being handled by committees who have charge of various branches of the work. There is a registration bureau where all are asked to register their names for the use of those wishing to find families or friends. Hundreds of inquiries have been received for information in regard to the people. In hurried flight many families were separated and were at a loss to know in what direction to look for each other.

There is a provision committee which takes charge of the provisions which are stored as fast as they are received in a grain warehouse at the corner of 13th and Franklin streets. From here the provisions are sent out to the various depots where people are being fed throughout the city.

The churches of the city are taking charge of the work of ministering to the wants of the needy and hungry.

BOSTON OFFERS FOR AID HALF MILLION DOLLARS

BOSTON, April 20.—A resolution to contribute half a million dollars to the earthquake sufferers of California was adopted at a meeting of representative citizens of Boston and Massachusetts held at the city hall here today. It was voted also to hold a public mass meeting tomorrow in Faneuil hall to further the subscription movement. The state house of representatives today voted an appropriation of $100,000 for the relief of the stricken people of San Francisco.

PRESIDENT GIVES $1,000; KNOX ALSO CONTRIBUTES

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Assistant Secretary Charles Hallam Keep of the treasury department, treasurer of the National Red Cross association, today received a check for $1,000 from President Roosevelt as a contribution to the relief of the earthquake and fire sufferers at San Francisco, and also one for $500 from Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania, for the same purpose.

SPECIAL TRAIN WITH SUPPLIES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 20.

With a fund of more than $750,000 already subscribed as a basis on which to work, New York today continued to pour out her wealth for the aid of sufferers in San Francisco, swept by earthquake and fire. Donations of cash and supplies and offers of free transportation were freely made.

From the mite of the laborer to the check of the banker, from charity organizations and from the school children, gifts continued to come unasked by the various agencies that had charge of receiving funds. Corporations and individuals vied with each other in the size of their contributions and in promoting the celerity with which they might be forwarded to the stricken city.

Chief among the plans of relief was that which came through the suggestion of Mrs. James A. Bailey, widow of the "last of the showmen." Under her instructions Louis E. Cook, general agent of Barnum & Bailey's circus, and George E. Starr, chairman of the board of directors, at noon sent out 100 wagons from the Madison Square garden to make a house to house canvass throughout the greater city for food, cash, tents, clothing—any and everything that would be of value in aiding the sufferers of the city of the Golden Gate.

While these collections were being taken arrangements were made by Messrs. Cook and Starr for a special relief train which will be run direct from this city to San Francisco, and which will bear the results of the wagon canvass. This train will stop in most of the principal cities en route, where additional supplies will be taken on board and transported free of charge to the coast towns that are suffering now in the famine following the disaster.

It is expected that these collections will reach an enormous total long before the relief train gets into the west, as plans have been made for all the food and cash collected to be turned over to express companies.

It is expected all arrangements for the special train will be concluded late tonight and that the start for San Francisco will be made as soon thereafter as possible. The special will be under the immediate charge of Mr. Cook, who will go through to the coast.

STRANGER CONTRIBUTES LARGE SUM TO THE FUND

Unknown Man Enters Mayor McClellan's Office and Leaves 25 Thousand Dollar Bills.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 20.—A man about 35 years of age called at the city hall this afternoon and, approaching Sergeant Kennell, requested to see the mayor. When questioned as to his mission he said he desired to see the mayor with regard to making a contribution to the fund in aid of the San Francisco sufferers.

Sergeant Kennell introduced the stranger to Frank M. O'Brien, the mayor's secretary. The visitor, however, insisted he must personally see the mayor, adding that his contribution was a large one. Mr. O'Brien thereupon took the stranger to see the mayor. He then pulled from his pocket 25 crisp $1,000 bills which he requested the chief magistrate to send to the San Francisco sufferers.

"May I ask from whom this contribution comes?" inquired the mayor. "Simply say it is a contribution by a friend of humanity," the stranger replied, as he bowed respectfully to the chief magistrate and left the room.

William K. Vanderbilt and Kuhn, Loeb & Company, bankers today contributed $25,000 each to the San Francisco relief fund.

FORTY PERSONS KILLED.

Reports of Life Loss at Santa Rosa, Says on Official, Were Greatly Overdrawn.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 20.—State Controller A. P. Colgan, who is at his old home town, Santa Rosa, telephoned that reports from that place have been greatly exaggerated. The public and business buildings are wrecked, but the residence portion is only slightly damaged.

Forty people were killed in the business part of the town, but no one was injured in the residence section.

Berkeley Under Martial Law.

BERKELEY, CAL., April 20.—Every train from San Francisco is bringing hundreds of refugees from that city. It is estimated that at least a thousand homeless people have come here and on account of the large influx the city has practically been placed under martial law. Thousands of cadets from the University of California are patrolling the streets and a hundred police officers are watching homes and stores.

Tech Beer

In the short time that Tech has been on the market it has won the undisputed leadership among light bottled beers—

There are reasons for this success

Finer malt and hops used in brewing Tech are not procurable.

Every brew is cooled in filtered air and never leaves the glass enameled tanks until it is properly aged.

Every bottle of Tech is sterilized.

These facts, coupled with the technical skill and extreme care exercised in every step of its production, gives Tech Beer that delicious flavor and exquisite taste that so delights and satisfies.

Thirty years ago I made my first public appearance at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. I was a stranger then. People took away specimens of my writing as curiosities. Today everybody knows me and these specimens fill the mail cars.

Every one of my thirty years has been a year of progress—both in quality and sales. The year 1906 is emphasizing my supremacy—my sales for the first quarter breaking all existing records.

Today I am the oldest and still the newest. Not that I was first am I best, but that I am best am I first. I am the product of the second generation of Remington artisanship. My New Models represent the experience of the old combined with the progressiveness of the new. In my present form I embody all the qualities which have made me famous—plus improvements so fundamental as to create a new standard of typewriter work.

ALL AGENCIES OFFER RELIEF

Men, Women and Children in All Walks of Life Tender Their Mite to Help Sufferers.

LOCAL FUND GROWING FAST

The coffers of Pittsburgh have been thrown open to succor the suffering multitudes on the Pacific coast. Scores of agencies in this vicinity voluntarily went to work yesterday to offer all possible assistance. As a matter of system all contributions raised will be centered in the California Relief Fund, which is in charge of Mayor George W. Guthrie and a committee of 21 of Pittsburgh's representative citizens, who have their headquarters in the rooms of the chamber of commerce.

A meeting of this committee will be held in the mayor's office in city hall at 10 o'clock this morning to determine upon the advisability of immediately telegraphing funds to the mayor of Tacoma, Washington, who has volunteered to send several shiploads of provisions from that point to the stricken city upon receipt of funds.

So generally has the feeling of sympathy over the calamity overcome Pittsburghers that capitalists, business men, wage earners and even school children have responded freely to the first call for assistance, and are contributing their mite. A true barometer is found in the popular contributions which have been left at The Gazette office, which total $9,291 75 for two days.

Hands in Check for $1,000.

Early yesterday morning a prominent local capitalist handed in his personal check for $1,000 at this office, and so did the officer of a large manufacturing concern. In the first mail came a $100 bill, enclosed in a tiny 2-inch envelope, bearing the statement, "From Allegheny." A few hours later came a donation of $11 75 from the students of the Greenfield Hungarian evening school, and another from the Munhall public schools. Men, women and children in all walks of life have met on common ground to express material sympathy.

Announcement was made last night that a special collection for the relief fund would be taken up by the Sunday school of the Bellefield Presbyterian church, and many other congregations of all denominations will do likewise. The Rev. Dr. S. B. McCormick, chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, is raising a fund at the university.

In McKeesport over $1,000 was raised yesterday, and it is expected to at least treble this amount. J. K. Skelley, a merchant of that city, who is within a day's ride of San Francisco, telegraphed his manager yesterday to send a carload of clothing and provisions to that city. Citizens of McKeesport will help fill the car.

The Young Peoples' Christian union of the Ninth United Presbyterian church, South Fourteenth and Bingham streets, which has been presenting "The District School" the past two nights, at the church, before large audiences, will give a special performance this evening for the benefit of the San Francisco fund.

Carnegie Board of Trade Helps.

The Carnegie board of trade began a fund last night, and the same steps are being taken by the citizens of all towns and boroughs within the county. The California Fruit Growers' exchange has telegraphed its local manager to sell 200 cases of navel oranges at auction in the Pennsylvania railroad building, Twenty-first street and Penn avenue, at 10 o'clock Monday morning, and turn the proceeds into the local relief fund treasury.

Officials of both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies report that it is almost impossible to deliver telegrams in San Francisco when they are received, as the people have been driven to the parks in immense crowds. The local office of the United States Express Company announced yesterday that all packages or money intended for relief and sent by properly-authorized relief committees, will be carried to San Francisco by them free of charge. The Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and New York Central railroads have announced that they will forward all supplies sent by authorized relief bodies free of cost.

A special train, carrying physicians and nurses from the east passed through Allegheny over the Fort Wayne road at record speed without stopping, early yesterday morning, while another special of 13 cars containing tents and government supplies, rushed through Union station shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Tenth Has Not Forgotten.

Members of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment began an active campaign in raising funds yesterday. They remember the kind treatment given them in San Francisco on their return from the Philippines, when the sick were cared for and the regiment received such a royal welcome.

A benefit matinee was given in the Gayety theater yesterday afternoon at which a large sum was realized. Benefits will be given in the Grand, Alvin, Empire and Nixon theaters next week. The Oakland board of trade will meet tonight to inaugurate a fund.

At a meeting of the California Relief committee yesterday morning, in the chamber of commerce rooms, Mayor Guthrie read the following telegram from Gov. Pardee of California:

In the name of Mayor Schmitz and his stricken people, I thank you. Three hundred thousand people are shelterless. They need food and shelter.

During the meeting many plans were discussed for sending the money in hand to the sufferers, and it was decided to await instructions from Mayor Schmitz. The Metropole Social club which arranged to give a dance in Thuma's academy on May 9, held a special meeting last night and decided to donate the proceeds of the coming dance to the relief fund.

PARISIANS DEEPLY MOVED BY FRISCO'S SAD FATE

PARIS, April 21.—(Special Cable.)—The hearts of Parisians, light and gay in the midst of the early season with amusement and recreations, were suddenly moved to compassion by the news of the great calamity at San Francisco, coming so soon after the period of deep sympathy for the sufferers in Italy. Proverbially responsive to all claims for condolence as are the French, they were not found wanting in this latest instance, when it was not difficult to observe their quickness to pause in the current of business or pleasure to express sentiments of pity and regret.

Population of Paris 2,720,000.

CITY TO REBUILD WITH ALL HASTE

Determined to Restore Metropolis to Former Status, Says Schmitz.

IS GRATEFUL FOR NATION'S AID

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Mayor Schmitz today sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

San Francisco, April 20.

To the President of the United States, Washington:

Generous contribution of $1,000,000 from the general federal government for relief of destitute citizens received and deeply appreciated. The people overwhelmed by your generosity. All of this money will be used for relief purposes. Property owners determined to rebuild as soon as fire ceases. City will immediately proceed to provide capital for the purpose of reconstructing public buildings, schools, jails, the hospitals, sewers and salt and fresh water systems. The people hope that the federal government will at once provide ample appropriations to rebuild all federal buildings on a scale befitting the new San Francisco. We are determined to restore to the nation its chief port on the Pacific.

EUGENE E. SCHMITZ, Mayor.

He also sent the following to Louis E. Cook of New York:

Louis E. Cook, 75 East Thirty-fourth street, New York:

Grateful for your generous telegram. California heartily thanks you. We need tents, bedding and food supplies. We require comforters and blankets in large number. Thousands of our people are sleeping in the open air without sufficient covering. We particularly need adequate supplies of disinfectants to establish sanitary camps; also drugs and hospital materials. A committee of 50 has been appointed. Chairmen of the sub-committees are: Commissary committee, Rabbi Vorsanger; housing homeless, W. J. Barnett; finance committee, James D. Phelan.

All telegrams addressed to Franklin Hall, relief committee, San Francisco, will have prompt attention by chairmen of proper committee. In your telegram you speak of ready cash. Would suggest that considerable currency of small denomination be sent. This is important as all our banking quarters are destroyed. We would greatly appreciate if New York bankers would arrange to co-operate with California bankers with a view of securing temporary relief, so that fiscal operations may be resumed at the earliest date possible. San Francisco will rebuild. We want to resume the transaction of our usual business in the shortest time possible.

EUGENE E. SCHMITZ, Mayor.

DIRE THREATS ARE SENT TO COUNTY DETECTIVES

Warning Not to Push the Prosecution of a Man Arrested for Molesting a Woman on a Suburban Road.

Adorned with a skull, crossbones and a dagger in a red-stained hand, with gore dripping from the dagger, a letter was received yesterday by County Detective Thomas O'Brien. The letter was postmarked Etna and Millvale, and was sent in care of County Detective W. C. Armstrong, who received it at his home early this morning. The letter is as follows:

"Detective O'Brien—If you don't let Mike Cavanaugh out, you who took Mayor Hays' place, will be treated the same as we intend to treat people of your kind. We intend to fix the school woman, and we will treat you the same. If she don't let up some work she is doing, we intend to lay for her on the road. We will see what kind of a hit she has made. If she is a detective, beware."

The letter was not punctuated and was badly misspelled.

A few days ago Detectives O'Brien and Armstrong arrested a man named Michael Cavanaugh for insulting Janet Lambie, a school teacher on Thompson road in Etna. The two detectives were compelled to draw revolvers to keep an excited crowd of farmers from taking Cavanaugh from them. The letter is thought to have been sent to Detective O'Brien by one of Cavanaugh's friends. The detectives only laugh.

EGGS A DOLLAR EACH; BREAD COSTS AS MUCH

Victim of Earthquake Tells of the Hardships Following the Scarcity of Food.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—Among the refugees from San Francisco who found themselves stranded in this city today were John Singleton, a Los Angeles millionaire, his wife and her sister. The Singleton's were staying at the Palace hotel when the earthquake shock occurred on Wednesday morning. Mr. Singleton gives the following account of his experience:

"The shock wrecked the rooms in which we were sleeping. We managed to get our clothes on and get out immediately. We had been at the hotel only two days, and lost about $3,000 worth of personal effects in the rooms.

"After leaving the Palace we secured an express wagon for $25 to take us to the Casino near Golden Gate Park, where we stayed a day and a night. In the morning we managed to get a conveyance at an enormous cost and spent the entire day in getting to the Palace. We paid a dollar a piece for eggs and a dollar for a loaf of bread. On these and a little ham we had to be satisfied. We reached Oakland last night on a ferryboat and are now trying to get back to Los Angeles."

Mr. Singleton, like thousands of other people in Oakland, found himself without funds this morning, and as there are no banks open, and none will be open until Monday, he had difficulty in securing cash until he met some one who knew him. The people who find themselves without money in Oakland are numerous and all are having difficulty in securing cash, owing to the banks and all business houses being closed by proclamation of the governor. Those who are unable to buy food, however, are being supplied by the local committees and by the various charitable institutions and churches which are being thrown open to accommodate the homeless from across the bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The following message was received today: "The Merchants' association of New York sends its sympathy to the stricken people of San Francisco, and proffers assistance upon any lines desired. Advise us by wire of your necessity with suggestion as to any manner in which we can serve you. Our board of directors meets today, to take action."

In response the Merchants' association of San Francisco sent the following: "Full appreciation of your sympathy and offers of service. Probably 100,000 homeless, with banks, supply houses and hotels destroyed. Good supplies not requiring cooking most desired."

ACTRESS IS KILLED.

Was in 'Frisco Playhouse When Building Collapsed and Crushed Her to Death.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Miss Artie Hall, an impersonator of colored girls, and a member of the Agoust family of jugglers, playing an engagement at the San Francisco Orpheum, were crushed to death in the collapse of that theater, said the assistant property man, who arrived in Los Angeles last night.

"I saw Miss Hall and one of the Agoust sisters go into the theater. No sooner were they well within the building than the walls crashed down upon them. John Morrissey, manager of the theater, is safe, but Harry Orndorff, stage manager, suffered serious injuries, both legs being broken, but I think he will recover."

Michigan Towns Contribute.

DETROIT, MICH., April 20.—Local contributions for sufferers from the California earthquake and fire had tonight reached $26,500. At Grand Rapids the total tonight is reported as $14,985. Two steamer loads of supplies were sent today. Mounted men with a caravan of teams, wagons and drivers have been sent to San Francisco with hay and grain to feed the horses in that city. Sacramento teams will serve free in San Francisco.

BRAVERY OF CITIZENS PRAISED BY MAYOR

Danger Past, Says Schmitz, but Warning Against Carelessness Is Given Out.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Mayor Schmitz issued the following proclamation today:

"The fire is now under control, and all danger is passed. The only fear is that other fires may start should the people build fires in their stoves, and I therefore warn all citizens not to build fires in their homes until the chimneys have been inspected and repaired properly. I congratulate the citizens of San Francisco upon the fortitude they have displayed and I urge upon them the necesity of aiding the authorities in the work of relieving the destitute and suffering.

"For the relief of those persons who are encamped in the various sections of the city, everything possible is being done. In Golden Gate park, where there are approximately 200,000 homeless persons relief stations have been established.

"The Spring Valley Water Company has informed me that the Mission district will be supplied with water this afternoon between ten and twelve million gallons daily being available. Lake Merced will be taken by the federal troops and that supply protected."

YOUNG BOY IS ABDUCTED WHILE PLAYING IN YARD

Son of a New York Doctor Is Taken Away by Men in an Automobile in Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 20.—Anson Head Richards, 3 years old, and a son of Dr. William Richards of New York, was abducted here today by three men who carried him away in an automobile and no trace of him has been found.

The mother of the child is living at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. F. Hunting, 2061 North Forty-fourth avenue. The boy today was playing on the lawn in front of the house when two men approached him. One of them lifted him up and the chauffeur, who had stopped his machine some distance away, at once started toward them. The boy was hastily placed inside, the men clambered after him, and the machine went north at a furious rate.

A number of person who witnessed the abduction gave chase, but the speed of the automobile was so great they were distanced in a few minutes. Mrs. Richards came to the home of her sister several weeks ago.

Disaster at San Francisco Likely to Prevent Shriners' Pilgrimage.

It is likely that the proposed pilgrimage of the local members of Syria temple, A. A. of N. M. S., to the annual convention of the order in Los Angeles will be abandoned. Owing to the disaster at San Francisco, it is probable the $100,000 raised for the entertainment of the Nobles in Los Angeles will be given for the aid of sufferers. Syria temple had arranged for a special train to leave here next Wednesday, returning May 18. The school teachers of the city also fear the disaster will prevent their convention, which was to have been held in San Francisco July 9. They are awaiting word from Supt. Nathan C. Schaeffer regarding the convention.

SEEK LIGHT FROM MAYOR GUTHRIE

Republican Councilmen Ask for a Conference on the Delinquent Tax Ordinance.

MEETING TO BE HELD TODAY

Republican councilmen have appealed to Mayor Guthrie for light before enacting legislation to reform the delinquent tax office. Chairman J. C. Wasson and three other members of the finance committee called upon the mayor yesterday afternoon and arrapged for a conference this morning to learn Mr. Guthrie's views concerning the delinquent tax office and the ordinance pending in councils to abolish the office. Councilmen William Brand, William A. Martin and D. K. Barton accompanied Chairman Wasson.

Dissension is said to have arisen among the councilmen over the proposition to abolish the delinquent tax office. The ordinance was introduced in select council by William Metcalfe, Jr., and referred to the finance committee. Chairman Wasson claims he was the father of the bill, but agreed to its introduction in the select branch, it being thought then this course might expedite its passage. Since then Mr. Wasson has modified his views a great deal and thinks the mayor should be consulted before councils act. The conference today is to ascertain the wishes of the mayor before the finance committee meets and reports the bill to councils. A special meeting of the finance committee is called for next Tuesday afternoon. Councils will meet the following Monday, and it proposed to take decisive action at once, so that the new collector of delinquent taxes may be appointed and assume office on May 1, providing the office is not abolished.

Mayor Guthrie is said to favor the retention of the office, but wishes to see an accumulative penalty system established. Under the present method a delinquent pays a penalty of 5 per cent whether he delays payment one month or 18. The March installment of taxes becomes delinquent on May 1, but the delinquent list is not published until the October of the following year. Mayor Guthrie wishes to establish a system whereby the penalty increases the longer the tax remains unpaid. He also favors a change whereby the collector will turn into the city treasury all fees above a certain sum equal to a salary of about $5,000 a year. The ordinance now pending in councils provides that the city treasurer be made also the collector of delinquent taxes, to perform the work without additional compensation.

The members of the committee that called on the mayor yesterday acted in a mysterious manner. They entered the mayor's office after the usual hours and declined to give out any information. President Walters of select will attend the conference with the mayor this morning.

SECURES WITNESS AGAINST DEHALL

Brown Says Chauffeur Confessed Killing Michael McMorris on Boulevard.

COMES BACK FROM CHICAGO

After a long and difficult investigation Coroner Armstrong believes he has found the chauffeur who ran over and killed Michael McMorris, a negro, on the Grant boulevard on January 18. Yesterday he committed William De Hall, chauffeur for J. H. Hammond of 624 Clyde street, to jail on a charge of murder, and James Brown as a witness to murder. Brown has confessed that De Hall was the man who ran down McMorris, and also gave the name of the man who was with De Hall at the time.

After McMorris was run over the chauffeur did not stop, but raising the gear of his machine, speeded away. The county detectives learned De Hall had confessed to Brown that he had struck McMorris, and De Hall was arrested. When the inquest was held Brown was in Chicago. As he was the principal witness, the case was continued. The coroner learned where Brown had gone, and by a subterfuge caused his return to this city and his arrest followed yesterday. Brown confessed to Coroner Armstrong that De Hall told him he had killed a negro on the boulevard, and that De Hall and others gave him money to go to Chicago until after the inquest. De Hall still denies he was responsible for McMorris' death.

Coroner Armstrong is greatly pleased in capturing Brown as a witness, and says:

"Chauffeurs apparently have no regard for human life. Had De Hall stopped and assisted McMorris to a hospital after the accident, he would probably have escaped conviction. I believe the case was an accident. Instead, DeHall speeded away from his victim, whom he thought he had killed, and did not surrender himself to the police. Chauffeurs will have to be taught to be human when they run over persons and not speed away from their victims and try to evade justice."

George Gardner, who was with DeHall when it is alleged he ran over McMorris, was arrested by Deputy Coroner Church last night and committed to jail as a witness to the murder.

NO INGRAM BONDS.

Taxpayers Defeat the Proposition to Get More Money for Improvements at Present.

At an exciting meeting of taxpayers of Ingram borough Thursday evening, the proposition to issue $80,000 additional bonds for borough improvements met with defeat, many friends of the administration, however, leaving the hall before the matter was voted upon. The meeting was called by Burgess F. C. Heuderschadt, ostensibly to act on securing free mail delivery, to organize a volunteer fire department, and to authorize a special election for additional bonds, the borough's share of $180,000 in improvements being $62,000.

Former Councilman W. J. McMahon declared that the borough's business was not conducted according to the established rules of finance, claiming $700 had been used up in discounting notes. He said $80,000 in contracts had been let, yet the borough wanted to get $20,000 more money. The borough auditors have not discovered any trace of a sinking fund, it was alleged, yet the burgess said there is $246 in this fund. It is alleged the borough will have an assessment of 20 mills this year, as against 15 mills last year. One of the acts of councils in purchasing 1,000 feet of hose and two hose-carts before a single fire plug was placed in the borough, was also criticised, but councils gave as an excuse that bargain-counter rates were offered.

PLANS FINE NATATORIUM.

Harry Davis Will Provide Model Place for Water Sports and Turkish Baths.

Harry Davis, the amusement manager and real estate investor, is going to establish a mammoth natatorium in Pittsburgh. Which one of his many properties will be used for this purpose is not announced, but plans for the institution will be prepared soon. In its completeness and the elegance of its appointments the proposed natatorium and Turkish baths will equal anything of the kind in the country. Speaking of the matter last night Mr. Davis said:

"The discontinuance of the institution which has been doing business downtown for a number of years makes the natatorium field pretty attractive just now, and I have decided to enter it. The site for the natatorium is in my possession, but it cannot be announced at present. I have felt for a long time that Pittsburgh was deficient in its facilities for water sports, swimming and baths, and that there would be a liberal and high-class patronage for an institution conducted on careful and modern lines."

ANOTHER REPORT ON NIAGARA

Canadian Section of Waterways Commission Favors Plans of the United States.

TORONTO, ONT., April 20.—The report of the Canadian section of the International water ways commission has been made. It declares the maintenance of Niagara is a national matter and should be dealt with as such. The United States secretary of war has enforced rules and regulations upon American companies which the commission will probably use as a foundation for regulations to be ultimately recommended to the two governments.

The whole question of riparian rights in relation to navigable streams or international waters will most likely have to be adjusted by some treaty arrangement between the two countries.

HEALTH OFFICER HERE.

Chief Engineer Snow of Harrisburg to Assist in Checking the Typhoid Fever Epidemic.

F. Herbert Snow, chief engineer of the state department of health at Harrisburg, arrived in this city yesterday to assist Superintendent Moore of the bureau of health in stamping out the typhoid fever epidemic. Chief Snow will investigate the conditions along Nine-Mile run into which, it is said, the sewage from Penn township and Wilkinsburg is drained, causing most of the typhoid fever in the East End districts.

Fifteen cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday. There is also one new case of scarlet fever.

Delivers the Final Lecture.

Prof. Doorp last night delivered before the Archaeological society, in Calvary Episcopal church, the last of the season lectures before the society. The lecture was a popular account, illustrated by stereopticon, of an expedition to sites of excavation on the islands of the Aegean, on the coast of Asia Minor. This expedition was planned and conducted by Dr. Doerpfeld, the greatest living authority on ancient Greek architecture and topography, for the benefit of about 120 archaeologists and scholars, from various parts of Europe and from America, who had been in attendance upon the International Archaeological Congress held at Athens just about a year ago.

Bridegroom Fails to Appear.

Mollie White, a negress of 84 Snowden alley, asked Magistrate Kane yesterday morning to assist her in compelling James Coleman, a negro, to marry her. She says they took out a license Saturday and the wedding was to have taken place Wednesday evening, but the bridegroom failed to appear. The magistrate was unable to help her, and Mollie left vowing eternal vengeance on mankind.

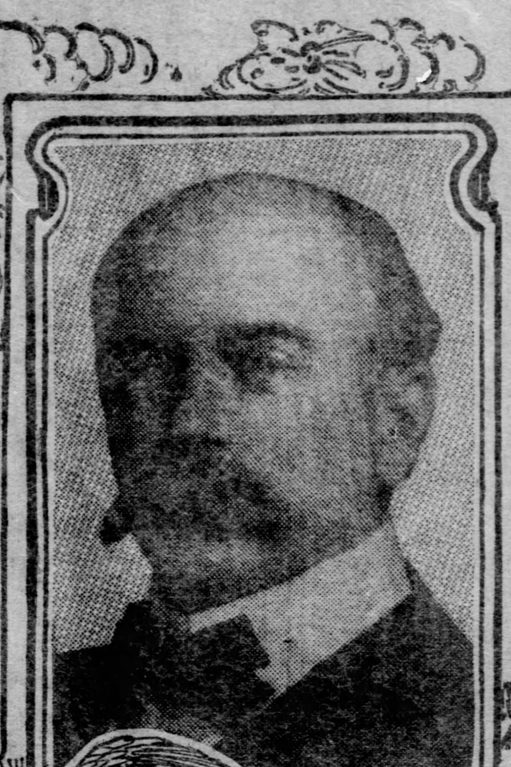
AMERICAN OFFICERS OF HIGH RANK AND OTHERS ENDORSE PE-RU-NA.

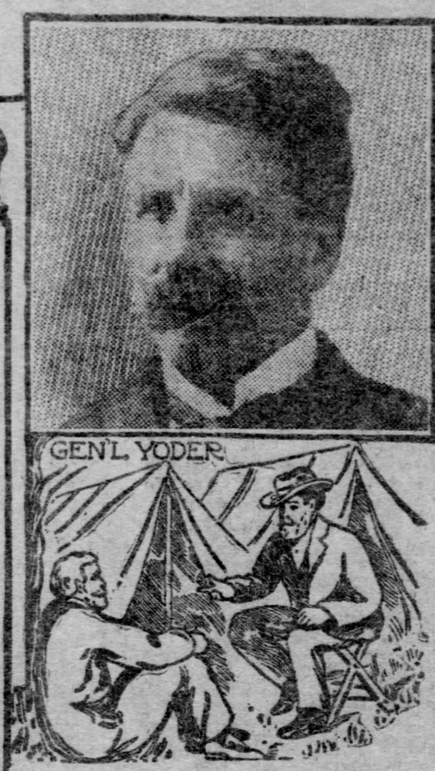
Recommends Pe-ru-na to the Afflicted.

Brig.-Gen. D. T. Kirby, Washington, D. C., writes concerning Peruna as follows:

"Friends of mine having used your Peruna catarrh cure with good results, I am impressed with its curative qualities, and can recommend it to those who are afflicted.



Gen. A. M. Legg



Used Pe-ru-na—Satisfied As to its Merits Recommends It to All Sufferers.

Gen. S. S. Yoder, 208 Md. Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I desire to say that I have found Peruna to be a wonderful remedy. I only used it for a short time and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits. I shall gladly recommend it to all sufferers."

Prominent People Recommend the Remedy Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Hartman's World Renowned Catarrh Medicine.

A Remedy for the Grip.

Gen. W. H. Parsons, 925 H. St. N. W., Washington, D. C., writes as follows:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip with which I have been affected for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula.

"I feel a decided change for the better by its use for one week only, especially in toning up the stomach, and a consequent decided effect upon my appetite.

"I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas where I had the honor to command a brigade of her veteran cavalry in a four-year war, may accept the voluntary testimonial to the merit of Peruna from a sense of obligation for its wonderful efficacy."

Pe-ru-na a Good Tonic.

Gen. M. C. Butler of South Carolina writes from Washington, D. C. as follows:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble.

"I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved.

"It is indeed a wonderful medicine, and besides a good tonic."

Colds in the Head and Throat.

Charles W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lantham, Md., as follows:

"Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peruna.

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat.

"I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions.

"I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack.

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments.

"We are recommending it to our friends."

Thomas Beckwith, 11 Kitchell street, Auburn, N. Y., writes:

"I was troubled with a cough and indigestion. Thanks to your advice and Peruna I am in good health now. I was talking with an old friend and he told me he took Peruna last winter, and he is in the best of health, working every day and speaks highly of your medicine. I shall feel it my duty to recommend your medicine to all my friends."

An Invigorating Tonic.

Rear-Admiral Hichborn, U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., writes:

"After the use of Peruna for a short period I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."

For Catarrh of the Stomach.

Gen. W. W. Duffield, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna in my family and have found it a valuable medicine and take pleasure in recommending it to all who suffer from catarrh of the stomach or who require a tonic of prompt efficacy."

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH—RELIEVED BY PERUNA.

Gen. A. M. Legg writes from the Savings Bank Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I take pleasure in indorsing the many recommendations I have heard and read of Peruna, because of having had knowledge of the truth of so many of them.

"We always tell our sick and ailing friends of the remedies that we have learned, from experience, were good for us when ailing in the same way, and we do it as a duty we feel that we owe them.

"Why is it any the less our duty to advise all the people we can when we know of a good and comparatively inexpensive remedy that makes many cures and benefits in almost all cases?

"My own little personal experience of being relieved of deafness, caused by a siege of catarrh, warrants me in advising all the afflicted to just try Peruna."

For Kidney Trouble, Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

Gen. A. T. Hawley, 1138 25th st., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna and find it very beneficial for kidney trouble and especially good for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Peruna be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Pe-ru-na that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine, which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

"S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.,

When Other Remedies Failed Pe-ru-na Proved Efficacious.

Hon. Geo. W. Roney, National Chaplain U. V. U., Ex-Chaplain 4th Wisconsin Cavalry, Ex-Treas. State of Wisconsin and Ex-Q. Master General State of Texas, G. A. R., writes from 1700 First street, N. E., Washington D. C., as follows:

"I cannot too highly recommend your preparation for the relief of catarrhal troubles in their various forms.

"Some members of my own family have used it with most gratifying results.

"When other remedies failed, Peruna proved most efficacious and I cheerfully certify to his curative excellence."

Pe-ru-na, a Standard Treatment for Catarrhal Diseases.

Mr. John Nelson, Dayton, Tenn., geologist and mining engineer, while a Captain in the Federal Army during the Civil War contracted a case of rheumatism. This malady was constant and persistent, inducing the development of other ailments, which also became chronic. After taking a course of Peruna, Capt. Nelson writes:

"Having been painfully afflicted with chronic rheumatism and the adjunctive complications for many years, and after having received many general and special treatments with only temporary relief, I read your scientific treatise on catarrhal diseases.

"At my request you prescribed a special course of the Peruna remedies, which I closely followed and am happy to report that my rheumatism and complicated ailments are subdued and I feel young again at the age of 69 years.

"Reason will accept your classification of catarrhal diseases as scientific and true, and the Peruna remedies as a standard treatment for them. I thank you heartily for your skilled and logical advice."

Enjoys Renewed Health and Strength.

James J. Osborn, 623 Wahsatch Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., has filled all the positions in Knights Templar Masonic Order, was a Mason since 1866, Judge of County Court, Clinton, Mo., and also County Collector of Clinton. He writes:

"A sluggish liver which I had been troubled with for two years made life miserable and I was unable to attend to my business half the time. I lacked energy, had headache most of the time, and my food distressed me and did not seem to do me a particle of good.

"Reading of the many cures performed by Peruna, I decided to try a bottle. Before I had taken many doses I felt better.

"I took it as directed for two months when I was a well man."

Mr. Robert E. Harvey, Treas. Knights of Industrial Freedom, also a well-known writer and lecturer, writes from 711 S. Lincoln street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"I was in good health until about four years ago when my back became lame and sore. The pains kept increasing with severe twitches and slow exhaustive aches. Having read of Peruna I decided to try it. I found relief from the pain within ten days. Within three months I was well once more."

TWO NATIONS AT THE CLUB DINNER

In closing his address the baron drank to the health of the Traffic club and the American republic.

David G. Black, one of the club's former members in Pittsburgh and now in Minneapolis as general agent of the Great Northern railway, and Mrs. Black, performed one of the most enjoyable features of the program. Both are well known as musicians in this city. They sang first an Italian fishing song, "The Fisherman," by Gabussi, following this with Smith's "Hope Beyond," as an encore. They were called again and again.

Among those seated at the speaker's table were Mayor Guthrie, B. A. Worthington, G. F. Randolph, Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, A. C. Dinkey, Robert Pitcairn, S. M. Felton, John Eaton, J. M. Culp, W. A. Gardner, J. C. Whitney, J. H. Hiland, E. F. Cost, J. S. Keefe, W. B. Schiller, F. L. Robbins, E. M. Herr, A. Ziesing, Thomas Lynch, Capt. G. J. Grammer, W. L. Clause, James J. Buchanan, C. W. Bray and other well known railroad and industrial officers.

The success of this banquet is due to the following annual dinner committee: Chairman, S. S. Bridges, commercial agent of the Norfolk & Western; L. H. Constans, traffic manager of the Pittsburg Steel Company; W. B. Everest, traffic manager of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company; H. A. Jaggard, general agent of the Pennsylvania railroad; E. C. Sattley, general manager and traffic manager of the Page Woven Wire Fence Company, of Monessen, and ex-officio members, L. C. Bihler and W. A. Terry, vice president of the club and general freight agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Most of the out-of-town guests left for their headquarters last evening, special trains and extra cars carrying them to Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and New York. Many remained over and will spend today and probably tomorrow in Pittsburgh with friends.

PITTSBURGH'S MARVELOUS EXPANSION IN INDUSTRY

Baron Sternburg Comments Upon It and Is Amazed at City's Industrial Progress.

Baron Sternburg's address dealt to some extent with a comparison between America, Germany and other countries from an industrial standpoint, and outlined the progress of his own country along industrial lines. He said:

It is indeed a sincere pleasure to me to revisit Pittsburgh and to be able to study the vast changes which have taken place in your wonderful center of industry. The last time I was here was in 1885. I clearly remember everything I saw in your works and plants. At that time all seemed very wonderful too, but the expansion which has taken place in Pittsburgh since those days is just as bewildering as that which is noticeable all over the United States.

What has brought on this marvellous expansion in industry and commerce? Is it Pittsburgh or is it not attributable to American brains, enterprise and ability which have made America a greater Pittsburgh? Well, gentlemen, I will leave it to you to answer the question. The last time I was here the foundation of your modern navy had just been laid by the building of four steel cruisers, the Boston, Atlanta, Chicago and Dolphin. You will remember that every heavy forging for the hulls and guns of these vessels had been imported. Pittsburgh at that time was not able to turn out even the forgings for a six-inch high power rifle or for the sternpost of a 2,000-ton war vessel. But how conditions have changed! There is just as much difference between Pittsburgh of 1885 and of Pittsburgh of today as between the 1,700-ton Dolphin of those days and the 20,000-ton battleship which I hear congress is going to give you. What has caused this extraordinary expansion in industry and commerce in the United States which we also notice in the rise of modern Germany?

It is an acknowledged fact, gentlemen, that these two countries stand in the front rank of the nations of the world in industrial production. In fe examine the causes we will find them two-fold. Both countries passed through the purgatory of a great war, between which only lie five years' difference. The end of the terrible civil war in America saw a united North and South. The Franco-German war resulted in a united Germany. No events in the history of America and of Europe have been of greater significance or more far-reaching in their results than the unification of a divided country here, and the substitution of a nation in the place of petty states with discordant and sometimes hostile programs in Germany. In both nations the political significance of this union has been the most powerful promotor of industrial progress. Thirty-five years ago the manufactures and the inventions in the United States and Germany were considerably below those of England.

Permit me now, gentlemen, to explain in more detail what has placed Germany in the before-mentioned position in spite of the heavy handicap she is carrying. In Germany, as you all know, the agricultural and mineral resources are very small compared with those of other countries, aided in some cases by boundless colonial resources. Besides, Germany's geographical position is such that her neighbors have constantly been invited to destroy the fruits of her industry in ruinous wars, and to select her fields and pasturages as their fighting grounds.

Mainspring of Germany's Development.

This, until today has forced Germany to maintain a great army, to build up a powerful navy and to drain a large portion of her best population through emigration. The mainspring of Germany's extraordinary industrial development is the strong national spirit, the result of the unification of Germany. Another powerful factor next to this, has been the scientific research and the application of research to the practical industrial problems of the nation.

During my school and college days in Germany the scientific men turned their whole mind and energy almost entirely to theoretical subjects, and the problems, to the solution of which they would devote even a lifetime, were in most cases of an hypothetical nature. Professor so and so, for instance, was said to be attempting to prove that Bucephalus, the war horse of Alexander the Great, had been a black horse, not a white horse. Another scientist was mentioned who was trying to prove that short-sightedness was more prevalent among flies than among bees. In a measure, perhaps, this was true. The German investigators of those days certainly had a contempt for any work which was aimed at direct utilitarian results.

But a marked change became noticeable after Emperor William the First, grandfather of the present German emperor, and his iron chancellor had laid the cornerstone for the new Germany, with its mighty national spirit in which men of all vocations shared. A concentrated effort arose to make united Germany strong, not by conquest of arms, but by the peaceful and far more powerful means of scientific research.

In a theoretical form this system of research had been strongly developed and fostered at Germany's famous centers of learning since centuries. The new era of Germany turned it to the immediate solution of the industrial problems of the nation. The chemical, electrical and mineral resources of the country were submitted to scientific research and were turned into her greatest financial asset. This was but an easy task to perform, as the army, to carry it out, had been carefully trained even centuries ago. All this army needed was the word of command to change its tactics and to concentrate its attack on the practical problems. The professor and expert investigator now abandoned the impractical problem and thus became the real founder of the vast industries of modern Germany.

The German government greatly encouraged this movement by favoring the establishment of so-called testing institutions, in which chosen experts should devote their energy to the solution of practical problems which the inventor, the manufacturer, the farmer, etc., might lay before them. By this system the German government has saved an enormous amount of useful energy which otherwise would have been wasted. The ignorant and the crank were told that their problems either had been solved or were found unsolvable. Hence they ceased to waste their money in further pursuing them. On the other hand, to the man with the real problem was pointed out the simplest way for its solution. The expansion was rapid, especially under the far-seeing genius of the present German emperor, William II., who, as is well known, is one of Germany's most prominent technical experts and master mechanics. Under his supervision the old testing plant of Charlottenburg was transferred to a magnificent series of new buildings at Grosslichterfelds, near Berlin.

The Royal Testing Office.

The rise and growth of this unique establishment clearly reflects the industrial progress of Germany and in connection with this I should like to say a word about the history of this institution, now known under the name of the Royal Testing Office of Germany. The first efforts to establish laboratories for testing purposes were made in Germany immediately after the close of the Franco-German war of 1871. At this time various institutions and shops entered into these investigations which develop on two distinct lines—the chemical and the mechanical. The first occupied itself solely with the chemical and metallurgical investigations, chiefly with regard to steel and iron, chemical substances used in commerce and chemical properties of the soil. The second concentrated its efforts on tests of the strength and nature of materials, such as metals, stones, earths, etc. About 12 years late; a commission was appointed for the purpose of uniting these detached laboratories. They were given a home in a modest little shop in Charlottenburg. The concentration of the previously scattered efforts immediately gave this new, though very modest, establishment an extraordinary impetus. At first the tests, which were of a chemical and a mechanical nature, were also used to instruct students. The tests of metals were the most important, and consisted in determining the hardness and tensile strength and the behavior of metals when submitted to the pressure of certain power gases, or chemical changes which might be brought on by varying conditions, etc.

This mechanical part soon developed into a testing laboratory for machines, and materials used in their construction, for materials employed in building and for all sorts of instruments. New departments had to be added, owing to the constantly rising demands, for instance, departments for testing oils, papers, every description of building materials, etc. The chemical section showed the same expansion, thus bringing all the resources of chemical technology to bear upon every possible practicable problem.

By stating a few examples I should like to make more clear to you the real meaning of this establishment which may be considered the cornerstone of Germany's extraordinary industrial and commercial development.

An inventor or a manufacturer has found a problem, the solution of which, without the aid of the institution which the government has placed at his disposal, would cause him much waste of time and money and in most cases probably lead to nothing. With very moderate expenditures he submits his idea to the laboratory of research. Here it is put into the hands of experts who are the production of best training. If the problem is submitted by a company or firm, the experts of the latter co-operate with those of the testing laboratory. The great advantages this system offers will be apparent to you all. It means the minimum loss of time, energy and money, and promises results which could be reached by no other system. It keeps the vast machinery of mills and factories in an up-to-date shape, adapting it immediately to the demands caused by evolution, inventions and discoveries, and so keeps business constantly on a paying basis if it is managed by the right heads.

Emperor William's Master Mind.

A man for instance collects, during his travels in distant lands, specimens of metal, stone, wood, earth, etc. All he has to do is to submit them at the lowest possible cost to the brains of the testing laboratory. He wil be given the exact commercial value of his samples, and by small expense may easily gain a vast fortune. Stones for building purposes are for instance tested by a freezing machine in which they are frozen and thawed a great many times in rapid succession. Within a week the sample will receive the wear and tear which otherwise would have taken 50 years or more, if exposed to the weather. Textiles, cotton goods and silks are tested in a similar way. Chemistry plays a most important role in the solution of the problems of industry.

The extraordinary rapid industrial and commercial progress of Germany was fostered by the mastermind of Emperor William and the prolong ed peace, for he struck by the vast losses suffered by other nations engaged in expensive wars, demanded a thorough change as regards size and equipment of the old testing laboratory at Charlottenburg. After the emperor had thoroughly examined, modified and approved the plans for a new laboratory in which he intended to harness science to industry in the most economic and efficient manner, it was decided two years ago to remove the old plant to Grosslichterfelds, near Berlin, and to give it there a new and splendid home with facilities for indefinite expansion in the future.

In this building, or series of buildings, under the German administrative system, science has received the most effective and practical harness which science herself could conceive, and this has been placed at the bidding of industry and of manufacture. Any citizen at moderate cost can, as before stated, bring to this laboratory any technical problem and can obtain the advice and aid of the most prominent experts in its solution.

What both our countries need, gentlemen, and will need more and more every year if we do not want to damage the work we have built up on foreign markets. These we shall easily find if we follow the great words of the lamented President McKinley, that no nation can be a seller if she is not a buyer.

Gentlemen, I thank you in the name of my wife and myself, for your generous hospitality extended to us during this, so delightful and enjoyable visit to Pittsburgh. I drink to the prosperity of the City of Iron and to the health of the men of steel who are spreading her fame.

STUBBS' PAPER DEALS WITH GREATNESS OF WEST

Traffic Director of Harriman Lines Tells of the Call to Industrial Arms.

J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines, was to have spoken on "Westward Ho," but was called from the city. His paper was read by another. It was as follows:

While the notes of the bugle call yet slumbered on the heights of Mission Ridge, and the music of the reveille still lingered in the ears of the dwellers upon the Rappahannock and the James, before Pennsylvania had dispelled the fright and horror of Gettysburg—from the far off Pacific came the call to industrial arms. It said: "I have rivers of gold and mountains of silver—Come!" Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Colorado resounded the inviting cry. From Oregon and Washington the gentle zephyrs of the Pacific wafted the song of the pines—with healing in its wings. Over the Cascades, kissing the crowns of the frosty giants, Ranier and Hood—swelled to full chorus by the music of the tumbling waters of Shoshone—across the Rockies, was echoed and re-echoed the refrain—"Come!" The perennial breezes that now fan millions of acres of growing grain in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas, repeated the summons and passed it along toward the rising sun. It was heard by thousands who but yesterday had laid down the implements of war. Then, with the answering cry, "Westward Ho!" was undertaken the great industrial march to conquer mountain and desert and make it forever needless that all prevailing America should cross either ocean in order to reach and maintain the commercial and industrial supremacy of the globe.

The civil war in America appalled the world. Out of that struggle came the first transcontinental railroad—the opening and development of the region west of the Missouri river. In 1863 work was begun, and in 1869 what had been known as the "overland route" was served by the first transcontinental railroad.

With the experience of active men—in less than one generation—adobe villages like Las Vegas, Tucson and Los Angeles; Indian rancherias like Phoenix; mining shacks like Helena, Butte and Boise; a mere prospect upon the banks of a wild and uncontrollable stream, like Spokane—have grown to be cities whose productiveness and attractiveness rival the progress of more than a century in the older states. Today the gauge of productive industry is the "T" rail. Seven distinct lines of railroad now span the continent from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean. Inclusive of Texas, the total length of main lines is over 66,000 miles. The wonders they have worked in one generation is but an earnest of what they, unaided, shall accomplish in the generation beginning with the current year.

Governmental and private irrigation projects will bring under the fructifying influence of never failing streams approximately 10,000,000 acres of land so fertile as to make the valley of the Nile appear by comparison like the edge of Sahara. The virgin forests of California, Oregon and Washington, Idaho and Montana are conservatively estimated to contain more than 733,000,000,000 feet of uncut timber. The human mind cannot apprehend so vast a measure. It would make approximately 75,000,000 carloads of merchantable lumber, each of 10,000 feet—and such timber! Eight states in this region produced last year, from beets, over 400,000 tons of sugar. I might speak of the wine industry of the Pacific coast. It is not languishing. I might talk about the copper industry, indeed, one might discourse all night of the prolific prospects, abundant promise, of this western half of the continent.

BIHLER BIDS A HEARTY WELCOME TO CLUB'S GUESTS

Deals With Pittsburgh's Industrial Greatness and Displays Optimism as to the Future.

President Bihler, in his address, said in part:

As president of the organization, it is my privilege and pleasure to extend to you a sincere greeting on this occasion, our fourth annual dinner. To our new guests, we bid a most hearty welcome, and to our old friends, we repeat our welcome of former years. In our organization we have representatives from both the rail and water transportation lines; therefore, as a fitting close to the day's entertainments, it seems but proper that we should now wind up with a calm and peaceful voyage on the ship "Lithia," whose propulsive force and lubricant is so beautifully expressed by the the symbols H 20.

Pittsburgh of a year ago was the eleventh city in population in the United States, we are now about to advance, through enacted legislation, from eleventh to sixth place, with a population of over 525,000. We have for some time held the proud position of first place in tonnage, and hope to continue there with proper encouragement and support by existing and new transportation lines. The records indicate that for 1905 the total tonnage of the Greater Pittsburgh district was about 103,000,000 tons, or 134 per cent greater than in 1897, a period of but eight brief years. It is expected that the tonnage for 1906 will equal, if not exceed 1905, barring unforseen conditions. These figures are as large as the combined tonnage of any six large cities or ports throughout the world that you may select.

In the transportation of this vast tonnage, which represents both rail and water movements, the carrier lines performed a very important part, and without the aid of which these totals could perhaps not have been reached. Of the 103,000,000 tons referred to, approximately 11,000,000 tons was moved by water, consisting of coal, steel rails, cotton ties, nails, wire and similar products. If these 11,000,000 tons, or 10½ per cent of the total, had to be added to the railroad burden of 92,000,000 tons, our rail carriers would undoubtless have been strained to the breaking point.

During last and this year in the neighborhood of $40,000,000 will have been spent by various industrial concerns in the Greater Pittsburgh district for land, buildings and machinery, a portion of which is for entirely new plants and a portion for enlarging existing ones, all of which will increase the consumption and output. This means that the traffic of the Greater Pittsburgh district will continue to grow with proper aid by all who can and should contribute, and will require more careful attention and consideration than ever before, by both industrial and railroad officials generally. For every dollar the railroads are spending to provide increased facilities and terminals, the industries are spending four to five dollars in increasing the size of the plants, as well as the consumption and product. So much happens each year that it is perhaps well on some occasion to only refer to a portion of our increasing importance, to permit of proper digestion.

In an address before this body a year ago, King pointed out the deficiency in certain kinds of finishing factories and the opportunities here in the Greater Industrial Pittsburgh district that might be taken advantage of. In this direction, with the past year, there have been established shops for the manufacture of steel passenger coaches, steel alley cars, and steps are being taken for the building of a plant for the manufacture of railway and other springs, to say nothing of the plans now under consummation for two entirely new iron and steel industrial towns to be located on the banks of the Ohio river, within the shade and influence of the Greater Pittsburgh.

The transportation lines of the entire country are, and rightfully should be, vitally interested in the continued traffic growth of the Greater Pittsburgh district. The foreign as well as the local lines, to whose lot falls the making of through rates, should always have in mind that the rates should never be unreasonably high, but low enough and fair enough to warrant stability of commercial conditions, of which iron and steel trade is the barometer. As to the lines operating from the Atlantic seaboard and gulf, their import rates on foreign material competitive with American products should never be so low as to enable its importation at the expense of American industries.

The industrial and transporters are partners in a joint enterprise, to produce and deliver the greatest possible tonnage at a maximum of advantage and a minimum of loss. There cannot be one right for the carriers and another right for the industry—when the right is determined, it will be found to be the same for both. It may at times be hard to find, but it is certainly worth looking for.

It is our belief that if there were more Traffic clubs organized and conducted along similar lines in other large tonnage producing centers of the country, much good can result from such organizations. The bond of mutual interests, which enables institutions like the Traffic club of Pittsburgh to exist also connects the ideas of interdependency and helpfulness to each other, to say nothing of the scriptural injunction of "how good and blessed a thing it is to dwell together in peace and unity." There is important work here for all of us. The legitimate industrial traffic manager is an established necessity, with numerous missions to perform, and who has, on more than one occasion, been a helpful "Moses" who led the railroads out of their wilderness." There are many large questions of common interest to the industries and to the transporters, which can be better handled by interchange of views.

His Excellency Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German Ambassador.

CARRIERS AND SHIPPERS ARE CLEARLY DEFINED

Vice President of Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Has His Subject at Fingers' Tips.

In his address on Inter-Relations—"Carriers and Shippers," B. D. Caldwell, vice president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway Company, said:

I remember well the impression made upon my mind in the oftrepeated sight of a very graceful and attractive lamp-shade which was in the possession of our family when I was a lad, and on which appeared a picture of two clasped hands with the Latin motto "Teneo et teneor," which, being interpreted, means "I hold and I am held." It would be difficult to find a figure, or an expression that would better describe the main principle of inter or mutual relation between the shipper and the carrier, or more clearly explain the natural and legitimate cause of the wonderful development and advancement already made by these interests. If the history of the past teaches anything, it is that continued exemplification of this principle is the only guarantee of corresponding progress in the future. The ordinary interpretation of the term "Carrier" is that of a person or company that undertakes to carry, or makes a business of carrying persons or goods for hire. To us it means our great transportation interest which supplies the arteries through which our foreign and domestic commerce moves.

The ordinary interpretation of the term "shipper" is one who places goods in the hands of a common carrier for transportation. To us it means the forwarder and the receiver of freight; he who entrusts his property to the carrier expecting to receive safe and reasonably prompt transportation in return for the payment of just and proper compensation. Interdependence is, therefore, the significance of the word "relation," as here used, meaning that which can be said to belong to a person, or thing, only by taking into consideration some other person, or thing.

It is scarcely conceivable how any thoughtful man, familiar with the growth of the transportation and shipping interests in the last 50 years, should not perceive that one could not have grown, could not have continued to exist without the other. It is almost as difficult to understand why thoughtful men should not realize that any attack, unjust repression or unnatural regulation of either interest must of necessity be injurious to both. If the history of other countries is any criterion, government made rates, in eliminating elasticity and freedom of action; must of necessity narrow, instead of extend market and check, instead of promote development.

Suppose we consider one or two plain and simple, but practical illustrations familiar to both the carrier and the shippers. If the shipper is puzzled or anxious about a revision of the classification of his wares, he doesn't want to be misled into believing that every traffic man to whom he appeals expects to become his especial champion before the classification committee and afterward find the vote was unanimous against him because of the general belief that his request was without substantial merit. What he wants and should receive is a proper and considerate hearing, a conscientious examination into the merits of his claim and a frank and candid statement of the conclusions reached. Neither should the carrier find it necessary to establish expensive machinery to protect his revenue from fraudulent practices of underbilling and false classification upon the part of the shipper. We are not credulous and we do not expect perfection, but we do believe in honesty and integrity in business, and it may not be amiss to remind ourselves occasionally that such things must be stood for, forcibly and aggressively and that mere generalities won't do.

Irregular methods are always demoralizing to those who practice them as well as to the interest they represent. It is only ignorance or indifference that believe in the theory that the easiest way is the best. Ease has no part in the strenuous life; it makes no contribution to progress. It may follow in beaten tracks, but never marks the way to new and untried fields of activity or of usefulness.

Secret Practices Are Evil Ones.

Secret practices are usually evil practices and the railway business is no exception to that rule. On the other hand, it is a well known law that evil cannot withstand the light of day; publicity is and must be an unfailing remedy for evil practices, both corporate and individual, and is just as much needed to restrain the shipper as the carrier. There will always be questions of discrimination between localities and gateways, which are natural because of the fluctuation of trade centers and general business conditions. These are usually defensible because of varying interests and honest differences of opinion and are subject to remedial treatment as between the carrier and shipper, but discrimination between individuals by secret practices, is indefensible either as to good public policy or good business morals.

The carriers have for many years found it necessary to have as between themselves what is known as associations, formed for the purpose of conference, consideration and adjustment of matters of common interest, which concern them as competitors. Problematical as it may now seem, it would not surprise us if many of us lived to see the day when associations which exist as between the carrier and the shipper and through which will be established platforms for consideration and adjustment of questions of mutual interest. There is a German adage which says: "You cannot make an association out of insincere men." Neither can you produce a fraternity therefrom. It is the genuineness and sincerity of mutual support, the figure of clasped hands, the invincible strength of mutual upholding, the inspiring motto of "I hold and I am held."

BUTTERWORTH NEATLY TELLS CLUB HISTORY

Historian's Remarks Scintillates With Breezy Utterances and Sturdy Truths.

One of the neatest oratorical turns of the evening came from R. A. Butterworth, the club historian, who had for his subject "The Last Word." Filling such an important office in the ranks of the Traffic club Mr. Butterworth is naturally supposed to know all about it, its objects, aims, accomplishments and anticipation. His talk last night not only demonstrated his perfect familiarity with his subject, but with functions of his office as well. Mr. Butterworth said:

We do try to refrain from proclaiming too loudly our own many excellent qualities and virtues. Another duty which we, as a club have undertaken to perform, is that of proclaiming to the world at large the greatness of Pittsburgh as a manufacturing district. In past times this greatness was not perhaps fully recognized, and if any Pittsburgh man had the hardihood to call attention to her wonderful tonnage and resources, he would be pooh-poohed in a lordly way and told to sit down like a good little boy whilst Milwaukee and St. Louis stood up and bragged of their output of beer, Minneapolis of her flour, Oshkosh of her sash and doors or Wauwautosa of her pickles. The Traffic Club of Pittsburgh resolutely refuses to be sat upon in this way, and defiantly publishes the story of the iron and steel arts from Tubal Cain to Carnegie, and shows that the scene of the story lies principally in Pittsburgh. Again—many interesting subjects are discussed and many good papers are read at our various meetings, and our club has established a bureau of publicity through which they are distributed to the industrial and railroad world at large.

These aims and objects are surely warrant enough for our existence as a club, and, if steadily pursued as in the past, the future of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh is assured for some time to come, and it will surely outlast our time. Further than this the historian sayeth not, his functions being limited to history and poetry, and not including the gift of prophecy. Yet the mind of man is so constituted that, not content with the present and ignoring the "carpe diem" wisdom of the ancients, it is ever alert to peer into the future, and so sometimes in the evening after a good dinner as the money will run to, and when my restless brain has been soothed by the fragrance of a good Havana, I suppose I ought rather to say a Pittsburgh stogie, I have endeavored to forecast the distant future of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh.

BARON SPENDS BUSY DAY IN GREATER PITTSBURGH

German Ambassador and His Party Inspect a Number of the Larger Industries.

Baron Speck von Sternburg, Germany's ambassador to the United States and the personal representative of Emperor William, is Pittsburgh's guest. He arrived with the baroness and the latter's sister, Miss Violet Langham, in company with Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Burke from Washington yesterday morning and was met at East Liberty by Mayor Guthrie, Robert Pitcairn and Louis C. Bihler, president of the Traffic club.

After breakfast at the Schenley the party became the guests of Vice President McCrea of the Pennsylvania lines west for an inspection of Carnegie and Westinghouse interests under escort of Messrs. McFarland and Lindsay. Luncheon was served at the Westinghouse plant in honor of the baron, who had been the guest of George Westinghouse in this city 18 years ago.

"I received a message of condolence from the emperor yesterday," said the baron, "and immediately conveyed it to the President. This is the first time, however, that I have taken the liberty of giving my personal expression of sympathy for San Francisco sufferers. It is a great disaster. Conditions are such that relief will be given, but the loss can never be told."

The baron's party will visit the Heinz plant in Allegheny this morning. Mr. McCrea will entertain a number of local manufacturers and business men at the Pittsburgh club in honor of the ambassador this afternoon, while Mrs. Burke will entertain at the Country club in honor of the baroness and Miss Langham. From 4 to 6 this evening the German societies of Pittsburgh will hold a reception in honor of the visitors, and this evening Col. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, will give a theater party at the Nixon and a supper at the Duquesne club afterward. An automobile trip is planned for tomorrow afternoon.

Three hundred and fifty members and guests of the Traffic club enjoyed a terminal trip in the Ohio, Beaver and Shenango river valleys yesterday from 11 to 2:15 o'clock as the guests of Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio officers.

Paris Polo Season Opens.

PARIS, April 21.—(Special Cable.)—The Paris polo season opened on the bagatelle grounds, in the Bois du Boulougne on Monday. Fine weather was conducive to an enthusiastic attendance and everything points to a more brilliant season than ever. Many improvements to the club house are conducive to the comfort of members and visitors.

The senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of H. D. Patch to be postmaster at Wilmerding.

A Vindication for Dr. Pierce.

Decision by the Supreme Court of New York State, Against the Ladies' Home Journal.

A verdict has been rendered in favor of the plaintiff in the libel suit brought against the Ladies' Home Journal (published by the Curtis Publishing Co.) by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of which Dr. R. V. Pierce is President. The suit was for $200,000 damages, and was brought by Doctor Pierce against the Curtis Publishing Company, for making false statements about one of his standard family medicines known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In the May number of the Ladies' Home Journal (1904), Mr. Edward Bok, the editor, stated that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription contained alcohol and other harmful ingredients, and Dr. Pierce had in the action alleged that the defendant maliciously published this article containing such false and defamatory matter. Dr. Pierce further claimed that no alcohol is, or ever was, contained in his "Favorite Prescription"; that said medicine was a vegetable preparation and contained no deleterious ingredients whatever; that Mr. Bok's statement, pretending to give some of the ingredients of said medicine, was wholly and absolutely false; and that by means of the publication of the article Dr. Pierce was injured in reputation and good name and credit as a manufacturer, to the extent of $200,000, for which amount of damages he brought suit. During the trial, the Vice-President of the World's Dispensary Medical Association stated, that the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription were extracted from the following native roots: Golden Seal, Blue Cohosh, Lady's Slipper, Black Cohosh and Unicorn, by means of pure glycerine. He was asked how he knew, as a physician and experienced medical man, that the "Favorite Prescription" was a cure for the diseases peculiar to women, such as leucorrhœa, amenorrhœa, dysmenorrhœa, ante-version, retro-version, and he stated that he knew such was the fact because of his professional experience and the many thousands of women whose ills had been cured by this "Prescription." This experience was corroborated by the standard Medical Authorities of the several schools of medicine endorsing the various ingredients in the strongest terms. The Vice-President, being asked to give authorities as to the value of the above roots, read from the standard works, such as the United States Dispensatory; The American Dispensatory; Organic Medicines, by Grover Coe, M. D.; Materia Medica and Therapeutics, by Professor Finley Ellingwood of the Bennett Medical College of Chicago.

From such authorities and his own professional experience he showed how the ingredients of this "Prescription" acted upon the female system, imparting increased power to the heart's action, and tone to the nervous system, and detailed its remedial influence in disorders of the female organs.

The retraction printed by the Curtis Publishing Company two months after the libelous statement appeared stated definitely that analyses had been made at their request and that the "Favorite Prescription" did not contain either alcohol, opium or digitalis. But the business of Dr. Pierce was injured from the effects of the publication of the original libel and the matter was brought before a jury in the Supreme Court of New York State who promptly rendered a verdict in the Doctor's favor.

GOLDEN SEAL ROOT.

Prof. Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. Col., Chicago, says of Golden Seal: "In its therapeutic (remedial) influence its widest range of action is upon the stomach, in functional disorders of that organ, where the entire apparatus, including the liver is stagnant and inoperative. It is an important remedy in disorders peculiar to women. In all catarrhal conditions, especially if there be muscular relaxation and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

BLACK COHOSH ROOT.

Prof. John King, in the American Dispensatory says: "This is a very active, powerful and useful remedy. * * * * It possesses an undoubted influence over the nervous system. In small doses the appetite and digestion are improved." He continues, "Upon the reproductive organs it exerts a specific influence, promoting the menstrual discharge.

"Its action is slow, but its effects are permanent. It has been used successfully as an antispasmodic in hysteria, epilepsy when due to menstrual failings, periodical convulsions, nervous excitability, and many other spasmodic affections."

LADY'S SLIPPER ROOT.

Edward M. Hale, M. D., Professor in Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago, says: "Useful in hysteria, chorea (St. Vitus's dance), nervous headache, neuralgia and 'fidgetyness.'"

BLUE COHOSH ROOT.

The American Dispensatory says: "Blue Cohosh is used by Indian squaws, they employing a decoction of the root for two or three weeks previous to labor to facilitate childbirth."

Prof. John King, M. D., says: "It has been employed to relieve irritation of the reproductive organs dependent on congestion. It controls chronic inflammatory states of the organs and gives tone in cases of debility. Chronic ovaralgia, leucorrhœa, amenorrhœa (suppressed menstruation) and dysmenorrhœa (painful menstruation), are conditions in which it has been most successfully employed."

UNICORN ROOT.

Dr. John Fyfe, Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in The Eclectic Review says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription:

"A remedy which invariable acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine. In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

If the above symptoms, or any considerable number of them, are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading and predominating ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias.

We invite all those who would like to read more extended extracts from eminent medical authorities concerning ingredients of "Favorite Prescription," to send for a booklet recently compiled by Dr. Pierce and published by the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., which will be sent free to any one requesting a copy of the same by postal card or letter.

BOOKS AND BOOKMEN

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THE advent of warm weather does not appear to have affected the literary output. During the past week a number of new volumes have appeared—among them one by the perennial and inexhaustible Rev. Charles Wagner, entitled "Wayside Tales" and published by McClure, Phillips & Co. The Simple Life apparently leaves plenty of time to write books.

A really important work is that of Friedrich Paulsen on the "German Universities and University Study," published by Charles Scribner's Sons. Two volumes that will interest students of literature are "Robert Louis Stevenson," by the epigrammatic Gilbert K. Chesterton, published by James Pott & Co., and "The Ghost in Hamlet and Other Essays," by Maurice Francis Egan, published by A. C. McClurg & Co. "Medieval London," by Sir Walter Besant, is a large volume which will attract students of English history; it is published by the Macmillan Company. "Josiah Warren, the First American Anarchist," by William Bailie, is an absorbing sociological study issued by Small, Maynard & Co.

Among the new works of fiction are "A Diplomatic Adventure," by S. Weir Mitchell, published by the Century Company; "The False Gods," by George Horace Lorimer, published by D. Appleton & Co.; "More Stories of Married Life," by Mary Stewart Cutting, published by McClure, Phillips & Co.; "The Throwback," by Alfred Henry Lewis, published by the Outing Company; "Six Stars," by Nelson Lloyd, and "The Tower," by Mary Tappan Wright, both published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

AN AMERICAN MAUPASSANT.

The Four Million. By O. Henry. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 261 pages. Price, $1.00.

IT WAS three or four years ago, and a Pittsburgh newspaper office was the scene. An atmosphere of post-prandial nicotine hung about the place, and the Sunday editor was repeating his rosary of profanity before buckling down to work. At this critical moment the door opened. Every novelist who knows the A B C of his trade, when his story is getting slow, knows enough to write, "There was a rap at the door," and straightway, if he has any faith in himself at all, he will be as deeply interested as his most impressionable reader could be, to see who is going to enter. But the man who blew into that newspaper office that afternoon did not take time to rap. He was in a hurry because he was hungry. He had an inside coat pocket bulging with manuscript, and a vacuum in the compartment consecrated to small change. His clothes were past that stage when the thrifty housewife can still negotiate them for pots and pans. He looked as if he had seen much of the world, and a good deal of it had stuck to him. He evidently had no safety razor and wasn't going to court unnecessary danger. For all that, he looked as happy as a philosopher, and all he wanted was a dollar or two for some of those manuscripts, to provide himself with pate de foie gras and peanuts before marching onward to New York.

The editor read one of the stories, and lo, it was good! But there are times when Henry James himself, bringing one of his serenest-rayed gems on a golden salver, and offering to draw explanatory diagrams and pay a boy to improve the grammar, couldn't sell it for a dollar or two in a newspaper office. And so the stranger from the west wandered on, after borrowing a dollar, his inside coat pocket still bulging, his abdominal concavity undiminished.

Two or three months later the story refused by a Pittsburgh paper appeared in a prominent eastern magazine. It made people sit up and ask who this new writer was. And today there isn't any name that is better known than O. Henry, the pseudonym of Sidney Porter.

O. Henry's stories have appeared in McClure's, Ainslie's, and other periodicals, and for the past year he has been represented nearly every week in the pages of the Sunday Gazette. These tales, of which 25 are now gathered in a tasteful little volume, all deal with the life of the masses in New York. "The Four Million" is the antithesis of the Four Hundred. It may be said without reservation that O. Henry knows the various strata of American life, from the hobo to the magnate, better than any other man writing today, not excepting George Ade, and that he can write of them as no other man can whose style may perhaps reach nearer to the classical ideal. Add to this that O. Henry has imagination and humor in the highest degree, and the secret of his success is laid bare.

These stories are miniature masterpieces. Every one of them embodies a distinct idea, out of the rut of ordinary magazine tales. The second one, "The Gifts of the Magi," is as charming in sentiment, as rich in humor, as any Christmas story Dickens ever penned. "Tobin's Palm" is full of unctuous fun. "A Cosmopolite in a Cafe," "The Man About Town," "The Cop and the Anthem," and "The Memoirs of a Yellow Dog" are rich in their satiric surprises. But it is in humanizing sentiment, in the mood 'twixt smile and tear, that O. Henry achieves his finest effects. Such stories as "A Service of Love," "Springtime a la Carte" and "Sisters of the Golden Circle" go straight to the heart.

Then there is O. Henry's inimitable style. He hasn't played the sedulous ape to Lamb and Hazlitt, nor given his days and nights to the volumes of Addison. His style is as unconventional as firecrackers in Sunday school. It is James Huneker in rag-time. It is neat as Dresden china, yet as extravagant as a gas bill. Take this passage from the "Memoirs of a Yellow Dog:"

> From a pedigreed yellow pup I grew up to be an anonymous yellow cur looking like a cross between an Angora cat and a box of lemons. But my mistress never tumbled. She thought that the two primeval pups that Noah chased into the ark were but a collateral branch of my ancestors. It took two policemen to keep her from entering me at the Madison Square garden for the Siberian bloodhound prize.

Over against this there is a paragraph in "The Green Door" which might have been written by Stevenson himself:

> In the big city the twin spirits Romance and Adventure are always abroad seeking worthy wooers. As we roam the streets they slyly peep at us and challenge us in 20 different guises. Without knowing why we look up suddenly to see in a window a face that seems to belong to our gallery of intimate portraits; in a sleeping thoroughfare we hear a cry of agony and fear coming from an empty and shuttered house; instead of at our familiar curb a cab-driver deposits us before a strange door, which one, with a smile, opens for us and bids us enter; a slip of paper, written upon, flutters down to our feet from the high lattice of Chance; we exchange glances of instantaneous hate, affection and fear with hurrying strangers in the passing crowds; a sudden souse of rain and our umbrellas may be sheltering the daughter of the Full Moon and first cousin of the Sidereal System; at every corner handkerchiefs drop, fingers beckon, eyes besiege, and the lost, the lonely, the rapturous, the mysterious, the perilous, changing clues of adventure are slipped into our fingers. But few of us are willing to hold and follow them. We are grown stiff with the ramrod of convention down our backs. We pass on; and some day we come at the end of a very dull life to reflect that our romance has been a pallid thing of a marriage or two, a satin rosette kept in a safe-deposit drawer, and a lifelong feud with a steam radiator.

"O. HENRY,"
Author of "The Four Million."

Such is O. Henry, who blew into a Pittsburgh newspaper office four years ago footsore and hard up—now known wherever the magazines go and unquestionably one of the best writers of the short story today, the Maupassant of America.

FAUST IN THE SHEEP-SHED.

The Spur. By G. B. Lancaster. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 310 pages. Price, $1.50.

LOUIS BECKE has a rival for the empire of the South Seas. This new writer is a woman, we are told, despite the masculine ring of G. B. Lancaster on the title-page. No one would have suspected it—unless the G. had been expanded into George, there having been so many deceptive Georges, from George Eliot and George Sand to George Madden Martin. But G. B. Lancaster is a woman who knows Australasia well, and can write of it as few have done since Herman Melville.

"The Spur" is the old story of Faust in a modern realistic setting—Faust done into Kiplingese. Kin Severne plays the Faust role; Haddington is the Mephistopheles; life is the Marguerite. Severne is a sheep-shearer who has the spark of genius in his soul, but has never had the chance to fan it into flame. Haddington gives him the chance, sends him to college, gets him newspaper work, launches him on a career. Their compact read: "And if the said Kin Severne fail to profit by my assistance during the three stated years, he himself is forfeit to me." The term of bondage was fixed finally at seven years.

Now Kin Severne is a man of his word. Mephistopheles Haddington has made sure of this before concluding the bargain. One is almost inclined to sniff sulphur, for a demon made of human clay could never have been sure of Kin Severne in such a bargain. Shylock's pound of flesh was legally recoverable, but Haddington's seven years rest upon the interpretation of the three words, "fail to profit." Who shall say whether Severne has profited or not, and how much must he profit? Only diabolical omniscience could have been sure of Severne in such a bargain, and therefore, lacking hoof and horns and tail, Haddington appears as a poor business man and a pale villain.

Kin Severne takes the bit between his teeth during the three years' trial. He goes where he lists, first to Samoa as war correspondent, where he is badly hurt in a scrimmage; then to New Zealand to write a book, where he falls in love. And so, though Work is his god, Life keeps calling and calling, and Kin in listening often forgets his work. At the end of three years he is Haddington's slave for seven. His love and his forfeit bond are the two keynotes of the tragedy.

Half a dozen fine character studies make it a noteworthy story. Pere Eugene impresses one as a reflection of Stevenson's Father Damien, and the pathetic Laleefa seems somehow related to Uma in "The Beach of Falesa." But Josie, this daughter of a murderer and worse, is firmly wrought in flesh and blood; we believe in her though she knows rather too much of Browning for a natural New Zealand product of such antecedents. Doody seems too boyish, or girlish rather, for such devotion as he shows—perhaps it's his name that's at fault; there is much in names, as Dickens and Balzac knew, spite of Juliet. The other admirably drawn character is Dick in his shuddering weakness and doglike docility.

As for Kin himself, he seems a bit too clever to be so foolish, and a bit too strong to be so weak, and a bit too clean to know so much about Zola and about life, to say nothing of the lightning speed with which he emerges from the sheep shed into the literary shop. There are but two solutions to the difficulty: either Haddington is really Mephistopheles, setting time and space at naught, or G. B. Lancaster is a woman, as we know.

Knowing this, however, we can but wonder at the virility of the style, the masculine vigor and go of it. Some one has compared it with Kipling's, and the comparison is not unapt. At the same time it is a style that is easily open to abuse, and it is stretched near the verge of absurdity in such incoherent ramblings as this:

> Comedy was a larrikin of Sydney's particular brand, and a girl in a draggle gown and love was with them. So much was patent and tediously common. Tragedy splashed into the shallows of brighter light. It was dual. A stolid face under a policeman's helmet, and a stolid but compelling hand on the larrikin's shoulder. The other Tragedy wore a white, wild face and a befeathered hat, and shrieked, selling the man to the Law with a shrill tongue.

Some one, having the cue, might make a shrewd guess at the meaning of this, but a novel should not be a chain of charades. G. B. Lancaster must prune her style of such excrescences, and then let Louis Becke look well to his laurels!

ALL SORTS OF ADVENTURE.

The Edge of Hazard. By George Horton. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 429 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

It would hardly be possible to crowd more adventures between two covers than Mr. Horton has put into "The Edge of Hazard." The American hero, bound for Siberia via Japan, is first arrested as a spy at Yokohama, and at last chased across the steppes by a pack of famished wolves. Nor is any rest vouchsafed him in between. When he is not in danger from Chinese pirates he is menaced by Russian nihilists. His exploit in ending the sufferings of the crucified Stenko is rather tall, and the incident of the explosive bomb is decidedly humorous. Excepting these episodes, of which the former is reminiscent of "Salammbo," there is little that is novel in the story. We have even met that howling and hungry pack of wolves before; the Korean boy Wang has many aliases; the attack of the Chinese brigands is as old as "Robinson Crusoe." But these well-worn motifs are well managed and finely welded. The moral of the tale seems to be that no American should go to Asia without much previous rifle and revolver practice, and it would be just as well to kiss a Japanese maid or two in passing through Nippon.

THE LONDON SMART SET.

The Idlers. By Morley Roberts. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 362 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Sometimes, as in "Rachel Marr," Mr. Roberts has sounded the deep note of genius. In "Lady Penelope" he was superficial and frivolous. Now he has endeavored to import the Rachel Marr manner into the Lady Penelope milieu. The London Literary World described it as a successful attempt "to do for the smart set of London what Mrs. Wharton has done in 'The House of Mirth' for the American social class of the same name." This sounds alluring, but the book proves disappointing. There are the familiar Pinero types, in the midst of them the beautiful animal Renee Buckingham. Jack Bexley's ambiguous career is sketched only superficially—how he goes to the devil and the devil sends him home to a humble sweetheart. Cissy is probably meant to be admired for her youth, innocence, good sense and forgiving spirit, but impresses one as insipid and foolish, rather than anything else. Yet Mr. Roberts' book might pass as powerful, if one could forget Thackeray.

A PAIR OF CLIMBERS.

The Lady and the Ladder. By Harrison Garfield Rhodes. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 231 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Stinging satire is concealed under the surface of this amusing tale. It tells of two American women's experience as social climbers among the dukes and lords of Europe. They have money, this gay widow and her step-daughter, but not quite enough between them to get the sort of duke or lord each prefers. How an American lover is then made to provide the missing millions, to be cast overboard after he has done so, furnishes the cynical climax to the farcical preliminaries. There are many amusing things in the book—the episode of the toothpicks is told with especial unction. The evolution of Mary Grainger's baptismal name—which was successively Mame, Mayme, Maimie, Maymie and Maeme—is another playful bit of pleasantry which shows the author's happy humorous faculty. But under the banter and smiles there is the bitterness of perception of the truth.

A FASCINATING ENGLISH GIRL.

Hazel of Heatherland. By Mabel Barnes-Grundy. New York: The Baker & Taylor Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 389 pages. Price, $1.50.

Hazel is a jolly girl and Heatherland a happy place. From the time when she goes eel-fishing with Sammy, through her whole life of Mondays, to the day when Mr. Inderwick asks a direct question and is told about his necktie and shoe laces, and on to the twentieth of June, the day before the wedding, Hazel is ever full of charm and gayety. In her romping and in her pensive mood, she is equally adorable. There is much subtle humor in the book, and an intimate personal note that brings the dainty heroine close to the reader's heart. Though the scene is laid in Old England, the story appeals to an American reader as much as if it were in the New England of Mary Wilkins or Sarah Orne Jewett.

A MISSIONARY FAIRY.

The Wonderful Wishes of Jacky and Jean. By Mary A. Dickerson. New York: A. Wessels Company. 146 pages. Price, $1.00.

A conversational sparrow is the hero of this juvenile. He grants to the little boy and girl a series of wishes because they liberate him from his cage. The wonderful things that happen as a result of these wishes ought to convert any naughty little skeptic who doesn't believe in fairies.

THE INFLUX OF ALIENS.

Immigration. By Prescott F. Hall. New York: Henry Holt & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 393 pages. Price, $1.50.

One of the burning questions of the present day is presented illuminatively in Mr. Hall's exhaustive and impartial study of immigration. He considers every phase of the complex problem—the evils of immigration as well as the ethical aspect of exclusion, presenting facts and statistics which every student of the subject will find of great value. He thinks we should "continue the benefits of that selection which took place in the early days of the nation, by sifting the immigration of today," but he has no patent sifter to offer. This is the distinguishing merit of the work—it is not a one-sided argument by a biased fanatic with a cure-all theory, but is thoroughly scientific and judicial.

A QUESTION UNANSWERED.

Will The Coming Man Marry? By Madison C. Peters. Philadelphia: The John C. Winston Company. 102 pages. Price, $1.00.

It is not professional regret for fees not forthcoming that leads the Rev. Mr. Peters to lament the decline of matrimony. There are 4,000,000 bachelors in the United States today, and Dr. Peters believes marriage is being discouraged by the increased cost of living. He proceeds to castigate the inordinate passion for dress, for luxury, for amusement, for indulgence of every sort. But this does not go to the root of the matter, Reverend Sir; you should point out how the cost of living may be diminished without subtracting from what makes life worth while! This is manifestly as hard as Quince the carpenter found it "to bring the moonlight into a chamber," and so Dr. Peters talks about the ideal wife, the ideal husband, birds on hats and the influence of mothers—all fruitful themes and ably handled, but not to the point he himself has raised. It is an economic question, not to be solved by sentimental rhetoric.

ARGUES AGAINST ROOSEVELT.

The Abolitionists. By John T. Hume. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 224 pages. Price, $1.25.

In his biography of Benton, one of the American Statesmen series, Theodore Roosevelt spoke of the Abolitionists in most uncomplimentary terms, saying that they hampered and opposed the men who were doing practical work for emancipation, and denying that the old Liberty party was the forerunner of the Republicans. Mr. Hume's book is a strong argument to vindicate the Anti-Slavery apostles from these "aspersions," and his argument has grown almost to the scope and dimensions of a history, while it has much of the vividness and intimate interest of personal reminiscence. It is a strongly written and earnest contribution to the literature of Abolitionism.

DELIGHTFUL LITTLE ONES.

Concerning Paul and Flammetta. By L. Allen Harker. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 321 pages. Price, $1.25.

Kate Douglas Wiggin writes an introduction to Mrs. Harker's new book, which is another "Romance of the Nursery." It was eminently fitting that she should do so, Paul and Flammetta seeming brother and sister to Rebecca and Polly Oliver; one might take them for some of Mrs. Wiggin's boys and girls, playing they are English. Every lover of "The Golden Age" or similar books will enjoy the doings and dreams of these dear little folks.

ON THE SEX PROBLEM.

What a Young Boy Ought to Know. By Sylvanus Stall, D.D. Philadelphia: Vir Publishing Co. 193 pages. Price, $1.00.

The American Boy and the Social Evil. By Robert N. Wilson, M. D. Philadelphia: The John C. Winston Company. 159 pages. Price, $1.00.

Both of these books discuss the delicate problem of sex in relation to adolescent boyhood, one from the standpoint of the moralist, the other from that of the medical man. Parents and educators will find many suggestions of inestimable value, while Dr. Willson's volume also will interest the student of sociology and ethics.

AN OLD HISTORICAL ROMANCE

Darnley. By G. P. R. James. New York: A. L. Burt Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 487 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.00.

This historical novel of the times of Henry VIII. is not quite as stilted as the same author's "Richelieu," still a tavern is called "the hospitable mansion of a beer-retailer." The portrait of Wolsey is drawn with much skill, and on the whole the story is full of movement and interest. Though written 75 years ago, it is very much like the historical novel of our day, only solider and better wrought.

THE SUCCESSOR OF HENTY.

Brown of Monkden. By Herbert Strang. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 368 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

A story of the Russo-Japanese war, in the manner of the immortal G. A. Henty. There are battle maps, a comic "Dutchman," some villainous Russians, and a censored account of a battle, also Cossacks and Chunchuses and all the other customary ingredients of similar books. It is, however, the best-written thing of its kind we have seen recently, and must be ranked very high among boys' books of adventure.

COMMON SENSE IN HYGIENE.

Nature and Health. By Edward Curtis, M. D. New York: Henry Holt & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 313 pages. Price, $1.25.

Dr. Curtis' book on the hygiene of the person and the home is thoroughly sane and sensible. There is no New Thought faddism about it—no starvation diet or deep breathing or buckets of water. Although Dr. Curtis declares war against corsets and high-heel shoes, stiff hats and suspenders, his book has none of the unscientific virulence of the reformer. It is a splendid work for every home, containing many health hints of inestimable value.

ROMANCE OF THE OIL REGIONS

Oil Wells in the Woods. By John Christopher O'Day. Depoalt, N. J.: The Cquaga Press. 359 pages, illustrated.

Mr. O'Day has written a story which interweaves many incidents from the history of the oil industry with a plot of human interest developed with considerable literary skill. The great flood and fire which swept Oil City in 1882 form the climax of the book and bring the villain to a fate as well merited as that of Arbaces the Egyptian in Bulwer's "Last Days of Pompeii."

IN DAYS BEFORE THE WAR.

The Kentuckian. By James Ball Naylor. Boston: C. M. Clark Publishing Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 335 pages, illustrated. Price, 1.50.

The days before the war, when abolition sentiment in Ohio was often fanned into flame by slave hunts, and many good men held stock in the underground railway, furnish the theme of Dr. Naylor's new novel. The former Kentuckian slave-owner, who comes north to teach school, here learns the iniquity of human slavery, and at last goes to fight and fall for the Union. Dr. Naylor has overcome much of the crudeness apparent in his early work, such as "Ralph Marlowe," and this story is vivid without being lurid. But the comedy is boresome. Having done so well with the horse Kaintuck, he might have done better to introduce a trick donkey than in giving us Bill and Tildy, with their labored jocularity.

NEW EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.

Among the new publications of the American Book Company is an edition of Schiller's "Wilhelm Tell" that deserves to be in every German class room. Rarely are so much scholarship and toil lavished upon a text book as in this volume of 352 pages. It is the work of Edwin C. Roedder of the University of Wisconsin, who also prepared the ideal school edition of Augier's "Gendre de M. Poirier" some years ago. Mr. Roedder has annotated the text fully and clearly, both from a grammatical and a historical standpoint; he has provided an admirable introduction, bibliography, maps and illustrations; and collated an appendix containing 16 poems on Tell by Keller, Dahn, Platen, Uhland and others. It is an ideal book for the class room, but will be found of value and interest by all students of Schiller's great drama.

Another German text book issued by the American Book Company contains Theodor Storm's "Im Sonnenschein, and Ein Gruenes Blatt," two short idyllic tales edited by G. L. Swiggett. The graphic style and interesting theme of these stories by the author of "Immensee" make them especially suitable for class reading.

Two new French texts also come from the same press. One is Labiche and Martin's comedy, "La Poudre aux Yeux," edited by Victor E. Francois. It is one of the sprightliest of plays by an author whom his great confrere, Augier, compared with Moliere. The other is Jules Verne's "Enfants du Capitaine Grant," abridged and edited by Edith Healy, a thrilling account of shipwreck and adventure, adapted to young readers.

A new "Composition and Rhetoric" by S. D. Brooks and Marietta Hubbard, seems to be both modern and practical. The pupil is led along by graded exercises, giving him the elements of description, narration, exposition, and argument, with special chapters on letter-writing and poetry. The one incongruity of the book is the choice of selections from writers like Booth Tarkington and Ella Wheeler Wilcox, alongside of Hawthorne and Milton.

"A Manual of American Literature," by James B. Smiley, aims to open the way to a more extended study of the masterpieces of American literature. The treatment is biographical rather than critical; although the greatest space has been devoted to the more celebrated writers, attention is also directed to authors not so popular, like Brockden Brown, N. P. Willis, Bayard Taylor, Sidney Lanier and many present-day writers.

"The Story of Russia," by R. Van Bergen, presents in a simple yet sufficient manner the history of this vast, semi-barbaric land. Commencing with the prehistoric Greek colonies established on the shores of the Black Sea, the narrative is carried down to the peace of Portsmouth. The book is well illustrated.

Several volumes of "supplementary reading" likewise bear the imprint of the American Book Company. "The Golden Fleece," more old Greek stories, by James Baldwin, tells the story of Jason and his adventures, a tale that for three thousand years has given pleasure to men and children of all lands. "Nine Choice Poems," by the same author, presents nine of the best known short poems of Longfellow, Lowell, Macaulay, Byron, Browning and Shelley, with explanatory and biographical notes.

DICKENS' LAST LETTER.

One of the latest letters written by Charles Dickens—it may be the very last penned by the great novelist—has just been discovered in a second-hand bookstall of London between the leaves of an old "History of England." How it came there no one knows, but of its genuineness there can be no doubt. It is addressed to John M. Makdeam, and has reference to a passage in "Edwin Drood." Its intrinsic interest, apart from the pathetic circumstances under which it was written, make it worth quoting in full:

> Gad's Hill Place,
> Wed., Eighth June, 1870.
>
> Dear Sir:—It would be quite inconceivable to me—but for your letter—that any reasonable reader could possibly attach a scriptural reference to a passage in a book of mine reproducing a much-abused social figure of speech impressed into all sorts of service on all sorts of inappropriate occasions without the faintest connection of it with its original source. I am truly shocked to find that any readers can make the mistake.
>
> I have always striven in my writings to express veneration of the life and lessons of our Savior, because I feel it, and because I rewrote that history for my children, every one of whom knew it from hearing it repeated to them long before they could read, and almost as soon as they could speak.
>
> But I have never made proclamation of this from the housetops. Faithfully yours, CHARLES DICKENS.
> John M. Makdeam, Esq.

As Dickens died on the day following the date which the letter bears, it is obvious that it could have been penned not many hours before the final summons reached him.

CHURCH CLUB CONFERENCE.

Pittsburgh Sends Six Delegates to National Gathering in Rochester, N. Y.

The fourteenth national conference of church clubs of the United States takes place at Rochester, N. Y., Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The Right Price For Coal

You pay only 10 to 20 per cent too much for coal except in strike times. And yet that extra 50 cents or $1 has added $400,000,000 to the value of the coal-carrying railroads in seven years—to say nothing of the millions it has put into the pockets of the few.

But when a strike comes! Oh, that's different! One hundred million dollars more for each strike—and the people pay it.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nervine and three boxes of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I kept right on till the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. SHERMAN, Belding, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

"THERE'S A REASON"

THE MARATHON MYSTERY

By BURTON E. STEVENSON,

Author of "The Holladay Case," "Cadets of Gascony," Etc.

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt & Co.

"Perfectly sure; there is little or no resemblance."

"You do not know the prisoner?"

"No, sir; I have never before seen him."

"He was talking with the janitor last night when you entered the Marathon."

"I had on a heavy veil at the time and could not see distinctly."

The answers came promptly, calmly. Goldberg hesitated and glanced at Simmonds' crestfallen face. Was he justified in pushing her further? He glanced at her again from under half-closed lashes, and her imperious beauty did its work.

"That is all," he said abruptly. "You may go, Miss Croydon."

Godfrey watched her as she lowered her veil, rose, stepped down, and took Drysdale's arm. She had carried it off well, exceedingly well. Her attitude had been so frank, so candid, so openly sincere that he himself was almost convinced by it. But for that instant's agitation when she first perceived the prisoner, he would have been quite convinced. She had told her story and answered Goldberg's questions with clear cheek and steady eye—with a directness which had plainly carried great weight with the jury. Wonderful was the adjective which Godfrey used in describing her to himself.

But what had that instant's agitation meant? Was Jimmy really guilty? Was she trying to shield him, out of gratitude, perhaps, for defending her? Had Jimmy risen to that height of chivalry? See with what a fascinating gaze he was watching her now!

She passed from sight, the door closed, and he leaned back in his chair to hear Jimmy tell a smooth story of his doings the night before. Magraw and half a dozen others confirmed the tale; it was a really good alibi, carefully arranged: there was nothing to disprove it, and at the end, the jury, without retiring, handed in the usual verdict of death at the hands of a person unknown.

When it was over, Simmonds crooked at Godfrey an inviting finger, and together they went down to the detective's office.

"Sit down," said Simmonds; "I want to talk to you. We're up against a tough proposition."

Godfrey sat down and looked at him.

"Yes, we are," he agreed.

"What do you think of it?"

"I'm more inclined to think Jimmy guilty than I was last night."

"You saw, then, that she was trying to protect him?" asked Simmonds eagerly.

"I saw there was some understanding between them. Don't let your theory of Jimmy's guilt carry you away. Besides, there's a good deal to say on the other side. There wasn't enough finish about it to look like Jimmy. He'd think a long time before he killed a man with a third person looking on."

"But if it was self-defence?"

Godfrey raised his eyebrows expressively.

"I think she was drawing the long bow myself," agreed Simmonds, quickly; "and there can be only one reason for it—she's trying to protect Jimmy, or whoever it was killed Thompson. It was Jimmy, I tell you—he was jealous of her—"

"Oh, nonsense!" interrupted Godfrey impatiently. "A love affair between those two! You've been reading French romances, Simmonds!"

"Maybe I have; but I've run across stranger things than that right here in New York. This is a bad snarl, any way you look at it. Here's a point, now—how could Thompson, who was dead drunk at 7 o'clock, be wide awake at 8? How could he have heard Miss Croydon's knock?"

"Maybe it wasn't Thompson who opened the door."

"But Miss Croydon entered without hesitation. The man who opened the door must 've been the one she expected to see. You'll remember, she asked for Thompson."

"Well, whoever it was," Godfrey pointed out, "it wasn't Jimmy. He couldn't have beaten the elevator upstairs."

"No," admitted Simmonds helplessly, "he couldn't. But let me point out one thing—whoever got into Thompson's rooms had his key. There was nobody there when Higgins put Thompson to bed; Higgins locked the door when he came out; Thompson's windows were all locked on the inside and the transom was bolted. Now if Jimmy didn't have the key, who did?"

"I don't know," said Godfrey. "But we'll never arrive anywhere if we keep tangling ourselves up this way. Who is Thompson? The first thing we've got to do is to establish his identity. Then, maybe, we can make a guess at the rest of the story."

"Of course; I saw that at once. But a queer thing is that we can't find out a thing about Thompson. Last night was the first time he'd ever been seen at Magraw's—nobody there 'd ever seen him before. He spent three or four dollars treating the crowd. Then he got noisy and Magraw was going to call the police, but Jimmy spoke up and said he'd look after him. His story was straight that far."

"Have you gone through Thompson's belongings?"

"Here they are," and Simmonds brought out a canvas bag and opened it. "Look at them."

Godfrey turned out the contents and examined them piece by piece. It was merely a lot of ordinary clothing, most of it much worse for wear and all of it strongly impregnated with the odor of tobacco.

"Anything in the pockets?" asked Godfrey.

"Not a thing except some loose smoking tobacco. There's one thing about the clothing, though—have you noticed? It's all summer clothing; see these linen trousers, now."

Godfrey nodded, with drawn brows.

"What's this?" he asked suddenly, holding up a swart object, shaped like a clam-shell and halving in the same way along the sharp edge."

"I don't know. A curio picked up at sea somewheres, perhaps. I have a theory that Thompson was a sailor."

"Why?"

"Well, the bag, in the first place—only a sailor would carry his clothes that way. Then, put your head down in it and, under the tobacco, you'll smell the salt."

Godfrey sniffed and nodded again. Then he got out his knife.

"Let's take a look at the inside of Mr. Thompson's curio," he said, and inserted the blade.

A twist and the sides unclosed. Simmonds sprang back with a sharp cry of surprise as he saw what lay within, and even Godfrey's heart gave a sudden leap.

For there, coiled thrice upon itself, lay a little viper, with venomous, triangular head.

Then, in an instant, Godfrey smiled.

"It's not alive," he said. "Don't you see, it's some marvelous kind of nut."

Simmonds approached cautiously and took another look.

"A nut?" he repeated. "A nut? Well, that beats me!"

And well it might, for in every detail the form was perfect. Godfrey looked at it musingly.

"This may give us a clew," he said. "I shouldn't imagine a nut like this grows in many parts of the world. Though, of course, a sailor might pick it up anywhere—from another sailor, in a slop-shop, even here in New York, perhaps."

He closed the shell together again and placed it in the bag, stuffing the rest of the clothing in after it.

"Thompson had no very exalted idea of cleanliness," he remarked. "His clothing needs a visit to the laundry. And this is all?"

"Yes—he'd rented his furniture from a store down the street. He had to pay his rent in advance because he had so little baggage. That receipt's the only thing that's got his name on it—oh, yes; there's a letter tattooed on his left arm, but it's not a T—it's a J."

"Which goes to show that his name wasn't Thompson. I think you're right, Simmonds, in putting him down as a sailor. I thought so last night—in fact, I've already got two men making a tour of the docks trying to find somebody who knew him."

"Have you?" said Simmonds, smiling. "That's like you. There's another curious thing, though, about the clothing he had on."

"What is that?"

"Some of it's marked with one initial, some with another. Not one piece is marked with his."

"That is queer," commented Godfrey; "but it isn't half so queer as another thing. Why should a sailor, a drunkard, without a decent suit of clothes, rent an apartment that costs him $40 a month, when he could get a room for a dollar a week down on the Bowery, his natural stamping ground?"

Simmonds nodded helplessly.

"That's so," he said.

"Unless," added Godfrey, "he thought he had to have some such place to work from. He could hardly have asked Miss Croydon to meet him in a Bowery lodging house."

"No," agreed Simmonds; "but he needn't have blown in $40, either. He could 'a' got a nice room 'most anywhere uptown for $5 a week—"

A tap at the door interrupted him.

"Come in," he called.

The door opened and the coroner's clerk entered.

"Mr. Goldberg sent the exhibits back to you," he said, holding out a parcel to Simmonds.

Simmonds opened it and took out a pocketbook, a pipe, a knife, and some silver money.

"All right," he said, and signed a receipt.

Godfrey waited until the door closed, then he rose and came over to Simmonds' side.

"There's something here that might help us," he said, picking up the pocketbook. "Those clippings—why, they're not here!"

Simmonds smiled drily.

"That's another thing I wanted to tell you. The clippings have been removed."

"Removed? By whom?"

"That's a question. They were removed some time between the moment we looked at them and the moment the coroner took charge."

Godfrey stared at him with startled eyes.

"You remember," Simmonds continued, "that after we looked at the pocketbook, I put it back in Thompson's pocket."

"Yes—I saw you do that."

"We then went into the bedroom, and had a look around, leaving the body alone—"

"With Miss Croydon," said Godfrey, completing the sentence.

"Precisely. Goldberg arrived a minute or two later. Then he and I searched the body again. When he opened the pocket-book there was nothing in it except the rent receipt."

Godfrey sat down again in his chair. The inference was obvious, irresistible. The clippings had been removed by Miss Croydon—they were the papers she had risked so much to get possession of. Simmonds and he had had the secret under their hands and had missed it! It was not a pleasant reflection.

His thoughts flew back to Miss Croydon, and he found himself again admiring her. To have taken the clippings demanded a degree of bravery, of self-control, amounting almost to callousness. It seemed incredible that she should have dared approach the body, open the coat—

COMMITTEE SELECTS GOSSER AND KLUMPP

Candidates for Registration Commissioners—Council Presidents Barred.

The special committee of the Republican city committee appointed Thursday night by City Chairman Leslie, met yesterday afternoon and selected George W. Gosser and Frank J. Klumpp for appointment as registration commissioners, as provided by act of the last legislature. Gosser is from the Sixteenth ward and Klumpp from the Twenty-eighth. Both were formerly city assessors.

Gosser and Klumpp's names will be recommended to the governor for appointment by the committee, which will go to Harrisburg for that purpose at an early date. The position of registration commissioner pays $2,000 a year. Four commissioners are to be appointed, not more than two from one political party. The Democratic candidates will probably be selected in a similar manner.

It was announced at the city committee meeting Thursday night that the two Republican presidents of the city councils would act with the committee in selecting the candidates, but when they appeared at the meeting yesterday they were told they could not participate and withdrew.

To Make Room for Democrats.

To make room for the Democrats who have ante-election pledges from Mayor Kirschler for city positions, a shakeup in the police and fire bureaus of Allegheny is likely to occur next week. Director Swan will also make room for a few of the Democrats on his payroll. The list of the favored ones, who are to get the places is being prepared by City Assessor Robert Beck.

Osborne Becomes Postoffice Inspector.

E. B. Osborne, who for the last seven years has been a pension examiner in Pittsburgh, left yesterday for Kansas City, Mo., where he will on May 1 assume the duties of postoffice inspector. He has been in the employ of the government for 21 years, and was formerly a postoffice inspector in Ohio. His successor as pension examiner here has not been named.

GUTHRIE GETS ANOTHER LETTER FROM CASSATT

Renews Request for Extension of Time for Removal of the Liberty Avenue Tracks.

Mayor Guthrie received another letter from President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday renewing the request for an extension of time for the removal of the tracks from Liberty avenue. The mayor declined to discuss the communication. There is yet no indication that the administration will withdraw its original notice to the company to remove the tracks before May 6.

A meeting of the Pennsylvania chief officials is expected to be held in Philadelphia today or Monday to determine what course will be pursued. Three courses are open, submission to the ultimatum of Mayor Guthrie, appeal to Pittsburgh councils for an extension of time, or petition to court to restrain the city from removing the tracks. It is stated the petition to court might be made through the medium of the Union Storage Company, which is trying to prevent the railroad company from taking up its tracks and cutting off switch connections with the storage company's plant at the Point. Another legal method suggested to stop the city is a bill in equity, alleging the removal of the tracks prior to the completion of the freight houses to be in restraint of trade and commerce.

WIRES TO BE REMOVED.

Western Union Notifies City It Is Prepared to Tear Down Fifth Avenue Line.

The city was formally notified yesterday by the Western Union Telegraph Company that the company would, without undue delay, be prepared to remove its line of poles and wires in Fifth avenue, between Tunnel street and Point Breeze, thence east in Penn avenue to the city line. A letter from Superintendent E. B. Saylor to Director Clark states that the necessary material will be ordered at once to provide, on other routes, wires to take the place of those now in Fifth avenue.

An ordinance was passed some years ago providing for the removal of all overhead wires in the principal streets from the downtown section to the East End and as wires of the private companies are taken down the city must also remove its police and fire alarm wires, which are stretched on private poles.

SAN FRANCISCO ECHO THAT IS DISAGREEABLE

Insurance Company Having No Risks There—Bothered by Incorrect Publication.

Insurance companies are under keen observation because of the San Francisco disaster. Three local companies are affected by the fire in the stricken city, but not one of the three was annoyed yesterday a bit more than was a well-known company which has no insurance risks in San Francisco and which has not lost a dollar through the disaster.

To realize the discomfort to which insurance companies may be put by incorrect publications that they have suffered losses by big fires, it is well to understand the custom of insurance agents. After such a fire occurs the big agents all over the country usually cease placing insurance with companies which stand to lose much money until they have learned that the companies are solvent and able to pay their losses. This timidity on the part of the agents may cost the insurance companies much money in the loss of fire insurance premiums.

The German Fire Insurance Company of Pittsburgh has not lost anything through the San Francisco disaster, not having a single risk there; in fact, the company ceased writing any Pacific coast business in 1895. One may imagine, therefore, the surprise of the officers of the company when as early as 8 o'clock yesterday morning telegrams began to come in from all over the country, from points north and south, east and west, asking if the company had lost anything by the San Francisco fire. Investigation was made and it was learned that a report had been published that the company had some risks in San Francisco. The telegrams kept coming in all day, and as fast as they came A. H. Eckert, the secretary, wired back an answer that the company had not "a single risk," and had not lost "one dollar" by the disaster.

Mr. Eckert and C. A. Gottsman, the superintendent of agencies, stayed at the office in Fourth avenue until late last night to be able to answer the queries promptly, and early yesterday they ordered 1,150 circulars printed containing the same information, emphatically expressed.

"It is a disagreeable happening," said Mr. Eckert. "Of course, if the company had any risks in San Francisco it would pay all recognized claims, but it has none, and, of course, we have taken prompt measures to let all insurance agencies in the country know that fact."

It never disappoints. Pilene positively cures Piles. All druggists sell it.

FAMILIES ARE SEPARATED.

Police Establish a Bureau to Bring Kindred Together—Mayor a Busy Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Thousands of members of families are separated and with no means of learning one another's whereabouts. The police today opened up a bureau of registration to bring relatives together.

It is impossible to secure a vehicle except at exorbitant prices. One merchant yesterday engaged a teamster and horses and wagon, agreeing to pay $50 an hour. Charges of $20 for carrying trunks a few blocks was common. The police and military seize teams wherever they require them, their wishes being enforced at revolver point if the owner proves indisposed to comply with the demands.

Mayor Schmitz looked weary today, but was energetically at work at his desk, though he had little or no sleep. A policeman reported that two grocery stores in the neighborhood were closed although the clerks were present. "Smash the stores open," ordered the mayor, "and guard them."

RELIEF IS ARRIVING.

Provisions and Clothing Being Rushed Into Stricken City—Exodus Shows No Diminution.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The following message reached the war department late this afternoon:

"The latest reliable information from San Francisco is that the residence district, from Post to Union streets, and from Octavia street to the ocean shore, is intact and it is believed will be saved. The exodus has swelled the population of Oakland to greater proportions than that of San Francisco. Relief trains are arriving and will greatly mitigate the sufferings of the people of both cities."

Astor Gives $100,000.

NEW YORK, April 20.—President Charles A. Peabody of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, has been directed by William Waldorf Astor to forward $100,000 to the mayor of San Francisco for the relief of the earthquake sufferers.

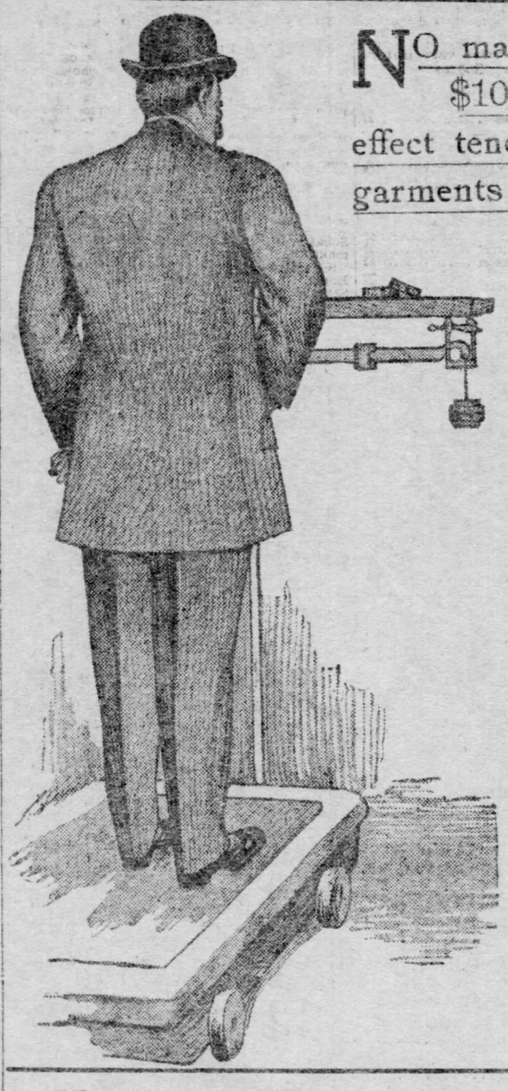
Swell Negligee Shirts—48c

A well-known shirt maker had too much cash tied up in shirts. Good for you he did—else we never would have gotten these 3,600 shirts to sell at 48c. They're made of fine quality woven or printed madras cloth in this season's choicest patterns and colors. Thoroughly well-made and perfect fitting. Pleated or plain front. Cuffs attached or detached. All sizes 14 to 18.

CLOTHES FOR EXTRA LARGE EXTRA SHORT EXTRA STOUT EXTRA SMALL EXTRA TALL EXTRA SLIM MEN HERE



NO man tips the scales at figures that feaze us. One great tailoring house that sells us more than $100,000 worth of goods every year makes a specialty of garments whose colors, cut and general effect tend to make a portly man look genteel and shapely. Still other clothing specialists send us garments that meet the particular needs of other men not of average build with equal success. Fully one-third of our immense clothing trade comes from men who a few years ago supposed that nothing made-up could fit them. And when such a man at length "discovers" Kaufmann's, he usually remarks: "What a lot of trouble and what a lot of dollars it would have saved me if I had known this all along."

From Fine to Superfine

The kind of clothes many a man wears a season or two and then gives away to some one else who wears them for Sunday best.

The Men's Suits and Overgarments we sell at $18 to $35 are the sort that the original purchasers seldom wear out—that never get to look shapeless or shabby. The woolens are imported fabrics whose colors are fixed and fadeless, with the fancy effects woven way through the cloths, and all the concealed features first quality and tailored to stay by experts.

Grays are the pronounced fad this year, so we show a delightful diversity of ash, oyster, silver, steel, Confederate, twilight and other shadings, in stripes, plaids and mixtures to please the tasteful fancy. Plenty of the popular blues and other dark colors, too, for the men of a conservative turn.

Unrivaled $10 and $15 Lines

The man who walks a mile to save a car fare will welcome the chance to save $2.50 to $5 on his Summer Suit at our store.

To fit out the man who works hardest for his money with the sort of a Summer Suit or Light Overcoat that makes one look stylish and prosperous—and do it for less than his weekly pay envelope contains—this was our purpose in arranging for our great $10 and $15 lines.

No better American woolens woven than the cloth in these clothes—no finer effects at any price than in the two colors that are contending for leadership this season—the blues and the grays. Plenty of blacks and dark mixtures, too. Hand-tailoring (not the flat-iron finish) gives them the shapes that will stand the storm-test.

GAMES TODAY.

Cincinnati at Exposition park, St. Louis at Chicago, Brooklyn at New York, Philadelphia at Boston.

The chances of the Pirates looked dubious when they began their half of the sixth inning at Exposition park yesterday. The Reds had just scored two runs, which, with a couple made in the fourth, gave them a total of four runs against one for the Pirates. Jack Harper was on the rubber for Cincinnati, and only one hit had been made off him. This was a three-bagger along the left field foul line, which drove Nealon over the plate. Lynch was the first man up in the sixth and was an easy out, from Corcoran to Carr. Two catchers, Carisch at third and Gibson at first, began to coach in the most approved fashion. They swung their arms and their voices to telling effect, much to the satisfaction of the spectators, who joined in a mighty chorus of stomps, yells and screams. The noise increased when Clymer, who led off instead of Clarke, got his base on balls. Ganley hit to left for a single and Clarke was given his base on balls, filling the corners. Maybe the crowd didn't yell when Wagner stepped up. He was given four ball calls and trotted to first, while Clymer trotted home. With the bases still full, Nealon hit a high one toward center field. Cy Seymour had made a phenomenal catch of an outbound smash by Wagner at an earlier stage and Nealon's seemed to be the same kind of a smash. Therefore, not a runner left his base until Seymour fell a foot short of getting under the ball, which dropped to the ground. Then there was a scramble all along the line. Carisch and Clarke crossed the plate, Wagner reached third and Nealon second. Had the runners started at the crack of the bat the bases would have been cleared, except Nealon at third base. Leach fired the ball into right field for a single, scoring Wagner and Nealon. Odwell let the ball fly as soon as he got hold of it. Tommy, under the impression that the home plate was the objective point, made a dash for second. But the ball went to Huggins and Tommy was run down between bases. Ritchey died at first and ended the inning.

Neither side scored after the sixth, not a Cincinnati man reaching first base. Overall succeeded Harper on the rubber and was steadier than he was on Wednesday. He gave no bases on balls, but the Pirates succeeded in getting to third base in the seventh and to record in the eighth.

Mike Lynch pitched for the first time this season and was caught by Heine Peitz, who also played his first championship game. They work excellently together. Errors figured in all the runs made by the Reds. In the fourth inning Seymour, the first man up, was given his base on balls, and he went to second on a sacrifice by Delehanty. Corcoran hit to Wagner, who fumbled the ball, Seymour reaching third. Odwell hit to center for a single, on which Seymour scored. Corcoran rushed from first, made a big circuit around second, bumped into Wagner and stopped in his mad flight. Corcoran is tricky if nothing else. He appealed to Umpire Klem, who allowed him to take third base. Clarke at once took exceptions, claiming that the Cincinnati captain had run out of line purposely to bump into Wagner and get the next base. But the decision stood. Schlei dropped the ball in front of the plate. Lynch made a bad fumble. Corcoran was safe across the plate and Schlei safe at first. A double play retired the side.

In the sixth inning, after two men were out, Odwell was given his base on balls and went to second on a passed ball. Schlei hit to Leach, who threw the ball low past Nealon. Odwell scored and Schlei reached second. Harper hit to center for a single, scoring Schlei. Harper was left on first, as Huggins went out on a grounder to Leach. Attendance, 2,315. Score:

PHENECIE WINS IN FOUR EASY ROUNDS

Bent Is Stopped in Johnstown to Save Franklin from Being Knocked Out.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., April 20.—(Special.)—At the end of the fourth round of the fight between Jock Phenecie of this city and Benny Franklin of Baltimore here tonight, Phenecie had Franklin so groggy that the bout was stopped. After the first round Phenecie gave Franklin fierce punishment and would probably have knocked him out inside the six rounds.

One of the best fights ever seen in Johnstown was between Patsy Branigan of Pittsburgh and Jack Forbes of Buffalo. Branigan had the best of the bout, although Forbes was in the fight from start to finish. Both lads were clever, but Branigan had the best punch and could stand the best punishment.

Another preliminary between Young Getz of this city and Harry Brannigan of Pittsburgh was stopped after the second round. Getz carried too much weight for Branigan.

PITTSBURGH LACROSSE TEAM TO BE IN FIELD AGAIN

The Pittsburgh lacrosse team held a meeting last evening. W. M. Thompson was chairman of the meeting. A report was heard from H. S. Simpson, manager of the team of last season, relative to prospects of playing games during this season at Exposition park. Arrangements will probably be closed soon. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: S. Y. Baldwin, president; M. M. Lesser, vice president; W. M. Thompson, manager and treasurer; Jack Dixon, secretary; G. H. Lamb, H. S. Simpson, A. P. Campbell, T. R. Melville, grounds committee. W. M. Thompson, A. D. Huff and Capt. Elect, team committee; W. Hill, James Mackay, playing committee.

The grounds committee will endeavor to secure grounds at either the Arsenal on Butler street, or ones at Point Breeze for practice purposes. The team will be even stronger than that of last season, and many games will be played. The club is at present corresponding with three of the eastern colleges, and one of these teams will be brought here during the latter part of May.

A special from New Haven, Conn., says: "George C. Collett today established a new record for New England in bowling, by making a perfect score of 300 in a bowling alley here. He was awarded a purse of $50. Collett was once an amateur bicycle champion." Elmer Vey, a member of the Cecelia team two years ago duplicated the above feat and in Chicago and some of the western cities it has become a common occurence; in fact in Chicago they have organized a bowling fraternity known as the 300 bowlers and there are possibly 15 or 20 who are eligible for the honor of making a perfect score.

Manager Metzger of the Federal alleys has called a meeting to take place on the Federal alleys tomorrow night at 8 o'clock for all bowlers who are desirous of entering a two-man-team league for the coming summer. The league should prove a grand success, as there will be liberal prizes donated in order to induce the best bowlers to enter.

W. H. Fitzharris of Tarentum was the first one to challenge the champion Unger team for a home-and-home series for the championship of the Pittsburgh Bowling association.

The Pittsburgh Lyceum team is willing to play the Crescent duckpin team on the Wylie Avenue alleys next Tuesday night and a return game a week later at East Liverpool. The members of the Lyceum duckpin team are M. Steinel, W. Steinel, McGrath, DeVore, Penn, Penten, McTigh and Boehler. Capt. Williams is requested to send names of his members eligible to play in this contest.

Ten of Them Find Themselves in Trouble With the Municipal Authorities.

Walter Murphy of 5917 Baum street is alleged to have been speeding an automobile in Collins avenue last night and to have knocked down Leonard Ward, aged 10, of 6404 Frankstown avenue. The boy was not badly hurt. A patrolman reported the accident to the East End police station, where it was said Murphy was the same man who had been arrested on Thursday night for fast driving. Inspector Bailey made informations against George Weise of 5521 Ellsworth avenue and John J. Wilbert of Sharpsburg for speeding automobiles.

Hoy of North Fairmont street was arrested on a similar charge, but explained that he had arranged to take out a license and was discharged. Frank McCann, chauffeur for A. R. Peacock, was charged with exceeding the speed limit. His explanation of hurrying to catch a train did not meet with the magistrate's approval and he paid $25. J. H. White was arrested for being without a license, and explained that satisfactorily, but had a revolver on his person and paid a fine for that. For running his machine without a light John Newell of South avenue, Wilkinsburg was arrested, but was discharged. Miss Frances Barnsdall of 1025 Negley avenue, daughter of T. N. Barnsdall, the oil operator, was arrested yesterday morning charged with running an automobile on which no number was displayed, but was discharged.

HALL NOT BIG ENOUGH.

Popular Concerts in East End Attract Audiences Too Large for Accommodations.

Over 800 people crowded to get into the East End Carnegie Music hall last night to hear the fourth of the series of free concerts given there under the auspices of the business and professional men of the East Liberty valley. Shortly after the doors of the auditorium were opened there was a rush that swept aside the policemen on duty and officials of the hall. Within a few minutes the large auditorium was congested, and several hundred people on the outside were clamoring for admission. Every seat and every inch of standing ground was taken up, and those on the outside were compelled to postpone their visit until next Friday night, when other arrangements will be made to take care of the crowd.

The program contained eight numbers, and concluded with the ballet from "Coppelia." At the next concert Luigi von Kunits and Severin O. Frank will be the soloists.

FRACTIOUS HORSE SENDS TWO MEN TO HOSPITAL

A fractious horse owned by Louis Schulenberg twice ran away yesterday, injuring two men so badly that it was necessary to remove them to the West Penn hospital. S. T. Williams of Neville and Henry streets was riding the animal along the Grant street boulevard when it became frightened at a passing automobile and threw him. His head struck the curb. The animal was later caught by Officer A. J. Schultz, who mounted him and started for the police station. He too was thrown off and sustained a fractured elbow. Another policeman captured the horse and led him to the station house.

LEADERS ASK DISMISSAL OF TWO BUREAU HEADS

Mayor Weaver Acknowledges a Crisis Has Been Reached in Trouble With Mack and Vare.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—City party leaders today called on Mayor Weaver and demanded the official heads of Director of Public Works Thomas L. Hicks and Assistant Director of Public Safety Thomas W. South. The demand was based on the charge that these two city officials are in sympathy and co-operating with the Mack-Vare contracting regime, which is attempting to dominate councils. The mayor reserved his decision in the matter.

He concurred in the view of his visitors that a crisis had been reached and that prompt action would be necessary to crush the scheme to build a new contractors' combine on the ashes of that dominated until November last by Durham and McNichol. He followed this up with an emphatic and positive declaration of war against the Mack machine.

"A crisis has been reached," declared the mayor, addressing the City party delegation, "and it is of the utmost necessity that we meet it promptly. As I said last night, the safety of the city depends on the City party. I thank you for your assurances of support. I assure you in return that I shall not be found wanting in any action that may be deemed necessary to protect the interests of the city."

TALKS ABOUT "SOCIALISM."

The Rev. Dr. Temple Delivers Interesting Lecture in Homewood U. P. Church.

The new auditorium of the Homewood United Presbyterian church was filled last night by the members of the congregation to hear the address of the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Temple of Washington and Jefferson college. The church is not completed and the meeting was held in the Sabbath school addition. Dr. Temple took as his subject "Socialism." He said in part:

The natura of Socialism does not imply the public ownership of all kinds of property, but only of that property which is used to enable the owner to secure an income without work. Christian Socialism stands by itself. Our improvements are not perfect in our cities and state governments. The ideal Christian, if a good man, should be pushed along and a helping hand given him, no matter what his walk in life. Christian Socialism is a type by itself. It does not mean a division of wealth or the distribution of property, but only the equality that should exist between Christian people. Socialism is progressing. As the world grows older it will see this subject in a brighter light.

Shortly after the meeting opened the following committee was appointed to organize a men's league in the church: Chairman, William Morrow; W. R. Houston, Charles A. Gunn, Thomas Simpson, Jr., W. J. Stup.

M. & M. MEMBERS BANQUET AND TALK

Rear Admiral Colby Mitchell Chester the Panama and Ohio Ship Canals.

TRIBUTES TO PAST OFFICERS

Quite removed from social conventionality, members of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association gathered at the Union club last night. In the genial hospitality dispensed, the friendly touch of fellowship was most compelling and every one was soon acquainted and neighborliness reigned.

The occasion was in the nature of a reception to the recently elected officers of the association, followed by a banquet. The guest of the evening was Rear Admiral Colby Mitchell Chester of the United States navy, whose theme was the Panama canal. At the banquet some 225 sat down. In keeping with the association as a business organization, the social meeting and banquet begun at 6 was over by 10 o'clock.

The delightful part of the program was the presentation of loving cups to Edward J. Lloyd, retiring president of the association, and to William T. Todd, its retiring treasurer. In a speechmaking way the presentation and acceptance of these cups furnished the best things of the evening. They were presented by D. L. Gillespie, who arose when Mr. Lloyd was asked to speak by the toastmaster, and in a gem of irony inveighed against personal testimonial and tribute after George W. Stewart had read laudatory resolutions on both Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Todd. The irony was so keen as almost to be convincing. When, however, there was borne into the banquet hall a huge covered tray, instinctively every one felt that something was about to happen. Mr. Gillespie then brought the trend of sentiment, by felicitous personal tributes to the retiring officers, to a very happy anti-climax and the presentation followed amid much enthusiasm and applause.

W. S. Brown acted as toastmaster, and in easy wit and humor excelled in this effort anything heard around here for some time. He began by saying that two speeches were written for him, one to be used if he stayed at home and the other if he went to the banquet. The one he held in his hand he was in doubt about, but took a chance at it being the right one. Quite in a business spirit the speechmaking began right after the second course had been served and every one was off for home before the evening program dragged into the realm of tiresomeness.

The speakers introduced were President Frederick R. Babcock, of the association; A. M. Jenkinson, its first vice president, and the Rev. Dr. S. B. McCormick, president of the Western University of Pennsylvania.

The speaker of the evening, Admiral Chester, spoke of the isthmian canal situation. He unreservedly committed himself to the Panama project, with a sea level canal, saying the increased cost over the lock system would be made up in the difference in the expense of maintenance. He had a good word to say for the Lake Erie and Ohio river canal and expressed the hope that some day he would see ships anchored in the Pittsburgh harbor which have traversed it.

President Babcock spoke of the co-operation in the relief work by the association, and that six members appointed by Mayor Guthrie on the committee came from the association. He said members who had not contributed and were desirous of doing so could make their contributions through officers of the association or direct to Treasurer John B. Jackson.

DR. BIGELOW TO SPEAK.

Noted Ohio Reform Leader Will Deliver Free Lecture on Social and Political Problems.

"The Difference Between Single Tax and Socialism" will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered by Dr. Herbert S. Bigelow, the noted leader of the reform movement in Ohio, in Call's auditorium, Sixth street and Penn avenue, tonight.

Dr. Bigelow, beside being at the head of reform in his state, is considered one of the best of orators, and he advances theories that are clear cut and direct in a forceful and impressive manner. He is concerned very little about the externals of either politics or religion, but gets to the truth within as he sees it. He is a hard worker in any cause he believes right, and his efforts along the line of reform in Ohio are believed to have been largely responsible for the downfall of "Boss" Cox.

Dr. Bigelow has an extensive knowledge of practical politics, and has made a long study of economic principles. He addressed the Pittsburgh board of trade on Thursday evening and was accorded an ovation by that body. The admission to tonight's lecture will be free. Following the lecture those present will be afforded an opportunity to ask questions about either theory, which Dr. Bigelow will endeavor to answer.

LIGHT MADE FROM WATER.

Fire Chiefs Witness Exhibition of New Lighting Device Manufactured for Fire Departments.

Fire Chiefs Humphreys of this city and Hunter of Allegheny last night witnessed a display of the water light torch, a new invention for the use of firemen. The exhibition was given in Cherry alley, near the Central station, by Carl Virgin, agent for the Marine Torch Company of Baltimore.

The torch is 300 candle power and cannot be extinguished by water or wind. Instead of oil, water is used as fuel. It is mixed with phosphate of calcium, making acetyline gas. The torch, it is said, cannot explode, is absolutely inextinguishable and lights up the side of a building as bright as day. Director Ridgway witnessed the display. The torch was recently adopted by the fire department of New York.

ONCE HAD HOME IN GOLDEN GATE

Former Curator of the Museum and Family Now Staying at Ross Grove, Near Aspinwall.

REMEMBER '98 EARTHQUAKE

While out in San Francisco many thousands of homeless people are living in tents in Golden Gate park Charles P. Wilcomb and his wife have a very vivid idea of what the pleasure resort in which they lived for 11 years must now look like. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcomb are here. They left San Francisco eight months ago.

Mr. Wilcomb was the curator of the famous museum in Golden Gate park. His residence was near the museum. He and his wife passed through the earthquake of 1898, and from the agony and apprehensions suffered by them in common with the rest of the population of San Francisco at that time, they have a poignant realization of the terror that has prevailed since Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcomb and their children are now living in the old Ross mansion, Ross Grove, above Aspinwall, the place bought and now being remodeled by Robert C. Hall, the broker. Mr. Hall bought Mr. Wilcomb's private collection of archeological and ethnological objects, and Mr. Wilcomb and his wife are now installing it in the house.

There are only three like collections which equal it in the United States, and they are at the Smithsonian institute, the National museum in New York and the Field museum in Chicago. Mr. Hall was traveling in San Francisco and saw the collection. It did not take him long to buy it. Belonging to it are specimens of Indian basketry 100 years old, beautiful specimens of pottery and many other valuable archeological objects.

Golden Gate park having been the home of the Wilcombs for 11 years, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcomb were much relieved to learn yesterday that the museum building had not been destroyed by the earthquake. The building is substantially built and contains 29 large halls. Mr. Wilcomb's collection, which he has been gathering for years, was also exhibited there.

Of course every large San Francisco building mentioned in the news dispatches the last three days is familiar to the Wilcombs. Their home was about a mile from the Cliff house, the famous show place of San Francisco. Golden Gate park lying between the Cliff house and the city, four miles from the Ferry house.

"I can imagine the terror which seized the people of San Francisco when the earthquake came," said Mrs. Wilcomb yesterday, "for we were in the earthquake of 1898. The shock came at 11:30 p. m., when we were in bed. None of us expected to see daylight and gave ourselves up for lost, and yet the effects of the shock were moderate compared with the result of the recent earthquake. But we soon forgot about it, and shortly afterward everything went on as if San Francisco was not in the earthquake region and there was no danger of the terrible calamity which has just happened."

LA FOLLETTE CONTINUES HIS SPEECH ON RATES

Senator from Wisconsin Is Not Through With His Attack on the Elkins Act.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Mr. La Follette today continued but did not conclude his speech in the senate on the question of railroad rate legislation. He discussed especially the subjects of the regulation of railroads in foreign countries and their overcapitalization in the United States, contending in the first instance that the senate had been misinformed and in the second rates should be fixed on the basis of earning capacity on actual valuation.

The appropriation for the San Francisco sufferers was made available for the purchase of medical supplies and the first step toward replacing the public buildings in that city was taken by the adoption of a resolution asking the secretary of the treasury to prepare an estimate of the cost of new structures.

A bill authorizing a public building at San Juan, P. R., at a cost of $300,000, was passed. The railroad rate bill was then laid before the senate and Mr. La Follette resumed his speech on that measure. He attacked the Elkins law as incapable of affording relief from the abuses complained of and asserted the records show that "the railroad officials, with rare exceptions, are criminal under the statutes." He declared rebates had increased under the operations of the Elkins act. At 4:35 p. m. Mr. La Follette discontinued his remarks until next Monday.

Senator Dick of Ohio presented a memorial from the Ohio legislature asking the senate for an investigation of the charges against Maj. Estes G. Rathbone, late director of posts at Cuba.

Wedding Announcements.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wanner announce the wedding of their daughter, Edna Caroline, to August J. Schran, to take place Tuesday evening, May 8, at their home in Freeport street, Aspinwall. Miss Wanner is a Blairsville seminary girl.

Negro Janitor Makes Demands.

George B. Crampton, negro janitor of Allegheny city hall, insists that he be called "superintendent," and not "janitor;" that he be given an assistant, also of African descent, and that the white charwomen be ousted and negro women appointed in their places. Mayor Kirschner and Director Swan both said yesterday that his demands would not be recognized.

In Honor of Dead Instructor.

A memorial service will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Sharpsburg and Etna Y. M. C. A. for W. Ellis Crane, the physical director who was drowned in the Allegheny river a week ago, and whose body has not been recovered. The services will be conducted by the Rev. F. E. Huff. The gymnasium and bowling alleys have been closed since Mr. Crane's death.

Will Affect Price of Wine.

Among the many other things affected by the San Francisco earthquake will be the wine business, one of the chief industries of the state. Already orders have been sent out by the wine dealers in the state telling their agents to accept no large orders. The Consolidated California Vineyard Company was the most seriously affected by the earthquake.

STATE ARRESTS MANY MINERS

Warrants Are Served on 20 Who Are Charged With Participating in Riot at Windber.

BAIL BONDS FIXED AT $1,000

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., April 20.—The wholesale arrest of men alleged to have participated in the riot at Windber Monday evening was begun today, although every day has witnessed the taking into custody of one or two of them, among the number Frank Francis, the alleged leader of the whole affair. Francis is in jail at Somerset.

Constable J. E. McMullen has most of the warrants, the names of the defendants having been procured from various sources. Tonight over 20 prisoners had been taken, most of them on Graham avenue, the main street of the town, as they loafed about. Mr. McMullen usually acted alone, although, of course, an abundance of deputy sheriffs and the state constabulary were near by. No resistance was encountered.

As fast as they were arrested they were taken to 'Squire M. E. Sells' office. Just in front of the door were a number of deputies and guards under the personal direction of Sheriff William C. Begley, and at the curb were four members of Troop A, Pennsylvania state constabulary, mounted and ready for immediate action.

It was deemed inadvisable to attempt to give the men a hearing in the present unsettled state of affairs, and commitments directing that the sheriff keep the prisoners safely until such time as a hearing in peace and quiet would be possible, were made out for the men after it had become evident that they would be unable to secure bail in the required sum of $1,000.

The defendants and their sympathizers insisted that this amount was excessive, and District Attorney Meyers of Somerset, was appealed to by telephone. He insisted that bond in the sum of the even thousand be given. The prisoners were subsequently removed to the lockup, pending their removal to the county jail. There was no demonstration on the part of the union miners.

Among the men arrested are President Charles Shank and P. J. Nunen, until lately secretary of the newly-formed miners' union. Nunen says he resigned as secretary of the union some time ago. He came originally from Clearfield, but has been about Windber off and on since 1900.

TAPPING ON A WINDOW PUTS THIEVES TO FLIGHT

Woman Discovers Four Men Preparing to Rob Safe in Postoffice—She Sounds General Alarm.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BELLEFONTAINE, O., April 20.—A woman rapping on a window pane put four robbers to flight at DeGraff this morning just as they were about to crack the safe of the postoffice, which contained a large amount of money and stamps. Miss Elizabeth Reexer, who lives near the postoffice, was aroused shortly after midnight by the sound of breaking glass. Going to a window she saw an armed man standing near the door of the postoffice.

She knocked on the window and the stranger fired two shots, neither of which struck the woman. Miss Reexer then saw three other men rush from the postoffice and all drove out of town behind a horse which had been stolen from Mayor James Hone. After Miss Reexer had caused the burglars to flee she called up the telephone central and the operator there alarmed the citizens, who turned out with rifles and revolvers ready for a battle.

The robbers, however, had too much of a start, and the abandoned horse was recovered later on the road to Lima. An investigation showed that the postoffice safe had been soaped ready to be blown open. Before being detected by Miss Reexer the robbers had dynamited the safe at the office of John Startzman, but got nothing of value.

Lowery Uses Knife on Lodger.

William Deil was cut in half a dozen places about the arms and chest last night by James Lowery, at the latter's home, 4015 Liberty avenue. Deil is a roomer there, and about 9:30 last evening, when Lowery walked into the house, he says he found him drinking beer with Mrs. Lowery. In a quarrel which followed, Lowery drew a knife and stabbed Deil six times, one of the wounds being under the arm and thought to be very serious. The police sent Deil to St. Francis' hospital.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Their party will also include Mr. and Mrs. William Speer Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. William Larimer Jones and Jerome Hill. The play will be followed by supper at the Union cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Burke, who are stopping at the Hotel Schenley, will remain in the city until Monday.

Fennwood Club Opens New Quarters.

The Fennwood club of Wilkinsburg, formally opened its new club house in Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, last evening, about 550 members and guests attending the house-warming. The affair took the form of a reception, which was followed by dancing. The receiving committee consisted of Rowland R. Balph, president; Dr. Alexander, vice-president; John W. MacGregor, secretary; James A. Wilson, chairman of the house committee, and Samuel H. McKee, chairman of the building committee. The committee which arranged for the opening reception consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John W. MacGregor, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Rowland A. Balph. The aids who assisted them were selected from the younger members of the club and were Messrs. Charles W. Walmer, Robert S. Faris, James L. Weim, Robert C. Ferguson, James E. Hindman, Robert Scott, John M. Ralston, Wilmer B. Laufman, Jr., Lutellus W. Smith, D. Gregg McKee, Daniel H. Core, J. Frank Miller, Theodore C. Gerwig, George R. McNary, Edwin B. Wilson, George F. Alderdice, J. Edward Walmer, John Gates, Jr., Howard K. Jones, Dr. Earl P. Gray and Dr. Paul Eaton.

The Fennwood club was organized in November, 1904. The new clubhouse was begun on September 5, 1905. The building is 56 feet wide and about 118 feet long, with the front portion three stories in height and the assembly hall one story high. The building cost approximately $27,000 which with the ground makes a total investment approaching $40,000. In designing the exterior of the club house the architecture of the Georgian period was selected as being the best suited, giving at once an air of dignity, with a certain domestic or home-like feeling, which such a club seemed to require. In the interior, the Georgian scheme has been departed from somewhat in order to obtain a freer more flexible treatment. The entrance is directly into the main hall—a broad open space with wide doors on the one hand, opening into the conversation room and, on the other, into the cafe. The hall leads to the assembly hall in the rear and is finished in brown oak, the walls in red and gilt, with red hangings at the doors and windows. The library, the game room, the billiard room and the ladies' parlor are on the second floor. In the basement are four bowling alleys, a shuffle board and two pool tables. At the side of the basements are toilet rooms, shower baths, lockers and a room that will later be fitted up as a gymnasium. The kitchen, in the rear of the basement, communicates with a serving room on the first floor by stairs and a dumb waiter.

The Fennwood club is a prosperous organization and its membership limit is 200. Its officers are R. A. Balph, president; Dr. A. S. Hunter, vice-president; John W. MacGregor, secretary; Edward N. Doty, treasurer, and James A. Wilson, S. H. McKee and H. G. Morgan, house committee.

The Spring Gown.

The showings for Easter are now in evidence and for the woman who has delayed a selection until the latest importations have been viewed there is the comfortable reflection that the bizarre effects so often to the fore in the earlier season now appear in their true light, and it requires but a modicum of sartorial wisdom to arrive at a happy selection.

A biscuit broadcloth bolero suit especially designed for Easter wear on dressy occasions has a circular Princess skirt, with panels front and back formed of stitched folds of the cloth. These folds again appear at the bottom of the skirt. The jacket, a plaited borero, has the fold applied in heavy design which comes to the front and is passed through large silk rings. The vest and collar are of pale blue velvet edged with a handsome Persian braid. Around the edge of the jacket is a plaited frill of Val. The sleeves are the new bell elbow variety finished with a full ruffle of lace.

A French model shows the new combination style so much in vogue with the Parisian. The skirt is circular made of blue and cream suiting in a large broken bar effect. The coat is pale blue broadcloth, a fitted Eaton with the Tuxedo lapels and full dress vest. The vest in this instance was of white cloth and detachable. The Tuxedo lapels and collar are of black satin. The sleeves are elbow length, finished with a cuff of satin and full ruffles of Val lace.

A fetching suit of black and white plaid Panama with an all over hairline plaid of navy blue, has a full circular skirt trimmed with many bias bands, each one piped with black. The short bolero jacket has these piped bands crossed in the back and brought to the front. The broad revers are faced with black satin and show an elaborate braiding in black and white. The sleeves are of the French model trimmed with bias bands. The girdle is the new stitched sort with buckles at the side. There is a smart white pique vest to wear with this suit.

Shoes and Hosiery for the Spring.

Tan shoes are to the fore again and very prominently. Not the harsh yellow shades seen some years ago but a rich mellow brown. They come in Russian calf and seal leather, welt and thin soles, Oxfords and pumps.

Cloth of gold and silver slippers are popular for evening wear. So also are pink shades in satins and leather, as well as blues.

Easter hosiery cannot be described collectively. There are so many beautiful shades and designs that they require individual description.

Following the lead in shoes, brown will be a strong color in hosiery. Brown stockings are here in all the shades, flimy silk and the gauziest of lisle, plain dropstitch and lace effects.

Gray being so much in vogue, gray stockings will reflect this popularity. They are shown in oyster gray, the various rose grays, blue gray and on down to the deeper tints of gun metal.

Queens Who Overtop Their Lords.

Some enterprising chronicler has been taking notes on the respective heights of the kings and queens of Christendom and furnishes the following data:

King Edward is quite six inches shorter than Queen Alexandra.

The czar is overtopped a full head by the czarina.

Kaiser Wilhelm is above medium height, but the German empress is very tall and that, they say, is the reason that the proud Hohenzollern will never be photographed beside his wife, unless she sits while he stands.

The king of Italy, short and squat, hardly reaches to the shoulder of the tall, athletic Queen Helena.

The king of Portugal, though he would make up amply in girth, falls of the height of his queen.

The prince of Wales is some four inches shorter than the princess.

The young king of Spain is topped by some inches by the English Princess Ena, and the homely but good queen of Denmark literally towers above her lord.

A Dainty Dessert.

A good dessert, wholesome and economical as well, is stuffed figs. Purchase the bag figs, unpressed. Wash thoroughly, steam 10 or 15 minutes, and when cool enough to handle cut open each fig, press a hollow with a teaspoon and fill with some delicate jam—apricot or peach is a good selection, or fill with jam to which you have added some finely chopped nut kernels. Press the figs together again and serve with whipped cream. It makes a rich dessert and is easily prepared.

An Economy.

If you want your silk petticoat to serve double its usual period of usefulness, line it as far down as the bottom ruffles with nun's veiling or some similar fabric. This will not increase the weight noticeably nor mar the fit at the body, but it will keep the skirt in shape and prevent the splitting at the seams so common with the skirt of taffeta.

Renewing Cane in Chairs.

A cane chair seat that has sagged may be tightened up by washing in very hot soapsuds and then placing in the open air to dry.

Antidotes for Poison.

For laudanum, morphine and opium—First give a strong emetic of mustard and water, then very strong coffee and acid drinks. Dash cold water on the head and keep in constant motion.

Arsenic—Give as quickly as possible an emetic of mustard and salt, a tablespoonful of each to a cup of warm water. Follow with sweet oil, warmed butter or milk. The white of an egg in a half-cup of milk may also be used, or milk and lime water. Get a physician as soon as possible.

Ammonia—Give lemon juice or vinegar.

For acids—Give magnesia, soda or soap dissolved in water every two minutes, then use a stomach pump or an emetic.

Belladonna—Give an emetic of mustard and salt with water and a drink of vinegar and water or lemonade—two or three glassfuls will not be too much.

White lead or sugar of lead—First an emetic, then castor oil, epsom salts or any other good cathartic.

Signals for Bridal Couples.

BRIDE TO GROOM.

One short jerk of coat—Stop looking at that girl!

One long jerk of coat—Oh, see the pretty hats.

One long hug—You look perfectly lovely today.

One long hand-squeeze—Honey, what makes you look so cross?

One short hand-squeeze—Someone's coming.

GROOM TO BRIDE.

One short jerk of sleeve—Stop looking at that man!

One long jerk of sleeve—Come on. You don't want to see the hats.

One long hug—You look perfectly lovely today.

One long hand-squeeze—Honey, you ain't mad, are you?

One short hand-squeeze—Don't be a goose!

Three sharp taps on wrist—Take care, woman, take care! I will be master in my own house!

A Home Remedy.

For burns apply equal parts of linseed oil and lime water, mixed until it looks creamy.

A bottle of this mixture should always be kept on hand. Its prompt application in case of accident will prevent much suffering.

Songs and Stories of Old South.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the benefit entertainment to be given next Tuesday for the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children. Mrs. Martha S. Gielow will appear in a program of "Songs and Stories of the Old South." The entertainment will be given both afternoon and evening in Miss Stewart's school, Fifth avenue, between Neville and Clyde streets, the afternoon program commencing at 2:30 o'clock and the evening at 8:30. In her songs and stories Mrs. Gielow gives a picture of the old plantation days. Some of her stories are original, and she has made a specialty of plantation folklore in her effort to preserve the traditions and superstitions of the old colored mammy of the days before the war. The committee from the board of managers of the hospital in charge of the entertainment is composed of Miss Mary Speer, chairman; Mrs. Benjamin Page, Mrs. Frank N. Schwartz, Mrs. George S. Ebberts, Mrs. Francis J. LeMoyne, Miss Gertrude Childs, Miss Jeannette Hawkins and Miss Narcisse Kennedy. The officers of the board include the president, Mrs. George W. Guthrie; treasurer, Mrs. David Kirk; secretary, Miss Bessie D. Johnson.

Elects Nominating Committee.

The Woman's Southern society elected a nominating committee yesterday afternoon. It is composed of Miss Henrietta Costin, chairman; Mrs. Edward Day, Mrs. Charles Hill, Mrs. J. M. Hall and Miss Williamson. The program presented yesterday afternoon was short, consisting of but one paper, given by Mrs. J. M. Hall, who described Jamestown as it is. Mrs. Hall's home in the south was in Norfolk, Va., and she has been acquainted with Jamestown since a child, so that her description of the remains of this first settlement in America was of particular interest. Miss Williamson gave several recitations.

Benefit for Woman's Alliance.

A recital will be given next Thursday evening in the First Unitarian church for the benefit o fthe Woman's Alliance of that society. Luigi von Kunits and Severin O. Frank have arranged a very interesting program. Tickets may be secured from any member of the committee—Mrs. David B. Mitchell, Mrs. Wesley Gould Carr, Mrs. Harry Clyde Beggs, Miss A. C. Damon, Miss Farley, Mrs. A. M. Holmes, Mrs. C. F. Howard, Miss Irene Follett and Mrs. Oscar A. Rogers, or at Kleber's or Henrici's book store.

Postpones Open Meeting.

The Epoch club has met with some difficulty in securing a lecturer for the open meeting which was to have been held yesterday in the home of the president, Mrs. Frank H. Taylor. The meeting will be announced for a later date, as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Public Baths Meeting Today.

A meeting of the public baths committee and Soho bath managers will be held this afternoon in the Civic club rooms in the Apollo building, Fourth avenue.

THE HEALTH FAD

If it is true that every active and enlightened person must have some fad which she pursues with fanatical zeal and infinitesimal result, there could possibly be no better one to adopt than the health fad. There is such a thing, however, as riding even a good hobby too hard. The doctors assure us that continuous thought and anxiety for one's health is liable to produce an opposite from the desired effect. Some have even gone so far as to say that fret and worry will undermine the constitution about as soon as strong drink.

What is the use of always asking yourself how you are? The majority of us know too well how we are, think far too much about the whole matter and waste energy most pitifully over it. The woman who devotes the larger part of her life and the chief activity of her brain to merely keeping well is doing a foolish thing. The pursuit of health is innocent enough and laudable in moderation, but making health the sole object of existence instead of treating it as a pleasant condition, is to become in most cases a tiresome person.

The pursuit of health like the morphia habit or golf grows upon you. It really may become a vice since the entire brain conscious and subconscious is possessed by it to the exclusion of ideas of duty to home and humanity. It is not liable to do the woman herself much good and it is sure to do the tempers of her friends much harm.

To devote one's whole energies to just keeping well is in itself proof positive that one is radically unhealthy. Health is pre-eminently an unconsciousness of one's state of health. If you are ill you know it, but to be so well that you do not know how you are and do not care, is to be very well indeed.

Granted however, that one is not very well, that does not particularly matter. If you go along as if you did not notice it, the state often disappears of itself. It is an advantage, of course, not to be extremely ill. It is a greater advantage to be always well enough to do one's work. Anything beyond this, though it can possibly be acquired by exercise, fresh air and diet, should be regarded as one does a Greek nose or violet eyes—a gift from the gods, pure and simple. Fine and dandy if you have it, but not to be worried over if it is not your natural possession.

The health fad unfortunately is widespread. Wherever you look you are reminded of the absurd prominence of the pursuit of health. If you go by train and look out the windows, instead of browsing kine and arboreal shades, your eyes rest upon miles and miles of billboard extolling the merits of this or that tonic. If in despair you read the paper, your eyes are immediately confronted by the same class of advertised ware. The flesh is weak. You read and soon find yourself conscious of an astonishing number of these very symptoms that lead to decay and death. The effect is hypnotic. You owe it to your family to do something at once. And you do. You get a bottle of the concoction and take it religiously. At the end of a month if you are in the habit of being honest with yourself, you laugh at your folly and vow never to get another.

Conditions of life are vastly more sanitary now than a hundred years ago, yet so far as we can learn people did then through all their three-score-years-and-ten what would bring the health faddist of today to an early grave.

That everyone has a right to undermine his constitution in what manner he prefers is indisputable. It is high time, however, that someone should protest, with a loud voice against the universal bothering of others with unending recitals of how it is done. In the first place it is wearing. Then, too, your hearer may be of that sweet reasonableness that permits of her being buncoed into a similar course. Legally I believe there is no penalty for the offense. Ethically it is bad as poisoning your well or darkening your daylight. If you are told over and over again that beefsteak is bad for you you come to regard beefsteak with an eye of suspicion that eventually deepens to abhorrence. Result, a damage to your constitution deprived of what formerly aided and supported it in trying conditions.

The barriers of polite society should really be up against the health faddist. In the good old days your internal organism was a subject as much tabooed in polite society as your neighbor's eccentricities of church or political affiliation. Why should we allow the conversational liberty of the present day to degenerate into license? Everyone should be protected in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but in the name of mercy, good sister, allow me to worry through life with such shreds of unconscious good health as heaven hath seen fit to endow me.

To Make Mayonnaise.

In an earthen bowl place the yolk of one egg, a pinch of salt, a dash of red pepper and a half teaspoonful of dry mustard. Place the bowl on ice or in ice water. Pour one cupful of olive oil into a small pitcher from which it will drop easily. When the egg and seasonings are well mixed begin to add the oil, using a silver spoon and rubbing rather than stirring. Add the oil until a clear spot is formed on the egg, then mix until smooth. Only a small quantity can be added at a time, but the quantity may be increased gradually. The clear spot upon the egg is an infallible test of the correct quantity of oil. If too much oil is added the dressing will curdle. A few drops of lemon juice and long beating should remedy this. If this fails set the bowl directly in the ice chest for a half hour. If it is still curdled, begin again with another egg yolk and add the curdled mayonnaise by degrees to the new dressing. When the mayonnaise is so thick that it is difficult to stir, add the juice of half a lemon or more as desired. If still too thick, add a little cream at serving time, but a stiff yellow, creamy-yellow, mayonnaise, is a culinary triumph.

A Good Whitewash.

Boil one pound of rice in five gallons of water until soft and broken. Strain and rub the rice through a colander back into the water. While it is still boiling hot, stir in one peck of best lime with a pound of salt. Boil up once and apply hot. This makes a glossy and durable covering for wood and walls.

If you wish whitewash for rough work such as cellar walls, add the lime to boiling water. When the effervescence has quieted some, add the salt and some laundry bluing previously dissolved in warm water. For a whitewash that will not rub off, dissolve glue in hot water and add in the proportion of a pint to four gallons of whitewash, or dissolve an ounce of gum arabic in a pint of boiling water and add in the same proportion.

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.

Ladies' Work Apron and Garden Hat.

With the coming of spring the woman who loves flowers will find much to do about her garden, and as such work is disastrous to the dainty pretty gown, one will see at a glance, the usefulness of an apron of this kind. It protects the entire dress and is very simple to make. A full gathered skirt, joined to a narrow yoke with straps over the shoulders; cross-barred muslin, duck, gingham, are all used for the purpose, but for a practical work apron nothing is better than Holland linen. The hat is a picturesque little model made to protect the eyes from the glare of the sun. It can be easily laundered as the crown buttons on to the brim. Made of white pique, or pink or blue lawn, it will be found a very pretty addition to the summer wardrobe. The medium size requires 4½ yards of 36-inch material for the apron and 1½ yards for the hat.

Ladies' work apron No. 5083: Sizes for small, medium and large.

Ladies' garden hat No. 5083: One size.

The above illustration calls for two separate patterns. The price is 10 cents for the work apron and 10 cents for the garden hat.

PRETTY SAN JOSE LYING IN WRECK

Imposing Business Blocks Fall Prey to Earthquake and Flames.

DEATH LIST STILL UNKNOWN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—"San Jose, which was the prettiest city in California," said William White, sheriff of Los Angeles county, when he arrived from San Jose today, "is the worst looking wreck I ever saw. The residence quarters were not harmed much.

"When I left San Jose yesterday forenoon 19 dead bodies had been recovered, and there was a possibility that others would be found. At Agnews insane asylum, near San Jose, I helped to carry out 60 corpses. It was believed that 100 bodies were still in the asylum ruins.

"The shock came to San Jose at 5:12:45 o'clock Wednesday morning, according to the clock in the St. James hotel, which was stopped by the shock. I occupied apartments on the fourth floor of the St. James hotel. The shock knocked the plastering off in great chunks. The chimney knocked a great hole in the roof. I hurried to the street. It was full of people, dressed and undressed, who were running about distractedly. The annex of the Vendome hotel, a three-story frame structure, fell, and some of the guests had to be dug out of the ruins, including Deputy Sheriff O'Toole of Gilroy.

"There was not a brick or stone building of two stories or over in San Jose that was not leveled to the ground or so severely damaged that it will have to be torn down. Some fires started after the quake, but the fire department soon had them under control.

"San Jose is under martial law and the city is thoroughly patrolled by the militia. Those who died were all residents of San Jose. After getting away from San Jose I saw evidences of the earthquake at Niles, and even as far as Livermore, in the shape of fallen chimneys and broken glass."

Several other men who passed through the earthquake at San Jose reported home today. All of them had thrilling escapes. State Senator Cornelius Pendleton said:

"After the earthquake I rode over San Jose in an automobile and saw at least 20 dead. Nearly every brick and stone structure in San Jose was demolished or damaged. I was at the Vendome hotel. The shock of the earthquake was so severe that the floors and walls of the hotel collapsed. We had a room on the side of the hotel near a large tree. The side wall of my room fell against this tree, which also sustained that position of the roof, preventing it from falling on us.

"My room was on the second floor, but when I got up I was in the basement. I crawled over the debris and escaped through a third-story window that was on a level with the ground. I saw one dead woman in the hotel ruins. Among the large buildings that were demolished were the hall of justice, the First Presbyterian church, the Catholic cathedral, the Hale block, the Vendome hotel and several other large buildings."

EARTHQUAKE SUPPLIES HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY

Two Express Trains for San Francisco Pass Through Pittsburgh—Provision Train Due Here Today.

Supplies for San Francisco now have the right of way on the railroads passing through Pittsburgh. Two supply trains passed through on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday from Washington, both running as sections of passenger trains.

The first train went by Laughlin Junction at 1:30 p. m. yesterday loaded with tents supplied by the war department. The train consisted of the locomotive and 14 express cars. It was a heavy load, but the big locomotive drawing it made passenger train time to Pittsburgh and beyond, and it is expected that when it reaches San Francisco it will have cut 12 hours off the regular running time. On the way from Washington it left Cumberland at 9 a. m. and arrived at Connellsville at 11:55, traveling as a section of train No. 3.

Later in the day another train loaded with army blankets passed through Laughlin Junction, having made good time. Some time today a train of 20 cars, loaded with provisions from Philadelphia, will pass through. This train cannot, of course, make the time of yesterday's trains.

So far all the supplies that went through on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are from the government; even the provisions from Philadelphia are supplied by the war department.

CANNOT FIND PEOPLE.

Hence the Delivery of Telegraph Messages in San Francisco Is Next to Impossible.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The delivery of telegraphic messages from outside points to people in San Francisco is an impossibility. The messenger service of both the big telegraph companies no longer exists. Even had the companies an army of messengers they would be of little value for the reason that the people are scattered far and wide, and that a journey from the ferry building to the western addition, or to the refugee camps, consumes many hours. Most of the automobiles have been impressed into the service of the police or military authority, and these have but one circuitous route from one telegraph station at the water front to municipal headquarters and the unswept western portions.

This is by the way of the northerly water front line. Nearly every other street has been made impassable by the fallen portions of buildings.

WOMEN STUDENTS HELP.

Provide Food for Sufferers on College Campus and Give Blankets to Those in Need.

BERKELEY, CAL., April 20.—Berkeley is packed with over 1,000 refugees who have been brought across the bay to escape the terrors of the San Francisco conflagration. The homeless and hungry were fed last night at the station from long benches provided by the citizens' relief committee.

The women students and professors of the state university are doing great work for the sufferers. The big university gymnasium has been turned into a lodging house, where hundreds have been installed, while other hundreds have been provided with blankets in the open air under the university oaks.

ORDER OF EAGLES RAISES FUND BY ASSESSMENT

CHICAGO, April 20.—Robert M. Minnehan of Chicago, chairman of the national board of trustees of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, today authorized the national secretary at Kansas City to levy a per capita tax of 25 cents on each member of the order in the United States and Canada, for the relief of distress in California. It is estimated this tax will amount to $80,000.

Mayor Forbids Extortionate Prices.

OAKLAND, April 20.—Mayor Mott, today, issued a proclamation requesting lodgings and food be sold at usual rates. If exorbitant prices are demanded for lodgings or food, military authorities will be given power to take possession of such lodging houses or supplies, compensation for same to be determined later by the courts.

Missing Son Wires for Money.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., April 20.—(Special.)—The fears of Mrs. John Smutz of New Haven for the welfare of her son, Charles H. Goodman, who is at San Francisco, were set at rest today by the receipt of the following telegram over the postal lines: "Safe, but broke. Send $50." This was the first message to reach Connellsville direct from the stricken city.

HARRIMAN HURRIES WEST AND SPEAKS HOPEFULLY

Contributes $200,000 and Declares San Francisco Will Rise Anew from the Ashes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OMAHA, NEB., April 20.—E. H. Harriman, on behalf of the Union Pacific, the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, the Oregon Short Line and the Southern Pacific, today authorized the expenditure of $200,000 in relief work in San Francisco.

CHICAGO, April 20.—E. H. Harriman passed through Chicago today on his special train for San Francisco. He said that all the Harriman lines and all the steamship interests which he controls would be placed at the service of San Francisco.

"I have issued orders," said he, "that the situation in San Francisco is to be considered above everything else. All the Harriman lines, and all the steamship lines in which I am interested, have been instructed to do everything possible, and with the utmost energy, for the relief of the people of San Francisco. These orders are that San Francisco is to live."

ASKS FOR SQUADRON.

Governor Pardee Requests Ships to Transport Supplies and Aid Frisco Sufferers.

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20—Gov. Pardee today wired President Roosevelt asking him to send the Pacific squadron to San Francisco with all possible speed, in order that the marines may help the unfortunate sufferers and also that the supplies of the squadron may be used for the relief of the needy.

It is announced that until further notice, letters from San Francisco will be sent through the mails free of postage. This has been made necessary on account of the unprecedented demand for stamps which the local postoffice cannot supply.

Postmaster Dargie has telegraphed to the postoffice department at Washington that owing to the wreck of the San Francisco postoffice, registered pouches and packages will be held in the Oakland office indefinitely. He also suggested that offices making up mails for Manila and the orient might be instructed to forward them to Seattle, instead of San Francisco.

"MADE" GROUND SUFFERED.

Damage Was Greatest Where Men Had Reclaimed the Marsh Regions in San Francisco.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The following telegram was received by the Western Union from one of its operators in San Francisco:

"Although the earthquake wrecked the business and residental portions of the city, on the hills the land did not sink. All made ground sank some in consquence of the quaking. On the high ground the upper parts of the buildings were about the only portions of the structures wrecked. Most of the damage on the hills was done by falling chimneys.

"In Montgomery street, half a block from the main office of the Western Union Company, the middle of the street was cracked and blown up. During the shocks which struck the Western Union building only the top stories were cracked. The ceiling of the operating room fell."

TWO GHOULS SLAIN.

Found Robbing Ruined Residences They Are Summarily Shot By Policemen.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Two men were shot and killed this morning. Policeman Flood, on entering his home encountered a stranger who attacked him. Flood shot him dead. Special Policeman Snyder killed a man, but the details are not known.

The only bank in the huge ruined district that escaped destruction was the Market street bank at the corner of Seventh and Market streets. It is in the gutted Grant building, and the firemen saved the ground floor. It will pay out money just as soon as it hears from the clearing house officials.

A corner of the city near the Pacific Mail wharves at Second and Brannan streets, was not ruined, and the Sailors' home is intact.

"EVERYBODY SHOULD HELP."

So Says John D. Rockefeller, in Explaining His Big Gift to Sufferers.

NEW YORK, April 20.—(Special.)—John D. Rockefeller arrived at the Grand Central station from his home in Tarrytown, today. Asked as to his contribution of $100,000 to the San Francisco relief fund, Mr. Rockefeller said:

"Everybody should do his part at such a time as this."

Mr. Rockefeller refused to discuss his gift further, saying: "You know I make it a rule not to talk to newspaper men, and I do not care to discuss my contribution any further."

The millionaire waved reporters aside and walked rapidly through the station. He was driven rapidly away in the direction of Fifth avenue.

TAFT WOULD GIVE MORE.

Favors Another Million Dollar Appropriation for Relief Work in San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary Taft while testifying before the canal commission received at 3 o'clock today a message from the war department that another $1,000,000 is needed to buy supplies for San Francisco sufferers. The secretary after reading the message said:

"We have already contracted for $1,000,000 worth of stores and expenses incident to the work. This message, of course, should go to the house at once."

Upon concluding his testimony before the canal commission Secretary Taft stated that he would send in tomorrow his request for an additional appropriation. He will accompany it with a statement showing what the government is doing for the California homeless.

MASONS ARE ACTIVE.

From All Parts of Country Offers of Assistance Are Being Sent Over Wires.

OAKLAND, CAL., April 20.—Mottley H. Flint, postmaster at Los Angeles, and grand master of the grand lodge of California Free and Accepted Masons, arrived today to organize relief for the aid of the distressed.

"Telegrams are pouring in from Masonic lodges in all parts of the country," said Mr. Flint this afternoon, "offering unstinted aid." At a meeting of Masons today large quantities of provisions were purchased and preparations were made to serve meals and supply bedding.

TENTH REGIMENT BOYS REMEMBER OLD 'FRISCO

GREENSBURG, PA., April 20.—(Special.)—Greensburg has given hearty support to the Tenth Regiment Towns 'Frisco relief fund, a movement indorsed by Col. Barnett to bulk all contributions received in the home towns of the regiment for San Francisco. In Greensburg over $3,000 has already been contributed. All the members of the Tenth regiment were royally treated on their way to and from Manila by the Californians.

CARNEGIE GIVES $100,000; SO DOES STANDARD OIL

NEW YORK, April 20.—President Jesup of the New York chamber of commerce, received a message from Andrew Carnegie at Philadelphia today contributing $100,000 to the San Francisco relief fund of the chamber. Prior to the receipt of that message the chamber of commerce fund had reached nearly $200,000. President Jesup announced the Standard Oil Company has subscribed $100,000.

It never disappoints. Pilene positively cures Piles. All druggists sell it.

MINERS REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Executive Board Rejects Proposition Made By Operators Through J. H. Winder.

ROBBINS WIRES MITCHELL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 20.—The international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America today rejected the proposition of the operators of Western Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio who are opposing the payment of the 1903 wage scale to coal miners, and who, through J. H. Winder, their chairman, offered to submit the differences to arbitration.

The reply to the operators was made in the following letter, addressed to J. H. Winder, at Columbus, O.:

"Dear Sir:—We have received and considered your communication to President John Mitchell, under date of April 6, 1906, in which you propose that 'Subject to the approval of a convention of bituminous operators of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, the differences between us be referred for determination and settlement to a board of arbitration composed of the members of the present board of conciliation provided for in the award of the anthracite coal strike commission, with Judge Gray, or any person he may appoint, to act as chairman and umpire.'

Statement by Robbins.

"That such a proposition could not meet with the approval of the bituminous operators of West Virginia, Ohio and Illinois, is very apparent from the contents of the following telegram:

"'Chicago, April 18, 1906.

"'John Mitchell, President United Mine Workers, Indianapolis, Ind.:

"'Mr. Winder had no authority to offer arbitration for Western Pennsylvania, where mines are all in operation under contract; or for the Hocking valley (O.) operators, representing 50 per cent of the Hocking output, also in operation under contract. (Signed.)

"'FRANCIS L. ROBBINS.'

"For eight years the operators and miners in the territory mentioned by you have been meeting in joint conference to determine from time to time the wages and conditions which should exist at the basing points in each of the four states. By mutual agreement of all parties interested the rates at the basing points have been arranged upon a competitive relation as nearly fair to all interests as it was possible to arrive at. Many of your competitors in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have already conceded the justice of our claims, and are now operating their mines on the scale of wages and conditions of employment existing under the scale of 1903.

Action Would Be Unjust.

Your proposition, if carried into effect, would tend to destroy the competitive conditions which have been established by years of mutual agreement without the consent of these operators who are now paying our scale, and who have heretofore been parties to our joint agreement. Such action would be manifestly partial from its inception and consequently unjust to all concerned.

"You propose that the differences between us be arbitrated and say nothing of the scope of the arbitration. No arbitration scheme would be fair to us that did not take into consideration the earnings of company stores, company houses or railroad companies operating mines and docks, and other subsidiary companies connected with or incident to the production of coal, to all of which no reference is made in your communication.

"The mutual competitive relations which have been established for the past eight years compel us to the conclusion that when so many of your competitors are paying the scale of wages which we are asking, it is but just to all interests involved that you should do the same. Not only have your competitors in Western Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois agreed to pay the 1903 scale, but practically all of your competitors in the Hocking Valley, the principal location of your operations are now running their mines on that scale.

"We are willing to meet you at any time to consider the signing of a scale on the same basis as your competitors have already signed, but we cannot be a party to any such unfair and partial arbitration scheme as you propose.

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN MITCHELL, "Chairman.

"W. B. WILSON, "Secretary Executive Board United Mine Workers."

DALZELL'S DAUGHTER SAFE.

Pennsylvania Congressman Gets Word from Relatives in Vicinity of Golden Gate.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Glad tidings reached Representative and Mrs. Dalzell here today in the form of a message from Col. George M. Dunn, U. S. A., their son-in-law, stating that his wife, family and himself were well and safe. Since Wednesday morning Mr. Dalzell has been trying to secure some word from his daughter and family, but without avail.

Col. Dunn is connected with department headquarters of the army in San Francisco and the building in which he had his office was destroyed. But the Dunns lived at San Rafael, some miles from the city and though from the meager dispatches it seemed they were safe, yet the reassuring advices could not be secured.

SECRETARY METCALF GOES TO CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet today devoted the greater part of their semi-weekly session to a discussion of the calamity which has befallen San Francisco. The matter was taken up immediately after the cabinet convened and it was decided that Secretary Metcalf, who is a resident of Oakland, should proceed at once to the stricken city as a representative of the national government.

NEW YORK CENTRAL WILL CARRY FREIGHT FREE

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Among refugees arriving from San Francisco today are: J. B. Lankersheim, Los Angeles; Dr. J. M. Ward, Oil City, Pa., who estimates probable death list at 2,000; Dr. M. Howard, Chicago, whose estimate is 1,000 dead and $500,000,000 property loss. Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Shepherd, Chicago; Mrs. D. M. Linnard, Pasadena; O. W. Hosey, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wells, Philadelphia; Mrs. Maria Wilcox, Mrs. Mary Longstreet, Mrs. and Miss Frank Hicks, and Alfred Wilcox. More than 100 other persons arrived, including 30 destitute Italians, who are cared for by Los Angeles Italians.

Start Fund in Germany.

NEW YORK, April 20.—A cablegram was received at the New York office of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company today, stating that that company had started a subscription in Bremen for the San Francisco sufferers by subscribing $25,000. A cablegram was sent to President Roosevelt expressing sympathy and saying that a committee had been formed in Bremen to alleviate the distress.

BRITISH COMPANIES TO MEET LOSS PROMPTLY

Insurance Due 'Frisco Victims Will Be Paid Immediately on Adjustment.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 20.—Through its New York office the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance company announced today that all its San Francisco losses will be paid immediately on adjustment, and that its United States assets, in accordance with the company's precedent, will not be drawn upon for the purpose of making good these losses. The payments will come out of the company's home assets. This will be a great help to the local money market.

Willis C. Robb, secretary of the New York board of fire underwriters, said that the insurance companies would have to stand a very great loss in San Francisco and to avoid paying damages on demolished buildings the companies would have to prove that they were entirely destroyed by earthquake shock.

E. H. A. Correa, vice president of the Home Insurance Company, said:

"It must not be forgotten that the policies issued on risks in California are straight fire policies, and the companies are not responsible for damage resulting from the earthquake alone or for fire damage to a building which was shaken down before it caught fire."

The conference of insurance men which will be held within a week, probably in this city, will be the most important which has ever taken place in the history of the business.

American companies carry risks in California which foot up $477,000,000, and of this fully 30 per cent is written on San Francisco property.

THOUSANDS ARE CAMPED IN HUGE TENTED CITY

Golden Gate Park Sheltering Vast Horde of Homeless and Hungry People.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—At the Presidio military reservation, where probably 50,000 are encamped, affairs are conducted with military precision. Water is plentiful and rations are dealt out all day long. The refugees stand patheticaly in line and there is not a murmur. This characteristic is observable all over the city. The people are brave and patient and the wonderful order preserved by them has been of great assistance.

In Golden Gate park are encamped 200,000 persons. A huge supply station has been established there and provisions are dealt out.

Many thousands are camped in vacant lots and squares scattered about the city, and these are the unfortunates that are hard to reach.

Six hundred men from the Ocean Shore railway arrived tonight with wagons and implements to work on the sewer system. Inspectors are going from house to house examining chimneys and issuing permits to build fires.

FRENZIED ANIMALS IN PANIC STRICKEN CITY

Escape from Cages in a Store and Add to Terror of Fleeing Citizens.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 20.—From a telegraph message received in this city today by a roundabout route it appears likely that the horrors of the panic in San Francisco which followed the first earthquake were intensified in one portion of the stricken city at least by the sudden appearance in the midst of the street crowds of a large number of fierce tigers, bears, gorillas, with monkeys, snakes and other animals and reptiles.

These had been confined in the wild animal store of William Bartels at Fourth and Market streets, right in the heart of the business district that first was swept by the flames after the initial shock sent many of its buildings tumbling to the ground.

Most of the animals which were confined in their cages when the earthquake came had only a few weeks ago arrived in New York from India, and been forwarded to the Pacific coast, where they were to be distributed to various parks and zoological gardens.

The dispatch, which was signed by Mr. Bartel's San Francisco manager, stated that the store had collapsed at the first tremor and that the animals were a complete loss. Their financial value was approximately $100,000.

In the building at the time of the earthquake were five Bengal tigers, four grizzly bears, a huge gorilla, two boa constrictors, a large number of apes, baboons, monkeys, many snakes, a number of wolves and smaller animals.

NEW YORK STOCKS MADE A STRONG RALLY

Prices Closed at or Near the Highest of the Day.
Prospects for a Favorable Bank Statement.
Local Steel Stocks Were Higher.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market opened very weak yesterday, with some sharp declines in special stocks like Amalgamated Copper and the United Railways of San Francisco. As a rule, however, the lowest prices were recorded during the first half hour. For the remainder of the session there was a general recovery, which was in progress when the market closed. The sales foot up 1,200,000 shares.

It was the opinion in Wall street after the close of the market that pressing liquidation had been completed, and that the bears had run out of ammunition; but that any further advance from the present level would probably induce unloading of stocks which have been bought during the past few days in supporting prices. It would therefore be natural for the market to quiet down for a while, until the outlook for the money market is clearer.

The London quotations for American securities were higher, but the fact that consols closed ½ per cent lower, and that there was a sharp drop in the shares of foreign fire insurance companies, as well as the firmness in the London money market, all indicated that the foreign situation was laboring under the influence of the Russian loan flotation and impending shipments of gold to New York. Foreign bankers expressed the opinion that the big London and Liverpool fire insurance companies would be compelled to liquidate some of their foreign holdings of securities, since their investments in American securities are insignificant. There was some intimation that the governors of the Bank of England might restore the 4 per cent minimum rate of discount the coming week, and it was reported that the Bank of England was a large lender of money yesterday. If Wall street had not had its attention centered upon its own market, it is probable that the latter would have taken some note of the decline in English consols. A smaller decline than ¼ per cent in a single day in this security has on previous occasions been regarded as quite significant of financial sentiment in London.

The basis for the recovery in the stock market was the feeling that the worst is now known as to the extent of the property loss in San Francisco. What the consequential damages may be cannot be estimated. In addition to the dispatches indicating that the conflagration at San Francisco had eaten itself out, there was the fact that a large short interest was outstanding, and the covering of shorts was a factor in the rally.

The more important net gains at the close of the market were as follows: Union Pacific, 2⅜ per cent; Southern Pacific, ⅞; Great Northern preferred, 2¼; Northern Pacific, which was quoted ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent, recovered all its dividend and closed 3¾ higher; Northwestern, 1⅞ higher. Reading closed at a gain of 2⅜, and Pennsylvania 1½. Amalgamated Copper closed 1¾ higher; Smelting, 2½; United States Steel, 1⅝; United States Steel preferred, 1⅝, and Colorado Fuel and Iron 1⅝ per cent.

Call loan rates were firmer, advancing to 6 per cent, but declining to 5 per cent at the close. More than $6,000,000 bonds were deposited with the sub-treasury at New York against additional gold imports. There were, however, large shipments of currency and transfers of gold through the sub-treasury to San Francisco and other western points.

Prospects for today's New York bank statement are rather favorable. The net gain in cash is estimated at about $15,000,000, largely due to the action of the treasury department in increasing deposits in banks against importations of gold. These government deposits, however, must be returned on the arrival of the gold.

Crucible Steel was the most active of the regular industrials in the local list. On sales of over 1,600 shares the common rallied to and closed at 14½, a net gain of ½ per cent. The preferred was moderately active within a range of 79 to 79½. United States Steel common also rallied in sympathy with the movement in New York. There were no transactions in any of the Coal stocks, and in the remainder of the industrial list price changes were insignificant. Nearly 7,500 shares Cable Consolidated changed hands at 63 to 66c. Ohio Tonopah was inactive at 32c to 35c. Tonopah Extension sold to the extent of 500 shares at 10¾ to 10⅝. Lustre Mining (old stock) which has been neglected for several weeks past, sold in a small way at 30 to 30½, the latter representing an advance of 50 cents a share over the last previous sale. An initial transaction was recorded in the newly listed Treasury Tunnel Mining stock, 150 shares selling at $5. In the banking department small lots of Pittsburgh Trust sold at $400 to $405 a share, and 10 shares Real Estate Trust sold at $223 a share.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

"Just to give you an idea of what this San Francisco disaster means in a 'business way,'" remarked a Fourth avenue broker, "I can cite an incident connected with our office. Last week we sold some mining stocks in the San Francisco market and shipped the stock with drafts attached to a bank designated by the buyer. The draft does not exceed $10,000, but there is no knowing when it will be presented or whether it will be accepted. The bank's building was probably destroyed, and even granting that its funds are safe in its vault, it may be days or weeks before they can be recovered from the ruins. Of course the buyer may be financially ruined and unable to take up the draft. Our loss would depend upon the course of the market, if we had to receive the stock back and sell it again. But there are millions of dollars' worth of merchandise which has been shipped into San Francisco, which has been destroyed, and the probability is that the majority of the merchants are crippled or ruined financially, and it will be a long time before they are finally adjusted."

A London dispatch stated that it was estimated there that the foreign fire insurance companies were involved to the extent of $250,000,000 in the San Francisco fire, although their total loss would fall far below that figure. Fire insurance stocks were weak in the London market yesterday. During the past two days there has been a decline of 10½ per cent in Royal, 9 in Commercial Union, 8 in London & Lancaster, 5½ in North British & Mercantile and 1¾ in Sun.

United Railways of San Francisco bonds broke from 78 to 71 in the New York market yesterday, but recovered to 75 and closed at 74 on sales of $29,000. The last sale of United Railways common stock previous to the catastrophe was 93½. Yesterday it sold down to 56 and closed at 59. The preferred broke to 55 but recovered to 65 at the close. A week ago the stock was quoted around 85. At the extreme low point yesterday the depreciation in the market value of these two stocks exceeded $8,000,000. The fiscal agents of the company in New York yesterday issued the following statement, which is of particular interest here because the company so recently acquired control of the Philadelphia Company system of Pittsburgh: "The outstanding obligations of the United Railways Investment Company on capital account are: First lien sinking fund 5 per cent gold bonds, issued for the purchase of the Philadelphia Company, $15,750,000; preferred stock carrying 5 per cent cumulative dividends, $15,000,000, and common stock, $20,400,000; a total of $51,150,000. The company owns the following securities: United Railroads of San Francisco, common stock, $20,000,000; 10-year 5 per cent notes, $1,000,000; also $21,000,000, par value, common stock of the Philadelphia Company; total securities owned, $62,000,000, against $51,150,000 of its own or assumed obligations outstanding. For the year ended December 31, 1905, the United Railroads of San Francisco, after paying all charges, preferred dividends and $200,000 on its own stock, reinvested nearly $950,00 in the property in sinking funds, depreciation and renewals. In the same year the Philadelphia Company and affiliated corporations, after meeting all charges and 6 per cent dividend on its own common stock, reported a surplus of $103,618. It also reinvested in the property $576,029, or a total of nearly $680,000, carried forward to the benefit of the property, making a total for the two companies of $1,928,500. The investment company's property of these surplus earnings, together with the dividends it earns from its holding in the stock of the Philadelphia Company and of the United Railroads of San Francisco, would aggregate on last year's basis $5,589,242, and after deducting the 5 per cent upon the Philadelphia Company's purchase money bonds and 5 per cent dividends upon its preferred stock, which items aggregate $1,537,500, it appears that the Investment company would have accruing to it sinking funds of $2,051,500, which is equal to nearly 10 per cent upon its outstanding common stock."

Bonds to the amount of $6,370,000 were deposited with the New York sub-treasury yesterday against gold imports.

The New York sub-treasury yesterday transferred $1,400,000 to San Francisco and $250,000 to Chicago.

The North American Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable June 1.

The Pullman Company will pay the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on May 15 to stock of record April 30.

The Twin City Rapid Transit Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its common stock, payable May 15 to stock of record May 1.

Checks were received yesterday for the 15 per cent dividend on Tonopah Extension.

TRADE NEWS PLEASING EXCEPTING DISASTER

Prospects of Bountiful Crops and Another Year of Prosperity, Are Over Entire Country.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 20.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Fuller appreciation of the real extent of the disaster at San Francisco has had a sobering effect upon the entire country, but it is recognized that the disturbances, though unprecedentedly fearful, has been confined to a comparatively small area of country, and the rest of the nation, contemplating, as it does, prospects of bountiful crops and another year of great prosperity, finds itself alike willing and able to give freely of its abundance to help the stricken city and state.

In the last analysis it is felt that while the temporary effects upon, for instance, prices of securities and commodities has been depressing, it is likewise certain that replacement on a scale hitherto unknown will give employment to thousands within and without the section affected and stimulate productive energies beyond measure.

Aside from this, practically every trade and news feature of the week is of a pleasant nature. Crops, trade and industry, excepting only the coal situation, improve with the weather and the natural spring tendency to expansion. Retail trade shows considerable stimulus. Iron and steel commodities are even more favorable. Railway earnings are heavy.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending April 19 are 1,844,738 bushels. From July 1 to date the exports are 109,361,617 bushels. Corn exports for the week are 1,673,872 bushels. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 101,475,111 bushels.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending April 19 number 167. Failures in Canada for the week number 22.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Devastation on the Pacific coast and a widened breach between anthracite coal miners and operators were adverse trade factors of grave local significance, but the nation as a whole is responsive to the favorable influence of good weather for spring business, agricultural undertakings and building operations.

A special canvass of the winter wheat situation by this paper shows little injury and large acreage, and structural work is not checked by the high prices of building materials. Manufacturing plants are fully occupied, except some dependent upon hard coal, and the chief complaint in most industries pertains to the supply of labor. Immigration beyond all precedent should relieve this difficulty, if it can be properly distributed.

Further advances in prices of hides are noted, owing to a fair inquiry and limited available supplies of desirable hides. Foreign dry hides are firm, but without quotable alterations. Leather is strong.

BANK CLEARINGS.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal cities for the week ended April 19, with the percentage of increase and decrease, as compared with the corresponding week last year.

EXCHANGE DEALS IN THE EAST END

Atlantic Avenue Houses Are Sold for $42,000—Friendship Avenue Purchase.

FORBES ST. SALE OF $51,000

East End residence property figured in two good exchange deals which were consummated yesterday. Through C. C. Hamilton's office Francis F. McGillick, the contractor, disposed of two fine houses at 4811 and 4825 South Atlantic avenue for $42,000, the buyer being H. S. Robb. The houses stand on 50x140 feet each, one of them being a 12-room, center-hall brick residence and the other a 11-room house of the reception-hall type. Both are modern in their finish and conveniences. Mr. Robb takes the houses for an investment, and will either sell or rent them. In part payment for them he tendered 160x240 feet of vacant frontage at the southwest corner of Northumberland and South Negley avenues. Twenty-second ward, which was valued at $24,000, the difference in the deal being paid in cash. Mr. McGillick will improve this frontage with 10 reception-hall brick houses, to cost from $6,000 to $8,000 each.

The other exchange was made through the agency of W. L. Stewart of the East End. He sold for Hugh Murphy to Anna M. Miller six brick houses at Wick and Colwell streets, Eleventh ward, for $17,000. The houses are rented for $22 a month each. In part payment for those Mr. Murphy received an 11-room, reception-hall brick houses on 40x110 feet at the southwest corner of Friendship avenue and Amber street, Twentieth ward, for $14,000.

Another Forbes Street Sale.

H. M. Berman of the Merchants Savings and Trust Company has sold for Mrs. G. Kreiger the property at the southwest corner of Forbes and Seneca streets for, $51,000. A number of buyers were in the market for the property, evidencing the interest that is taken in outer Forbes street lots. S. D. Waxman of K. Solomon & Co. finally landed the lot, which measures 71x120 feet, and is improved with seven brick and three frame houses. The total rental from these is $3,600 a year.

There has been a steady uplift in Forbes street prices for a week, judging by the options taken and the offers made for lots that have a good depth and are level. Properties that were on the market for from $7,000 to $8,500 two weeks ago are now held firm at from $9,000 to $11,000, according to the improvements and the rental. At least 20 properties have been optioned within the past week by downtown brokers, most of them being 20-foot lots. Several of these are being bunched, evidently with the purpose of getting sites large enough to present to big wholesale firms, two of which are now dealing for Forbes street locations.

Grant McCargo has bought from Joseph H. Moore two parcels of Squirrel hill property for $10,000. One is 57x132 feet on the north side of Northumberland avenue, Twenty-second ward, and the other measures 50x143 feet in Squirrel Hill avenue.

Claiming Damages for Bridge.

Property owners who claimed to have been damaged by the building of the new Bellevue-Avalon bridge connecting Miller street and Jackman avenue, are getting their claims settled. One of those which is now under fire is that of George Dawson, representing the Thomas Dawson estate, which owns several acres near the bridge. About 8,400 square feet of ground was appropriated for the supports of the bridge, most of which faces in James street. The property is near the handsome home of Capt. Rodgers.

Charles R. Miller, who last year bought the McCargo lot in Beechwood boulevard, near Irwin avenue, Twenty-second ward, is having plans prepared for an $15,000 house which he will build there at once.

Architects McCollum & Dowler have plans for the three-story brick and stone building which the Elizabeth Land and Improvement Company will erect at Second and Plum streets, Elizabeth, at a cost of $30,000.

Plans already announced assure the building of fully 100 good houses in Bellevue this summer. Fifty of these will be built on the Shurpiece allotment. A half dozen other house builders have announced their intention of building from three to six houses, which will cost from $5,000 to $10,000 each. In the eastern part of Bellevue, which came into special prominence last year, there is likely to be more than double the usual amount of house building, and on the East Bellevue allotment proper a score or more of $4,000 and $6,000 houses are assured.

Values Have Doubled in Thornburg.

A good example of the way values have gone up in Thornburg the last few years is shown

J. M. WENDT.

One of the more recent additions to the realty fraternity is John M. Wendt, who is located in the Shannon building in Fourth avenue. He has lately bought his partner's interest in the firm of Wendt & De Force and will continue to handle all lines of real estate and do considerable house building.

in the sale of a vacant lot, 50x140 feet, belonging to J. S. M. Phillips and located in Hamilton avenue, near Cornell avenue, for $1,500. Two years ago the same lot sold for $800, or a little over half its present value. Architect S. T. McClarren, whose residence burned last fall, has purchased it as the site for a $10,000 residence.

Washington avenue: James A. Griffith sold for the estate of Jesse Fries 29 Washington avenue, Thirty-first ward, a three-story brick business building on 25x150 feet, to John H. Dau for $7,000 for an investment; to George W. Depp, a six-room frame house on 25x100 feet in Fred street, near Gearing avenue, for $3,500; for Peter Krumnel to Louis Wexler, a frame house on 25x80 feet, at McLain avenue and Brahe street, for $1,850.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The drygoods market felt the effect of the San Francisco calamity today and quiet was noticeable in most lines. The tone of the market holds strong, but very little spot business is being done. A small demand for export goods was reported.

EARTHQUAKE AFFECTS THE PRICE OF SUGARS

One of the Largest Refineries in the World Is Destroyed in San Francisco.

There was no further decline in the markets yesterday and everything showed some strength. Prices will continue about the same until early next week. Butter dealers predict there will be an advance of about one-half cent a pound on butter next week. The Elgin market is showing strength and it controls the local market to a great extent, as local-made butter cuts but little figure. Sugar was very uneasy yesterday, and it is predicted it will take an advance. One of the largest refineries in the world was destroyed by the San Francisco earthquake, and eastern refineries must make good. No local houses ship sugar out of the territory, but Arbuckles & Co., who are their own refiners, ship all over the world. If the demand is large, it is probable the local market will go up another 10 points.

Canned goods show no signs of weakness and the present prices will probably prevail during the summer and into the fall, or until future deliveries already bought start to arrive. The new crop of vegetables promises to be large and the canneries are preparing for a busy season.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 21 cars hay, 14 cars oats, 3 cars corn, 1 car feed. Baltimore & Ohio, 10 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 2 cars straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars hay, 3 cars oats.

Lack of yellow shelled corn again sent the market up and the prospects are that corn may reach the 60-cent mark in the near future. Straw also advanced yesterday and the better quality is in about the same class as the poorer quality of hay.

BOSTON, April 20.—The Boston market naturally opened weak and very erratic this morning. In Osceola, North Butte and Copper Range the opening was from one to the points lower. After the first scare was over a good demand for stocks developed all around the room and the rally which followed was held well until the close. On any further rise in prices we advise selling stocks for a turn, because as soon as the full extent of the San Francisco disaster is known we are liable to have more selling in the market and tight money for some time to come.

In the Oil Fields.

Reports from the lower southwest fields show that all of the late completions are light producers. In the older part of the Yellow Creek district, in Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company drilled in its No. 15 on the H. L. Jackson farm and met with quite an agreeable surprise. As soon as the pay was tapped in the threes, the well began to flow at the rate of 15 barrels an hour. This is the best showing made by any well drilled in that part of the field for many months. It is located inside of defined limits and is not expected to hold up for any considerable time. In the same district the Eastern Oil Company is due in the sand at its No. 8 on the Dora Ramsberg farm. Jackson & Bowser are fishing at their test on the Mitchell farm. In the Fairview district, Marion county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the Lucinda Wilson farm 44 feet into the Big Injun and has developed nothing but a little gas. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the same company has drilled its No. 9 on the J. L. Price farm 25 feet into the stray and has found no oil or gas.

On Silver run, Grant district, Ritchie county, the States Oil Company has started to drill at a test on the John Hill farm. On Hughes river, Union district, the Carter Oil Company is due in the salt sand at a test on the Plenty heirs' farm. On Leather creek, Murphy district, the Cresco Oil Company is starting a test on the McQuain farm. On Brush run, Greene district, Wetzel county, J. F. Fishel & Co. are drilling a test on the Charles W. Gadd farm. On Little Fish creek, Grant district, Doddridge county, Bish & Elder are drilling a test on the A. L. Underwood farm. QUICKER TIME TO WASHINGTON

Baltimore & Ohio Cuts Off One Hour Between That Place and the City.

BESSEMER BUILDS NEW DEPOT

Baltimore & Ohio officers have decided not to add another afternoon passenger train from Pittsburgh to Washington, but instead, to shorten the running time of train No. 14 so that it will arrive in Washington an hour earlier. This time will be saved on the train between Pittsburgh and Washington, and it is proposed to have the train leave Pittsburgh at 1:35 o'clock p. m., as at present, and arrive in Washington at 10:20 o'clock, instead of 11:20 as now. In reference to the night train service between Pittsburgh and Kenova, W. Va., Assistant General Passenger Agent Taggart, who returned from Washington yesterday, said that this service is held in abeyance, pending further consideration by the officers. This does not mean, however, that the proposed service is given up; it may be installed later in the summer.

The most important change in suburban trains will be that of train No. 163, which will leave Allegheny at 6:35 o'clock p. m., instead of 6:45 o'clock, thus meeting the approval of many who have urged this change for some time.

Bessemer Station at East Pittsburgh.

East Pittsburgh will soon have another railway station. The Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad will erect a station, with the intention of opening it when change of time card becomes effective on May 27. This station is to accommodate the new service of the Bessemer & Lake Erie, which, on that date, will be extended from Butler to Bessemer and East Pittsburgh. This service is provided to accommodate the large population of that district, especially for the summer season, when many go to Conneaut lake for brief vacations. General Passenger Agent Comstock said yesterday that the company's service from Allegheny and also the new service from East Pittsburgh will be better than ever before, and that there is a brighter outlook for a good season at Conneaut than has ever been known.

U. S. Express in Europe.

General Agent Treuleben of the United States Express Company in Pittsburgh, received notice yesterday from President T. C. Platt that the company will on May 15 open offices in London and Paris, where company agents will handle all business shipped on and after June 1.

Railroad Notes.

In the rearrangement of the Wabash freight department east of Toledo, it is said that General Agent C. C. Wilson will have his headquarters removed from Toledo to Canton.

Engineman T. E. Whitesides of the Panhandle has announced his candidacy for membership on the advisory board of the voluntary relief department from the Pittsburgh division.

Ticket Seller Edward Emery of the Baltimore & Ohio appears to be interested in furniture and household goods nowadays, and also is frequent visits to McKeesport. Friends predict his marriage within the near future.

The special Traffic club train yesterday, which conveyed 350 railroad officers in the terminal trip, was manned entirely by a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie crew and drawn by an engine of this road. The crew consisted of Conductor Frank M. Elrick, Brakemen Victor Pricer, Oscar Gruber and Harry Martin, Engineman Charles Beeson and Fireman Charles Walters.

ST. PETER'S NEW ORGANIST.

Harry Lee Cornwall Not a Stranger in Pittsburgh—Valuable Experience in the East.

Harry Lee Cornwall, who assumes the post of organist and musical director at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, Forbes street and Craft avenue, on May 1, is not a stranger to Pittsburgh, having lived here years before going to New York two years ago, for further study. In New York Mr. Cornwall became assistant to C. Whitney Coombs, the noted composer and organist and musical director at the church of the Holy Communion.

Mr. Coombs has one of the best choirs in the east, and the knowledge and experience gained in choir work, particularly the boy choir, have been invaluable to Mr. Cornwall. He was also for a time accompanist to Dr. Carl Duft, the well known New York baritone, soloist at the Marble Collegiate church, Fifth avenue, and head of the vocal department at the summer music school at Chautauqua.

Mr. Cornwall had three years of hard systematic foundation work in piano, organ and theory with Charles Andre Filler, one of the most gifted of the younger men in the east, now organist and musical director of St. John's church, New Rochelle, N. Y. While in the east Mr. Cornwall was elected twice in succession to the position of organist and musical director of the old First Presbyterian church in Bloomfield, N. J. He was recommended for this position by C. Whitney Coombs and S. Archer Gibson, organist and choir master of the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue, New York.

Under Mr. Cornwall's direction the vested adult choir of 16 voices at St. Peter's will be augmented on special occasions by the junior vested choir, composed of boys and girls, who will be specially trained for the work.

BACON PREVENTS PASSAGE.

Georgia Senator Has the Lake Erie Ship Canal Bill Held Over in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(Special.)—An attempt to secure the passage through the senate today of the bill to incorporate the Lake Erie and Ohio River ship canal was prevented by Senator Bacon of Georgia. The bill was reached on the calendar when Mr. Bacon asked that it go over until he has time to examine into it. Senators Nelson of Minnesota and Frye of Maine explained the bill had a unanimous report from the committee on commerce, and that it should be passed.

Mr. Nelson said the reason of a federal charter is asked is that the canal is to pass through two states. Mr. Bacon replied if that was the only excuse for it, he did not believe he would favor it. The bill went over but will be called up again soon. The chances for its passage appear very good.

TELLS OF CONFUCIUS.

Former Missionary in China Addresses W. U. P. Students.

The Rev. Stephen A. Hunter, for many years missionary to China, now minister of the Presbyterian church of Sheraden, yesterday morning delivered a lecture in "The Sages of China" to the students of the collegiate and engineering departments of the Western university. This lecture though originally including China's three greatest sages, had to be limited to Confucius. The history from the time of his birth, 551 B. C., to the present day, which sees about 50,000 of his direct descendants through 76 generations, proved highly instructive.

Dr. Hunter exhibited a very old bronze cup, presented to him by one of Confucius' descendants. This cup was used for over a thousand years in pouring libations over the graves of Confucius and these descendants.

Summer School for Teachers.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Western University of Pennsylvania provision was made for the establishment and maintenance of a summer school for teachers. The purpose is to afford teachers an opportunity to study special courses in science, literature, the languages and methods of teaching; to afford students an opportunity to work off their conditions, and to enable students, especially teachers, to secure college credits as candidates for the bachelor or advanced degrees, or along special lines without special reference to a degree. The session will begin July 5.

BRIGHT GIRL CLEVERLY OUTWITS THE WAR DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—There is a girl named Alice out in San Francisco who may have been frightened by the earthquake, but whose mental equilibrium was certainly not seriously disturbed. By a clever ruse she was able to notify her people in the east she was alive when thousands of others in that stricken city were clamoring in vain for use of the telegraph wires. On Wednesday night there was but one wire available out of San Francisco, and that was controlled by the war department. No attempt was made to handle private messages.

During the night the following dispatch was received here in Washington: "Official business. I am with the troops. Notify mother. Allie." Apparently this was a message from some army officer. Allie was presumably an abbreviation for "Alexander" or "Alfred" or "Albert" or one of a hundred other masculine names. "I am with the troops" gave the message a very official tone.

The dispatch was delivered by message to the address specified in the message and in a short time the boy came back to the office and filed the following dispatch: "Alice is all right. Have heard from her."

This was addressed to a woman in Cincinnati and when the telegraph clerk read it a light dawned upon his comprehension. This was to notify "mother" as instructed in the "official" telegram received earlier. It was plain "Allie" was in reality "Alice," and that she had retained her senses in the excitement and confusion and realized her only chance of notifying her people was by use of the connivance of some army officer.

Of course, she was not with the troops, but the mere statement she was sufficed to assure her friends that she was alive and well. The message being "official business" could not go direct to her mother in Cincinnati, but must be addressed to Washington. Consequently she sent it to a friend here and that friend lost no time in notifying her mother as she requested. Alice, whoever she may be, won the admiration of every telegraph operator who helped transmit her message. She kept her head.

HOOE CASE IS FIRST ON LIST

Negro Coachman Will Be Tried Monday on Charge of Perjury in Hartje Case.

SLAV KEEPS FRIEND'S $500

Clifford Hooe, the colored coachman in the Hartje divorce proceedings, who is under indictment for perjury in connection with that case, will be placed on trial Monday. His case is first on the list.

Joseph Kurkuski was found guilty of felonious assault and battery on James McAnally, a constable of Wallis borough, on September 15 last. It was in this fight that Mike Kucheck lost his life, and for whose death McAnally was some time ago found guilty of voluntary manslaughter. McAnally has applied for a new trial, and sentence will probably be suspended on Kurkuski until the larger case is settled.

David W. Lewis was convicted of embezzlement.

Judge Kennedy sent Roy Herbert, aged 15, to the George Junior Republic school at Freeville, N. Y. The youth was charged by his mother, Mrs. Emma Herbert of 48 Lawn street, with the larceny of $120. Herbert is the first prisoner to be sent out of juvenile court to his place of commitment without an escort.

An appeal by Thomas E. Coleman from the assessment of $12,000 placed by the tax revision board on his property in Wilkinsburg was argued. Coleman claims the amount is too high. This is the first appeal from a decision of the new board.

Four suits for damages, aggregating $40,000, were entered against the Pittsburgh Building Company by Mathew Flaherty, Coleman Connelly, Michael Connelly and Patrick Scanlon, who were injured in an elevator accident in the new Phipps building, 947 Penn avenue.

Suit was entered by the First National bank of Pittsburgh against B. F. Rafferty to recover $28,318.50, with interest, on two notes, one dating from February, 1902, for $7,318.50, and the other from January, 1904, for $21,000.

The General Electric Company entered suit in the United States circuit court yesterday against the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company, alleging infringement on certain patents.

Return of "The Prince Chap."

It is said that several of Pittsburgh's clergymen will attend the Belasco theater next Monday evening to witness "The Prince Chap," Edward Peple's beautiful play in which Cyril Scott is starring. This piece was seen in Pittsburgh earlier the present season and received the endorsement of all of Pittsburgh's critics. It is a clean, wholesome, refreshing play, free from all suggestiveness and void of any immoral tone or character. The play will be at the Belasco for five nights and Wednesday afternoon only, Saturday being given over to the Mask and Wig club.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 8 o'clock last night was 7.9 feet and the river was falling.

CINCINNATI, April 20.—(Special.)—At 6 p.m. the Ohio river was 28.6 feet and falling. The up-river packets continue to run on good time and enjoy an immense patronage. The United States light tender Golden Rod arrived at Cincinnati today. There were no towboat movements today. Four of the boats which arrived here have turned back with empties. The next arrivals scheduled are the Winnifrede, Saturday, from the Kanawha, and the W. H. Flint and Tom Dodsworth, Sunday, from Pittsburgh. Clear and pleasant.

WARREN.—River 2 feet 8 inches. Clear and warm.

WHEELING.—River 11 feet and falling. Departed: Ben Hur, Parkersburg, 6 a. m.; Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.; Virginia, Pittsburgh, 12 a. m.

OIL CITY.—River 3 feet 5 inches and falling. Clear and cool.

GREENSBORO.—River 8 feet and falling. Rain and colder.

PARKERSBURG.—River 12.8 feet and falling. Showers. Bedford left for Wheeling; French for Creston, Ben Hur for Pittsburgh.

POINT PLEASANT.—River 17 feet 7 inches and falling. Cloudy and warm. Down—Queen City, Winifrede. Up—Kanawha, J. T. Hatfield, James Moren.

MORGANTOWN.—River 8 feet 6 inches and stationary. Cloudy.

LOUISVILLE.—River falling; in canal, 9.5 feet; on falls, 7.3 feet; below locks, 27.3 feet. Cloudy and warm.

GALLIPOLIS.—River 22 feet and falling. Partly cloudy and warm.

RIVERS STILL FALLING.

Lowest Stage for Months and Trade Is Dull as Result.

The rivers are still falling and last night the stage at the Smithfield street bridge was but 6 feet. On account of the low water, no coal is being moved, but some empties are arriving. The Raymond Horner arrived last night with a tow of empties and the Diamond and Iron Age will probably be in today. The W. W. O'Neil arrived in Louisville yesterday with empties from Memphis and immediately started back with a tow of coal for Cairo. Quite a good bit of coal is being moved down the river, and this will keep a couple of steamers busy for some time.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the May festival, which will be held in Cincinnati from May 1 to 5, inclusive. The Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Packet Company has already booked a number of passengers for the return trip on the Virginia.

The Greenland arrived yesterday morning and cleared at 4 o'clock last evening for Charleston. The Lorena, which arrived from Zanesville yesterday afternoon, will leave this afternoon.

Capt. Huntington of Gallipolis, traveling freight agent of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Company, is in the city on business.

CLARK AND GROSVENOR HAVE BATTLE OF WORDS

Serious Altercation on the Floor of the House Is Interrupted by Mr. Williams.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Mr. Williams today made good his notice of yesterday, and objected to any business except under rules. The house then resumed consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. What promised to be a serious altercation between Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) and Mr. Frank Clark (Fla.) was diplomatically adjusted by Mr. Williams (Miss.) who appeared in the role of a peacemaker, and had the language of both members excluded from the record.

Mr. Clarke, who made a speech yesterday regarding the charges of mismanagement at the St. Elizabeth insane asylum, charged Mr. Grosvenor with doing the very thing that he (Clark) had been accused of doing by Mr. Grosvenor on a previous day, in preparing a resolution based on newspaper stories.

Mr. Grosvenor, with much heat, responded that Mr. Clark was "purposely misrepresenting him."

"I ask that the language of the gentleman be taken down," Mr. Clark called out. He then said Mr. Grosvenor dare not use that language to him outside the chamber, shaking his fist at the member from Ohio. Instantly the house was in confusion, Mr. Keifer (Ohio) in the midst of the noise calling the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Clark) to order.

"As for menacing me with personal violence," replied Mr. Grosvenor, "it need not be taken down."

Mr. Williams (Miss.) brought forth the dove of peace by asking that the language of both gentlemen be excluded from the record, and the threatened storm blew over.

MEDALS FOR VOLUNTEERS.

Members of the Tenth Pennsylvania Regiment Will Probably be Remembered.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(Special.)—Capt. H. A. Crow of Connellsville, is here in the interest of a bill now pending before the house and which appropriates $25,000 for the purpose of providing bronze medals for the volunteer soldiers who helped put down the Philippine insurrection after having served their terms of enlistment in the war with Spain.

The bill was introduced by Mr. Bonynge of Colorado, and if it becomes a law, practically all the members of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment who served in the Philippines will be entitled to medals.

The foundations for the great new mills that the Carnegie Steel Company is to build at Homestead have been completed and the machinery is now being installed. It is expected to have the mills in operation within a year. The company is much in need of additional tonnage in spite of the fact that all departments last month broke records.

ON LINCOLN AVE., NEAR THOMAS AVE.

This property is on the main thoroughfare of the borough and extends two squares back.

Former owners planned to sell lots unpaved at prices we are selling lots with sidewalks, paved, sewered, water and gas, making all connections clear into the property so that streets may never again be torn up.

The best residence location in Bellevue or anywhere. Exactly in the center of the town, built up on its four sides. Avalon and Bellevue cars pass the property. Thirty minutes from the city. Bellevue water (the best in the State), neighborhood fixed, all high-class homes, building restrictions. Only a few squares from Bellevue Club and but a short distance from the Brighton Club with its golf course.

The value of these lots is what is selling them, and already twenty out of the ninety-four lots have been sold to people living in Bellevue who know their worth. From $10 to $15 a foot profit immediately in prospect to purchasers. These residence sites are being sold on their merits without such subterfuges as free taxes, free car fare, premiums or monthly installments, used to divert attention from the investment and residence qualities of a lot proposition.

It is not a hill side, but town property.

Every lot as level as a floor and built up all around with the best residences in Bellevue.

If you want to know why Bellevue is the best suburb, why it is building up at the rate of 100 to 200 houses a year, why you scarcely ever see a "To Let" sign, take a ride on a Bellevue or Avalon car, observe the class of people and you will no longer wonder.

This is of interest to you if you are thinking of building a home for yourself, or making profitable investment.

Prices and terms can be obtained on the property at the office in the Roseburg homestead.

TIRED OF LIFE AWFUL SUFFERING

From Dreadful Pains From Wound on Foot—System All Run Down After Six Months' Agony—Not Able to Work—Completely Cured in Two Weeks

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Words cannot speak highly enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I am now seventy-two years of age. My system had been all run down. My blood was so bad that blood poisoning had set in. I had several doctors attending me, so finally I went to the hospital, where I was laid up for two months. My foot and ankle were almost beyond recognition. Dark blood flowed out of wounds in many places, and I was so disheartened that I thought surely my last chance was slowly leaving me. As the foot did not improve, you can readily imagine how I felt. I was simply disgusted and tired of life. I stood this pain, which was dreadful, for six months, and during this time I was not able to wear a shoe and not able to work.

"Some one spoke to me about Cuticura. The consequences were I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies of one of my friends who was a druggist, and the praise that I gave after the second application is beyond description; it seemed a miracle, for the Cuticura Remedies took effect immediately. I washed the foot with the Cuticura Soap before applying the Ointment and I took the Resolvent at the same time. After two weeks' treatment my foot was healed completely. People who had seen my foot during my illness and who have seen it since the cure, can hardly believe their own eyes."
